A Brief Record of Local Events.

Tomorrow evening the Grants Pass Y. W. C. T. U. will enjoy a lawn social at the home of H. L. Gilkey, on Iowa street, the weather permitting.

The teachers in the Grants Pass public schools will be tendered an enjoyable reception at the home of L. B. Hall, on Fourth street, Friday evening by the ladies of the Methodist Church.

In mentioning the various enterprising firms which showed the fair and convention colors, the names of the Hair-Riddle Hardware Co. and the Fashion Stables were unintentionally omitted.

Sunday W. B. Sherman kept his automobile busy taking people out to see A. H. Carson's "Redland Vineyard" taking 36 during the day and they were all more than pleased with the interesting sight.

F. J. Rogers has placed some beautiful Early Crawford peaches in the Commercial Clubrooms exhibit. They were grown on his home place on North Seventh street and are veritable beauties.

Rumor has it that a prominent young Marshfield business man who was at one time located here, will one of these days lead one of Grants Pass' charming young ladies to hymen's altar.

Grants Pass is getting to be quite a place for trains, but Sunday the side tracks were crowded to overflowing with both passenger and freight trains, owing to the ditching of five freight cars near Merlin.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wagner were in from Evans creek Tuesday, doing some trading and attending to business matters. They feel greatly pleased over the showing made by their part of the country at the fair. Mr. Wagner is operating a sawmill on Evans creek and is having good success in doing so.

One night last week burglars entered the saloon of Thos. Smith, at Glendale, and wrapping the safe in blankets, proceeded to blow it open. The building was set on fire as a result and a big fire was for a time threatened. The marauders secured $79, all in nickels, and then made good their escape.

S. W. McConnell and his son-in-law M. B. Dickison who arrived from Sumpter in eastern Oregon last week, have purchased the Chausse residence on Sixth street, near the bridge, paying $1600 for the same. The deal was made by W. L. Ireland, the successful, hustling realty man.

From a recent issue of the Vernon, Nevada Review, it appears that Judge J. O. Booth and C. L. Mangum, two Grants Pass mining men are members of a new corporation which is to operate "Gold Run No. Two, Lode Claim," which is pronounced a very valuable property located in the vicinity of Vernon. It is said that its surface showings are greater than Goldfield ever had on the surface of any of its greatest claims.

Louis Gentner, who is sojourning in San Francisco, writes, having the date of his Courier extended to July, 1908 and remarks: "Things with me are quite lovely. Am still with the United States Railroads. Was quite lucky for I did not get my head cracked during the strike. The strike was declared off yesterday and old Pat Calhoun comes out victorious."

R. W. Veatch and G. O. Oim, the telephone linemen, have leased the famous Oregon Caves property, in this region and will proceed to make that one of the popular resorts of the Pacific coast. They will have the place for 10 years and will erect a big tourist hotel and install an electric light plant in the near future. One of the first things they will do will be to make the public roads leading to the place much better.

One of the prominent features of the Southern Oregon Fair was the general display of farm products collected and exhibited by M. M. Kohler, one of Illinois Valley's hustling citizens. The collection consisted chiefly of grain, fruit, vegetables and dairy products. Among the articles exhibited was wheat and oats in sheaf, samples of wheat, oats, barley and vetch threshed, field corn and sweet corn on stalk, alfalfa, timothy and clover in sample. Potatoes, mangoes, turnips, beets, carrots, cabbage, onions, peas and beans. Watermelons, squash, pumpkin and cucumbers, apples, pears, peaches, plums and grapes. Tomatoes and ground cherries, strawberries and blackberries, hops and sunflowers, walnuts, butternuts and chestnuts. Butter and cheese, canned fruits, wines and honey. Magnificent pumpkins plumed the decorations. Mr. Kohler carried away first premium for his general display of farm products, which he justly merited, also showing that the Illinois Valley holds a prominent position in the great State of Oregon.

Night watchman Jim Swearinger and Deputy Marshall Joe Hammond, in attempting to arrest a couple of suspicious looking hobos, on the depot grounds early Monday morning, evidently got on the track of some criminals, for two of the fellows fled and when ordered to stop, one of them shot Swearinger in the leg, and then fled. However, they apprehended one fellow, who is now in the county jail, awaiting further developments. He gives his name as R. A. Martin and the officials are satisfied that he is some of the gang who robbed the jewelry safe last week. He had on his person some paper money that was burned and showed evidence of having been in a fire. The officers are endeavoring to capture the other bandit, who is the one that did the shooting. Marshal Swearinger's condition, while painful, is not serious. But it might have been much worse. N. G. Bates, the barber, has been out in the Grass Lake country, enjoying a big hunting and fishing expedition.
