NEW HOPE

Sunshine, and more of it. The second crop of hay is most all in the barns.

The English & Burrow hop house is nearing completion. Victor Daniels was seen on the road to McCallister's last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Wynant visited with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Knox last Sunday. Clarence and Howard Wynant have purchased a new buggy. We wonder what that means?

Services will be held in the church here the second Sunday of August by Rev. Starmer of Williams.

H. S. Wynant and F. C. Champlin have bought them a wood saw that is to be run by a gasoline engine of 4-H. P.

Fruitgrowers of Rogue River Valley find the Courier of special interest.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION

Department of the Interior. Roseburg, Oregon, May 22, 1906. Notice is hereby given that the following-named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final commutation proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before A. S. Bliton, U. S. Commissioner, at his office at Medford, Oregon, on August 1, 1906, viz: JAMES S. MYERS on H. E. No. 12,396 for the NW 1/4 SE 1/4, Sec. 21, Tp. 35 S., R. 4 W. He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz: Edward Brownworth, J. L. Scott, John Brownworth and Aaron Beck all of Woodville, Oregon. BENJAMIN EDDY, Register.

DAVIDSON

Miss Elsie McFadden who is staying with her grandmother, visited her home Sunday.

Manly Rexford of upper Applegate was a visitor from there to Grants Pass Wednesday.

Miss Bessie Doney and her brother, Rola and Cecil Richards, were visiting the former's home Sunday.

Those who visited Grant Pass from here Saturday were W. S. Bailey, John Bailey and Geo. N. Bailey.

J. Retalic who has been at the hospital for the last month returned to his home Saturday much improved in health.

Henry Pernoll, the baseball pitcher from Applegate, passed through our little town Saturday, en route for Grants Pass.

Bartie Davidson and family returned from Bandon, Oregon, Thursday. Mr. Davidson intends to make this place his home for this Summer.

W. E. York took his cattle out to the mountains Wednesday. He says the grass is the best that he has seen in the Grayback mountains for several years.

The farmers of Missouri Flat have commenced cutting grain this week and from the way the bundles are showing up on the field a good crop is expected.

Word was received from Joe S. McFadden, who went to Nome, Alaska, and he says that there is not much mining there at present owing to the Spring rains not having commenced.

The Leland correspondent in talking about the great timothy that is raised in that country ought to make another trip up through our valley. He may raise better timothy than we do but we are sure that we can beat him on alfalfa, as it grows so thick and tall here that a cow or horse would rather run through a barbed wire fence than try to go through it. Now, if he can beat that I will tell him about the clover we have here. MONTMORENCY.

The haying is nearly through with for the first crop. 'Melbia' seems to be in a deep study. Wonder what's wrong?

Miss Maude Light of Leland is visiting Miss Adah Light of Grants Pass.

Misses Hilda and Vera Steinet of Grants Pass are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Light.

Clarence Farleigh and Mr. Lions have returned home from their prospecting expedition.

Misses Ruby Penwell and Adah Light went berry picking last Thursday. They were very successful.

The stage driver is getting more forgetful, but then he is so very young people will look over his mistakes.

Mr. Bean of Hotel DeDuncan made Leland a business trip last Thursday. His business was to get a sack of salt.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Kates of Pepperwood, Cal., are visiting relatives at Grants Pass, and Leland. They are on their way to Edmonton, Canada.

Robert Goff is working for Ed Light through haying, then he is going to Eugene and from there to Washington. We are sorry to see him go.

The dance given in Mr. Porter's new house was a grand success. Snapper was served under the trees and the ladies of Placer Sunday school sold ice cream.

Well now, if Wide Awake doesn't get things mixed! You would be a good drink mixer in a saloon. Farmers never said Placer was to celebrate its poverty. And you please correct your error, as you have laid yourself liable to the laws of Oregon, also the U. S. FARMERS.

Three Physicians Treated Him Without Success. W. L. Yancy, Paducah, Ky., writes: 'I had a severe case of kidney disease and three of the best physicians in Kentucky treated me without success. I then took Foley's Kidney Cure. The first bottle gave immediate relief, and three bottles cured me permanently. I gladly recommend this wonderful remedy.' For sale by H. A. Rotermund.

