 Walter Scott, a lineal descendant of the immortal writer, and C. C. Case of Oakland, Cal., were in Grants Pass Wednesday looking over this territory with a possibility of locating.
 Miss Ruth Loveridge returned Tuesday from Eugene where she has been spending the past two weeks with her father and sisters. Her studio is now open and ready for any photographic business.
 O. E. Reynolds, formerly of this place but now of Phoenix, and Ed Pierce of Medford were in Grants Pass Tuesday on their way to Crescent City for a two weeks vacation. They traveled in their own conveyance.
 Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Laper left Monday evening for an outing of several weeks. They stop first at Eugene, then go to Spokane Falls, North Yakima, Wash., Oro Fino, Idaho, and other points. Mr. Laper is an employe at the round house.
 Mrs. W. S. Standish and two daughters, who have been visiting Mrs. O. P. Harvey for the past few weeks are at Takilma for a few weeks, Mr. Standish having come in for them from there Wednesday. After a few weeks at Takilma Mrs. Standish and daughters will return to their home at Los Angeles.
 Miss Carrie Umphlette returned Saturday from a three weeks visit with her brother Stanley, and sister Mrs. Wickersham of Portland and Seaside. She had an exceedingly enjoyable time, marred only by the knowledge that she would soon have to return to her newspaper work in Nevada.
 S. B. Edwards, a mining engineer of Portland, and A. H. Gunnell are on a business trip to British Columbia, leaving Grants Pass Saturday. On his return Mr. Gunnell will stop at Jefferson for Mrs. Gunnell who has been visiting there for the past week, and they will return together to Grants Pass.
 Mr. and Mrs. Fred Person and two little daughters left Wednesday morning for Los Angeles, which place they will visit before returning to their home at Montrose, Colo. Mrs. Person and the children have spent the past 10 weeks here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Scovill, and Mr. Person has been here for three weeks. Mr. Person is city superintendent of schools at Montrose.
 Wm. Jordan and family of Cottage Grove have been spending the past two weeks camping and prospecting on Thompson creek. They leave this week for home. Mr. Jordan until last Summer resided at Merlin where he conducted the Merlin hotel for several years. The hotel, which was the first in Merlin and once conducted by Brit Williams, was burned last January. The insurance had run out about a month, so the loss was total to Mr. Jordan. The building was under lease at the time it burned.
 Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Trne of Medford left their home Monday morning by auto and made Grants Pass by 8 o'clock on their way to Crescent City for an outing. Mr. Trne had just returned Saturday from a Crater Lake trip with W. S. Hodson and it is claimed that their two machines are the first to make the round trip to Crater Lake, the gentlemen driving their machines to the rim of the crater. They went out by way of Green Springs mountain, Klamath Falls and Fort Klamath, returning by the Rogue River route.

 W. M. Hodson, the bustling Medford auto man was in the city yesterday, on business and pleasure bent. He found Grants Pass moving along in good fashion and was very favorably impressed with this city's future prospects.
 Col. J. C. Crouch of Olympia brought down his fifth party from his home city last week to locate on Josephine county timber lands. The party was composed of Will Langrege, a farmer and owner of oyster beds, Mrs. D. C. Bates and Mrs. McCulley. He was also accompanied by Mrs. Crouch.
 C. W. Sargent, an extensive timber man from Osborn, Idaho, is here making some purchases along this line and so well pleased is he with the climate and the possibilities of this section, that he proposes to return here to make his future home. He will make some large investments in realty when he comes back to reside permanently.
 —Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ireland and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. R. Riddle will leave Monday for a very enjoyable overland trip to that famous pleasure resort, Crater Lake. They will be gone about two weeks and it goes without the saying that they anticipate having the time of their lives.
 —Jno. Summers, the obliging Southern Pacific operator is contemplating visiting his old home, back in Michigan, about the first of next month, accompanied by his family. For the past four years he has been doing duty in his present capacity, often working overtime and now he will greatly enjoy this much-needed rest. They expect to be in the east about three months.

A Brief Record of Local Events.

Clean up your yards and have the city present a neat appearance to the visitors to the Fair.
 Six families of Medford, people started Sunday for Crescent City to camp for a few weeks.
 Wm. Frakes this morning brought in some very attractive specimens of tellurium ore which come from his promising mines in the Siakiyous.
 Hops will be ready for picking in the old John Ransau yard, now the Cornell and Flanagan yard, about August 26. They will need about 300 pickers. 8-9-3t
 Uncle Tom's Cabin, which holds forth in this city tonight, came in on a special train, the cars being made especially for this purpose. The outfit seems to have every indication of being a very successful aggregation.
 A string of nine fine Percheron horses passed through the city in a special car yesterday afternoon and many persons were interested in viewing the fine stock, which came from the famous Crouch stock farm, of La Fayette, Indiana. The animals were being taken to Sacramento, Cal., for entry in the coming state fair.
 The Southern Pacific Company have for general distribution a number of large wall maps showing that portion of the United States west of Chicago which is very complete and is exceedingly useful for reference and information. These maps will be supplied free by applying through the Grants Pass depot agent 8-23 tf
 Assistant Postmaster Newell informs the Courier that there is a very lively demand for boxes and that the supply is not at all equal to the demand. This is but another fine indication that Grants Pass is being made the home place of many newcomers and is a most desirable state of affairs. Mr. Newell hopes that the new boxes may be forthcoming in the near future.
 These are busy times for Grants Pass hotel men and they are having considerable difficulty in caring for the traveling public. One popular hostelry has many private residences engaged in the neighborhood, where they care for their many guests who are unable to obtain accommodations in the hotel proper.
 H. J. Clark has a contract for erecting a 60x85 two story brick for Farlow & Rhodes at Ashland, the building to cost $8000. Mr. and Mrs. Clark left for Ashland Tuesday and will remain there several months until the building is completed. M. T. Utley will do the wood work on the contract and he left Thursday.
 Kinney & Truax, the enterprising merchants find need for another salesman, and in the person of Mr. Carbray, a recent arrival from the Columbia river country, they have an able assistant in looking after their large volume of business. Mr. Carbray's family accompanies him and they expect to make Grants Pass their future abiding place.
 Station Agent Mahoney has been notified from the Portland office that stopovers will be allowed at Grants Pass on all tickets sold from the Portland territory to Sacramento on account of the National Irrigation Congress. This will insure a great number of northern Oregon visitors stopping a day or two at Grants Pass on account of the Irrigation Convention and Fair.
 The 25 public spirited citizens who joined hands and made it possible for the music loving portion of Grants Pass to have some rare musical treats during the coming season, have made most of their selections and the attractions promise to be unusually good. With the opera house practically rebuilt and having now a play house that is very creditable, Grants Pass sets the pace for all of Southern Oregon in this most important matter. Much credit is due the citizens who take so much interest and pride in the welfare of the people of this community.
 Mrs. L. B. Akers has a Plymouth Rock hen which has a record-breaking brood of 90 chickens, which the old hen mothers as attentively and as successfully as though her brood consisted of only one. The hen did not hatch 90 at one setting—they were the result of the work of nine hens, but the one hen does the bringing up of the brood while the other hens went back to laying. (The hen does not hope to mother each chicken every night but they each get their turn some time during the week, and those which are not fortunate enough to get under the mother wing take up their station as near as possible in the hope of better luck the next night. Mrs. Akers throws a canvas over the coop at night in order to shield them from any chill. Irrigation convention and Industrial Fair.
