Is a Willamette Valley Hop Grower

John Ranzau arrived in Grants Pass Monday and will spend two months here in seeing for salmon in Regoa river at the mouth of the Applegate, he retaining the fishing right when he sold his farm early this Spring to T. B. Cornell and Dr. W. H. Flanagan. On leaving Grants Pass this Spring Mr. and Mrs. Ranzau bought land in the Willamette Valley, he buying a farm of 261 acres near Newberg and she buying a farm of 90 acres five miles northeast of Woodburn, and it is on this place that they are residing. Mr. Ranzau has 65 acres of hops on his place and he has the yard rented. There are 30 acres of hops on Mrs. Ranzau's farm and these they are hiring men to cultivate. There is also on the place quite an orchard and 108 bearing English walnuts. Mr. Ranzau stated that there would be less than half a crop of fruit in the Willamette Valley this year. Mrs. Ranzau has taken up the chicken business and now has over 400 pure bred fowls and she and Mr. Ranzau plan to go into raising fowls on an extensive scale.

Will G. Steel, who is known throughout the Coast as an enthusiastic lover of Nature and especially interested in Crater Lake and through whose persistent labors the lake was set aside as a national park, spent Thursday and Friday in Grants Pass. Mr. Steel has tried for years to interest someone in erecting hotels at the lake but was not able to find anyone willing to take up the work so he has decided to do it himself. He has a permit from the government for conducting hotels within the park. E. D. Whitney, formerly of Chicago is engineering the business end of the enterprise and they are taking subscriptions for stock. At the G. A. R. hall Thursday they gave a splendid lecture illustrated with stereopticon on Crater Lake and the Mazama trip to Mount Ranier.

A Brief Record of Local Events.

The Woman's Missionary Societies of the city will hold a union meeting at the Presbyterian church parlors Wednesday, May 29 at 3 p. m. All ladies of the churches requested to be present.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Baptist church had a picnic Wednesday at the A. T. Martin place five miles down the river, which was enjoyed by 50 or more ladies and children. Three-seated hacks and a big wagon with hay rack conveyed the party both to and from the picnic, and the ride only added to the enjoyment of the day.

J. O. Booth, Geo. B. Ward and Geo. Hall left the first of the week for Elko, Nev., to inspect a mining property on which they have taken a bond. The property is rich in copper, silver and gold as is shown by 78 assays which the gentlemen have had taken, and if everything is as represented they will probably invest. The mine is about 15 miles from Elko, but only two miles from the railroad, and it is proposed to ship the ore to Salt Lake.

W. L. Ireland, agent for the Croxton property, has sold the cottage next to the home place on Second street to Mrs. Mary C. Hildreth, who will occupy it as a home. Mrs. Hildreth has lived on the Iowa street place which she sold to Mr. Bodwell, for the past 18 years, but feels the need of a place less distant from the business part of town.

Mrs. Ora Hood, after selling her home on Iowa street to Mr. Kingwell, purchased a number of lots with the intention of building a residence, but decided later to buy a house and this week she purchased through W. L. Ireland, the Harry Condit six-room modern cottage on Seventh street, opposite the East school. Mr. Condit expects soon to leave for Portland where he will continue his work for the S. P. Co in the car shops.

J. L. Lindley is naturally one of the best natured men who ever struck this section of the country but he occasionally has troubles of his own which are enough to arouse the ire of an angel. Last week two of these occasions presented themselves. He drove into town and hitched his team near the laundry and when he went for his team to drive home he found that some sinner had cut the celluloid rings from the harness and left the straps hanging. When he arrived home he found that some one had cut down his bee tree which was standing in a cultivated field a little distance from the house and had left only the wood and a swarm of hostile bees. Loes had arranged with a neighbor to have the tree cut and divide the honey and was looking forward to having a big supply for the coming months. Now there are two lots of people who want to turn the corner when they see Loes coming.

Thomas Lewman was in Grants Pass Tuesday with a load of hay which he readily sold for $14 a ton. This load Mr. Lewman stated would probably be the last that they would ever sell, as there was no profit in hauling hay the 14 miles from their farm on the Applegate, near Provolt, to Grants Pass and then sell it for $10 to $12 a ton, the usual price had. It is a long day and hard trip to haul hay from the Provolt section to Grants Pass and now that a creamery is in successful operation at Provolt, Mr. Lewman is of the opinion that hereafter all the hay raised in that part of Applegate Valley will be fed to dairy cows. Mr. Lewman and his father, J. A. Lewman, will buy a dozen or more cows this Summer and increase the number until they have all that they have feed for. Alfalfa is growing well this Spring, and Mr. Lewman stated that the Applegate Valley would have the usual big yield of three to four cuttings to the acre. A few farmers have begun mowing their first crop, and so soon as the present rains are by, haying will be rushed in every farm.

Train Blockade Sunday.

A traffic was blocked from Sunday morning until Monday morning by two wrecks on the Southern Pacific. Early Sunday morning a light engine on the road filling water barrels on the wooden trestles was derailed just south of Gold Hill by the soft roadbed and landing crosswise of the track in a cut effectually blocked the track. The small wrecking outfit was brought from Ashland, but making slow headway in clearing the track, the big crane and wrecking crew was ordered out from Roseburg out when near Woodville on the way to Gold Hill this train was also derailed. It was not a serious wreck and the crew got the cars back on the track by the time the Ashland crew got the Gold Hill wreck clear of the track.

The northbound trains were held at Ashland and the south bound trains at this place. When the blockade was lifted Monday morning there were four passenger trains in the Grants Pass yard and as many freight trains. Though the day was rainy many of the passengers strolled about the city and made the long wait less irksome, and finding that they would have ample time many of them attended the evening service at the churches.
