RUN OVER BY THE LOCAL FREIGHT

George W. Chapin Meets Death Near the Long Trestle at Leland.

Geo. W. Chapin, for many years a resident of Josephine county, living on his farm near Tunnel 9, was run over and killed by the local freight Friday afternoon near the long trestle at Leland. Chapin was seen by the train crew to step or fall on to the track about two car lengths ahead of the engine. The emergency brakes were applied but owing to the heavy train and the second engine pulling ahead it was impossible to bring the train to a stop until several cars had passed over him, completely severing all the limbs from the body.

Coroner Smith was notified and went immediately to the scene and secured the testimony of the train crew and others and decided that as the evidence pointed to accidental killing it was unnecessary to hold an inquest.

The deceased was 64 year of age, a veteran of the civil war and for many years a correspondent of the Courier, signing himself as "Wide Awake." We have no means at hand of knowing how many years he has written Leland Sitings for the Courier, as he was one of the oldest correspondents when the present proprietor became connected with the paper nearly 10 years ago.

Prentiss, a former resident of Grants Pass, employed for several years as clerk in the Jewell & Dodge hardware store, arrived Wednesday, and will spend a week or more visiting friends and hunting. Mr. Prentiss is now in the jewelry business in Shingle House, Penn., where he has been since leaving Grants Pass eight years ago.

Glenn Patillo, the Saturday Evening Post boy, is certainly a business lad. This week he received notice that he was a winner in the Oregon Daily Journal educational contest which has been in progress for some time past. There were 27 awards, Glenn receiving a scholarship in the Hill Military academy, good for one year's tuition and valued at $100. Glenn is 14 years of age but he is full of business and went after the scholarship in a business way, making trips to other Southern Oregon towns and securing subscriptions for the Journal.

Ed Hannum and wife returned Friday morning from a trip to Alaska, covering about three months. They arrived at Nome on the 4th of July. They visited different sections of the country and spent some time at Katchikan. Mr. Hannum went there with a view to prospecting but although the country is rich in gold there are too many grafters ready to cause trouble to the man who makes a good strike. At Nome, he says, there is a crowd of men who stand ready to go and jump any good prospect, and the miner cannot get an attorney to take up his case for less than $1000 cash deposit, and as a consequence the prospector is worsted at every turn.

The new line of Fall Street Hats are now in at Mrs. Waughal's millinery store, Front street.

The Minstrels Are Coming.

When Richards & Pringle's Famous Georgia Minstrels appear at the Opera House on Thursday, October 4, the public will see the most expensive colored show ever organized. If any doubt of the absolute truthfulness of this statement exist, it will be forever dispelled when the performance is given.

It must be confessed now that there were doubts in the minds of the management about their being able to make the giving of so vast and expensive show with any profit, and as a matter of fact the business ordinarily done by other shows would not have been profitable, but it was immensely profitable, and packed houses rule everywhere. The program is a lengthy one, and made up of great variety. The street parade at noon is a novelty, two bands in daily parade. 9-21 1t

A Brief Record of Local Events.

M. A. Leach, manager of the Lamoine Lumber Company at Lamoine, Cal., arrived in Grants Pass Monday and purchased the lumber of the Ketcherson & Silsby and the Harmon & Hinkle mills. He left south Tuesday morning.

No better opportunity on the coast presents itself for a safe investment than the building of an electric railroad from Grants Pass, Oregon, to this place. It has been proven that a route is feasible for a steam road and with the large streams—Rogue, Illinois and Smith Rivers, and their tributaries to derive power from offers the best of opportunities for an electric road. The country a road would pass through is rich in mineral, timber, fruit, farming and grazing lands, that today is not put to use due to the lack of transportation facilities.—Record, Crescent City.

A. L. Smith is doing the kind of promoting that will do much toward bringing about the development of the vast mineral resources of Southern Oregon for he is inducing practical mining men to come and locate and engage in active mining operations. The latest mining man to come here is J. A. McKinley, of Cripple Creek, Colo. Mr. McKinley is a miner of experience and has means and came here to locate. He is so well pleased that he has sent for his family and will take up his residence in this city. He thinks that Southern Oregon has a good showing for becoming a rich mining district when once it is fully developed.

Clyde Jeter, who went to the new mining district on Pine creek in the Southern part of Lake county and in Northern Nevada, writes to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Jeter of this city, that he shall be home soon as winter sets in which will be in November. During the winter months owing to the high elevation the snow falls very heavy in the Pine creek section making it impossible to do outdoor work or get in supplies. Soagrest has been the rush of prospectors to Pine Creek district this summer that Mr. Jeter states that there is not a vacant claim within five miles of where he is located. The claims prospect well but no big finds have yet been made.