CATCHING CRIMINALS

Operations of the National Bureau of Identification.

Beginning of an Institution That Promises to Become an Invaluable Agency in the Curtailment of Crime.

It was a woeful day for the 250,000 criminals of the United States, not to mention their brother crooks in other countries when the National Bureau of Identification was conceived, says a Washington (D. C.) correspondence of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Maj. Richard Sylvester, president of the National Association of Chiefs of Police, a member of the board of governors of the bureau, while superintendent of the Capital city's model police force, originated this central bureau of information for the aid of the numerous Sherlock Holmes of North America.

E. A. Evans, the superintendent of the new bureau, is a young man with an eagle eye. Identifying criminals was a part of his kindergarten training. He is the son of Capt. M. P. Evans, superintendent of the Chicago City Identification Bureau since 1884. In boyhood he assisted his father between school hours, and for the past five years he has been an attaché of the embryonic national bureau.

The walls of the bureau are lined with cabinets filled with thousands of cards each bearing upon its face the photographs of a criminal, one full face and the other profile. On the same side are given the measurements, age and physical characteristics of the criminal. On the back are noted such data as his name, residence, crime, etc., also his marks, scars, molds and other defects or abnormalities. In short, these cards are such as regularly make up the Bertillon catalogues used in all up-to-date police departments.

All the cards collected in the 52 American and Canadian cities contributing to the maintenance of the bureau—such of them, at least, as represent the current criminal class—are being duplicated and filed in the central bureau. What a task this is can be gleaned from the fact that in Chicago alone there are 40,000 cards representing the criminal element of the western metropolis itself, and 15,000 more representing criminals from outside communities who have been in some way connected with Chicago "jobs." Over 40,000 of these 55,000 have been collected under the Bertillon system; the other 15,000 under the old-fashioned rogue's gallery scheme.

The thousands of cards are arranged in three groups, each contained in one of the three immense cabinets. The first cabinet contains "large heads," the second "medium heads," the third "small heads."

Head length, therefore, is the first key which opens the cabinet. John Doe, alias Skeeter Jack," must therefore be looked for first in the "medium head" cabinet." There are, perhaps, a score or more of crooks with heads 18.9 centimeters long, but all of these of like head lengths are subdivided, first according to head widths, second, according to length of middle finger, and so on down the scale of data on each card. All of the cards comparing favorably with John Doe's description are laid to one side for final comparison with the full-face and profile photographs on the card sent. A reasonable margin for error in measurements is allowed. In fact, some of the most important identifications so far made by the bureau have been based on cards on which those errors have been wide.

Years of training in the science of identification are necessary before aptitude much less expertness can be attained. Dead criminals have offered some of the most difficult problems. Instances where crooks are killed in combat with their intended victims or in escaping from the scenes of their plunder, are many. In such cases the police of cities subscribing to the new bureau send their Bertillon operators and photographers to morgues, where must be gathered the gruesome data for the identification cards. Many such cards are scattered through the national classification, and all of them are terrible to look upon.

Maj. Sylvester says that a great police bureau will evolve out of the institution. It is his ambition that its international scope will include not only Canada, but the great continental countries of the old world. The state department is now issuing invitations to 200 foreign police officials to attend the meeting of the National Association of Chiefs of Police to be held in Louisville next May. During that meeting plans for the extension of the system will be discussed.

All of the chiefs of police of the United States and many high federal officials are strongly in favor of placing the bureau under the department of justice. A bill now before congress provides for this transfer.

A Tragic Finish. A watchman's neglect permitted a leak in the great North Sea dyke, which a child's finger could have stopped, to become a ruinous break, devastating an entire province of Holland. In like manner Kenneth McIvor, of Vanceboro, Me., permitted a little cold to go unnoticed until a tragic finish was only averted by Dr. King's New Discovery. He writes: "Three doctors gave me up to die of lung inflammation, caused by a neglected cold; but Dr. King's New Discovery saved my life." Guaranteed best cough and cold cure at all drug stores. 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottle free.
