The Publisher's Claims Sustained

UNITED STATES COURT OF CLAIMS The Publishers of Webster's International Dictionary allege that it "is, in fact the popular Unabridged thoroughly re-edited in every detail, and vastly enriched in every part, with the purpose of adapting it to meet the larger and severer requirements of another generation."

the purpose of adapting it to meet the large and severe or adapting it to meet the large and severe requirements of another generation. We are of the opinion that this nilegation most clearly and accurately describes the work that has been accomplished and the result that has been reached. The Dictionary, as it now stands, has been theoroughly redited in every detail, has been corrected in every part, and is admirably adapted to meet the larger and severer requirements of a generation which demands more of popular philotogenal knowledge than any generation than a world has ever contained.

It is terhaps needless to add that we refer to the dictionary in our judicial work as of the highest authority in accuracy of definition; and that in the future as in the past it will be the source of constant reference.

Eldest Boy Is Rescued But Rushes Back Into Burning Building to Warn Rest of Family.

Suisun, Cal., July 10 .- The four children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Campbell of Suisun lost their lives yesterday morning in the burning of their home. One of the children, a boy, was taken from the house by the hired man, but ran back to warn his family and was burned to death.

Those who lost their lives were Cecil Campbell, aged 12; Ruth Campbell, aged 11; Francisc Campbell, aged 7; Donald Campbell, aged 1 year and 6 months.

The injured are Charles Campbell, Mrs. Charles Campbell, Frank Chinn. When Mr. and Mrs. Campbell awoke the house was a mass of flames. They made frantic efforts to save their children, but could not do

The parents are badly burned; but will recover.

The origin of the fire is not positively known, but it is believed to have been caused by the explosion of a coal oil lamp which was kept burning all night. The flames were first discovered by Frank Chinn, a hired man, who slept in an upper room with the eldest Campbell boy. When awakened by the fire, which was raging fiercely, he grabbed the boy and leaned from the window When he struck the ground he fell, and on attempting to rise found that he had sprained one ankle.

The boy broke from his grasp and in an attempt to warn the rest of the family ran back into the house, where he perished.

Wilson, the messenger of the First National Bank who disappeared several weeks ago, collecting $34,000 in checks and $1,700 in cash has appeared before representatives of the bank and the company which was on his head and explained to them in detail how he lost the bank's property. DENY ORCHARD'S TALE.

Affidavits Declare Gas Blew Up the Bradley Flat.

Boise, Idaho, July 10 .- With the prospect that another full day would have to be given over to the reading of the San Francisco depositions covering the explosion at the apartments of Fred W. Bradley in that city in November, 1904, there were few spectators in court when the trial of William D. Haywood was resumed yesterday. Senator Borah, who divided the task of reading with Attornev Clarence Darrow of the defense, was indisposed and the prosecution's portion of the burden fell on Hawley.

The day began with a continuance of the testimony of J. B. Reilly, who lived near the Bradley apartments. The next deposition taken up was that of Mrs. Charles Packard, who is Mrs. Crow, had been employed by the Bradleys as cook. She told of having smelled gas in the house for several days prior to the explosion and had called up the gas company to complain of it.

Mrs. Crow denied absolutely that she had gone to the theater with Orchard as he testified. She said he told a falsehood when he testified to that effect.

Mrs. Josephine Linforth, wife of the owner of the apartment house, made one of the affidavits read. John J. Eckleman and John W. Parry, San Francisco firemen, also made affidavits, which were read.

GERONIMO GETTING BAD

Cache, Okla., July 10 .- The old Apache warrior, Geronimo, who terrorized the Southwest for many years with his blood-thirsty band, while attending a celebration at Cache under parole as the guest of the Commanche chief, Quanah Parker, made an attempt to escape across the Texas panhandle into New Mexico.

Geronimo was missed from the Indian camp for about eight hours. and a detail of soldiers from Fort Sill captured him several miles out of Cache yesterday. The old warrior had heard of the troubles of Apaches in Arizons, who, according to reports, have threatened to go out on the warpath. The chief says he wanted to go with his people and help them fight. He has been having family troubles lately, his eighth wife having left him.

Recently he drank liquor to excess and lay out of the reservation all night. This incensed the churchgoing people. Geronimo recently joined the Dutch Reformed church, to which President Roosevelt belongs, in the hope, it is said, of obtaining pardon.

Six of the Yacona's crew came down to the landing at Eighty-sixth street early today after an all-night frolic and halled the Yacona for a launch. There was no answer from the yacht and the sailors induced Gus Appleman, a dockman, to take them out on the yacht. The dockman wanted to divide the party and make two trips, but against his will all six piled into the yawl and started for the yacht. Several times during the trip Appleman warned his bolsterous passengers to remain quiet, as their movements threatened to overturn the boat. Within a dozen boat lengths of the yacht one of the sailors gave the yawl a violent lurch and it capsized, throwing all seven men into the water. Appleman succeeded in not only clinging to the keel of the overturned boat, but also assisted three of the sailors.

All four were finally picked up by s tug, which had been attracted by the shouts of the men. The crew on board the Yacona, hearing the cries of distress, therw a searchlight over the waters and lowered a boat to search for the three missing men. The police searched the river without
