and Norman Seaman from the mine that they and H. N. Roundtree, of Portland, are operating 15 miles west of Kerby on the head of Chetco river. Their mile is a curious combination for it is a rock formation, yet they mine it with a giant. The gold is found in a rotten porphry dike and the rock is so soft that it can be readily washed by water from the giant. Much of the gold comes out in large pieces and this was brought to the bank as found, but all the fine gold was fron in bricks. There were several thousand dollars worth in the lot and it made a bandsome profit to the owners of the mine.

Bea tty-Chapman.

Miss Zena Chapman and R. W. Beat ty were united in marriage in the parlors of the Newman Methodist church Wednesday evening, Rev. C. O. Beckman officiating. Nearly 200 guests witnessed the pretty ceremony, those present being principally the members of the Epworth League, in which the bride has been an untiring worker, and friends and relatives. The church parlors were artistically and tastefully decorated with sweet peas and roses, the predominating colors being white and pink.

The ceremony occurred at 9 o'clock. Promptly at the hour and to the strains of the wedding march, with Miss Ella pay 4 per cent interest. Savage at the piano, the wedding party entered. The party assembled under the big wedding bell of roses and vines and the words were spoken that made the happy couple husband and wife. Just as the minister uttered the final words, the big wedding bell showered its load of rose petals on the newly united couple.

The bride was charmingly attired in peas. The bridesmaid was gowned in pinktorgandie and carried pink sweet peas.
