George and Martha Washington, in the persons of H. C. Kinney and Mrs. Mary E. Dodge, met their friends at Bethany Presbyterian church last Friday evening. An original production by Fred Mensch, which was illustrated, so to speak, by songs and readings.

A lady of our town has found a sure cure for broken dishes. If the dish to be mended can be tied together with a stout string, then placed in boiling milk and left one hour, you can never tell the dish has been broken and it can afterwards be put in boiling water without the pieces coming apart.

Whenever a chicken pie supper is announced the citizens of Grants Pass begin to take notice, and the supper by the ladies of the Baptist church last Friday was no exception to the general rule for it was well patronized; the ladies realizing over $60.

R. A. Reed, saloon keeper of Leland, was brought before Justice James Holman Monday on a charge of permitting gambling in his saloon. After examination Reed was bound over in the sum of $100 to await the action of the grand jury. The information was brought by a citizen of Leland who states that at one time he saw about $80 in stakes on the tables at one time.

The ladies of the W. R. C. held their regular meeting February 25 at their headquarters over Hall's undertaking parlors. On Monday, March 11 the Applegate Valley Telephone Company will hold their annual meeting at the church building at Provolt, at 2 p. m., sharp, for the purpose of electing board of directors and other officers and for attending to the business connected with the installation of a co-operative telephone system for Applegate Valley. All members and all others interested in the undertaking are expected to attend.

The most wonderful performance ever witnessed by a Grants Pass audience was that of Maro at the opera house Thursday night, it being the last number of the entertainment course, and a fitting close to a series of splendid entertainments brought here by our citizens. Maro, the Prince of Magic, as he is called showed himself a master of his profession and kept the audience in a fever of expectancy and wonder during the entire entertainment. Not only is he a magician but as a musician and artist he was equally good.

George Dunlap, a farmer of Provolt, was in Grants Pass Thursday, his principal business to find where he could buy good milk cows. Mr. Dunlap in the time past bagged hay to Grants Pass a distance of 15 miles but he finds it more profitable to feed it to cows now that there is a creamery at Provolt. He is one of the patrons of the creamery and is well satisfied with the returns that he is getting on his cows. Nearly every farmer of that section of Applegate Valley was adding to his dairy herd and the demand could not be half supplied so large was the number wanted.

E. N. Provolt was in Grants Pass Thursday from Provolt. Of the creamery built at Provolt this Winter and put in operation the first of the year Mr. Provolt stated that it was proving a success and it was now certain to prove a profitable investment to the Applegate farmers, who are stockholders in it. The creamery is in charge of Stanley Taylor, for the past two years butter maker in the Medford creamery, and he is turning out an extra fine butter that brings the top price in the Grants Pass market. During the present month of February 1400 pounds of butter were made and by April it is expected to have the output doubled.

Jasper Jennings, sent to the penitentiary from this county has the distinction of being the first person under death sentence who has been allowed to do manual labor in the Oregon penitentiary. He is spending a considerable part of his time employed in lumbering. He is quite a favorite with the officials and receives many favors from them. An appeal was granted some time ago in his case and a motion has just been made for a rehearing but it is probable that the formality of the law only will be observed and he will without doubt obtain his freedom some time in April.

Those who missed hearing the lecture by Evan P. Hughes at the Presbyterian church last Sunday, the first in the series on "Formative Forces in American History" missed a treat as it was not only intensely interesting but instructive as well and under Mr. Hughes' handling was a sermon as well as a lecture.

Complaint has come from some of the residents having mail boxes on the rural mail routes that boys are destroying and damaging the boxes by shooting them full of holes. This kind of hoodlumism is becoming so common that it is time an example was made of some of the boys in order that the rest of them may take warning in time to escape the "pen."

The entertainment at the opera house Saturday night for the purpose of assisting in the raising of funds toward the purchase of a drinking fountain for Grants Pass was well attended and the citizens showed by their presence that they are in sympathy with the ladies in their undertaking. The program was entertaining and many of the numbers deserve commendation but perhaps the most entertaining number was the vested virgin drill by nine young ladies who in their Grecian costumes and with grace of movement formed statue groupings and executed the drill with credit to themselves and satisfaction to the audience.
