DAIRY AND FINE STOCK MEETING

At Grants Pass—Able Speakers to be Present and a Profitable Session is Certain.

A dairy and fine stock meeting is to be held in Grants Pass on Thursday, December 13. The meeting will be under the auspices of the Oregon Agricultural College and the Grants Pass Commercial Club. The committee of the Commercial Club, composed of R. L. Coe, L. B. Hall and W. B. Sherman, have secured the fine hall in the new brick block on North Sixth street built last Spring by L. B.

Hall. The committee jointly with Charles Meserve have succeeded in getting this meeting arranged as a farmers institute thus having the speakers expenses paid by the state. As Josephine county has had more than its share of farmers institutes in the past two years Dr. Withycombe, of the Oregon Agricultural College, had stated that it was not likely that he could hold institutes in this county this Winter. Had that been the case the Commercial Club in order to secure this meeting had proposed to pay the expenses of the speakers. On Mr. Meserve taking up the question with Dr. Withycombe, the latter decided that if the business men of Grants Pass would co-operate to make the meeting a success that he would bring his full staff of speakers and hold a regular farmers institute. In addition to Dr. Withycombe the other speakers will be Prof. F. L. Kent, dairy instructor at the Oregon Agricultural College, E. T. Judd, of Turner, and William Schulmerich, of Hillsboro. Dr. Withycombe will speak both on forage plants and on dairies and creameries as factors in the wealth of Josephine county. Prof. Kent will tell the rules that the dairyman must follow to get the best results from his cows in quantity and quality of cream produced and how to keep his cows free from tuberculosis and other diseases. Mr. Judd, who has an extensive farm in Marion county and is one of the largest breeders in Oregon of registered Percheron horses and also has a large herd of fine Jersey cows, will tell how the dairyman can make money raising horses, while not interfering with his dairy business. Mr. Schulmerich, who has a $15,000 dairy farm in Washington county and one of the largest and best breed of registered Jersey cows in the state that he has built up from a beginning of a few acres of land and a half dozen common cows, will tell the Josephine county farmers how they too may build up their dairy herds and make their farms pay big profits each year. This meeting in Grants Pass will be on the day following the session of the Oregon Dairy Association in Ashland and among the speakers there will be Hon. Ed. H. Webster, chief of the division of dairying of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and it is expected that he can be secured to make an address at the meeting in this city. It was not the purpose of the promoters of the meeting in this city to thereby keep the dairymen of Josephine county from attending the meeting in Ashland of the Oregon Dairy Association. The fact is that the dairy industry is so little developed in Josephine county that no large delegation of farmers can be secured to go to Ashland. So it is a case of bringing the dairy meeting to the farmers and thus give them the education along dairy lines that they need to enable them to make their farms more profitable. It is expected that the business men of Grants Pass will heartily co-operate in securing a large audience to greet the speakers and make the effort a success in the development of the dairy industry in Josephine county.

According to the following from the Medford Tribune wood must be better than a gold mine:
"The fact that wood is $7 per cord in Goldfields is considered worthy of newspaper comment. We can beat that right here in a country famous for timber, with thousands of acres of wood lands. Figuring from the charges made by the local wood trust viz: $4 per tier the price per cord would be $12 for very ordinary oak wood only nobody has been found with nerve and money enough at the same time to buy a whole cord at once."
Gold for export is usually shipped in bars. A large amount of coin is also shipped, but there is always a small loss in doing that, as the pieces are worn and will weigh less than when they were new. The stamp of the mints adds nothing to the value of the gold. Imports are occasionally made in coin and bullion from Great Britain, France, or other European countries. In whatever form the gold comes, it is taken by importers to the assay offices, and is melted down and carefully assayed. Payment is made either in coin or gold certificates.

REVIVAL SERVICES STILL CONTINUE

Much Interest Being Taken and Good Crowds Are Attending.

The revival meetings continue to draw the people to the tabernacle in constantly increasing attendance. On Sunday evening though additional seats had been put in during the week and every effort made to seat as large a number of people as possible, the tabernacle was found too small to accommodate all who wished to attend and many were compelled to turn away. The week night attendance is filling the tabernacle.
The first call to the unconverted was given by Mr. Honeywell on Friday evening, seven persons in the congregation responding and coming forward. The first three nights of invitation brought forward 137 persons. Mr. Honeywell is no less forcible in addressing the unconverted than he is in rebuking the short-comings of church members, and there is a compelling earnestness in his sermons that makes his hearers listen whether they will or not. He preaches the old time gospel in plain words without modification and does not tone down his language to suit finely sitting ears. "Satin" and "Hades" are words apart from his vocabulary. Much of the efficacy of his preaching is doubtless due to his straightforward plainness. When he wishes he can draw a word picture of rare beauty and vividness.

Though Mr. Honeywell's discourses are calculated to produce discomfort in the newly roused conscience of the careless mind, to the penitent seeker he makes the way smooth and easy and his words to the converts are full of earnest and quiet assurance.

On Saturday afternoon a meeting was held especially for the young people and on Sunday afternoon an especially successful and interesting meeting for men was held in which Mr. Honeywell spoke on the subject of "Paying the Fiddler, or Chickens Come Home to Roost." The songs of Mr. Bilhorn are always heard with much enjoyment. The greater number of his songs are of his own composition and he often has some touching story to relate of incidents which prompted him to write the song he is about to sing, which gives augmented meaning and interest to the words and music of the selection.
