The Misplaced Comma.
"Some lawsuits of the highest importance have hinged upon the right placing of a comma," said a judge.
"When I first started to practice law a Missouri editor came to me in a peck of trouble to defend him against a threatened libel suit growing out of faulty punctuation. He had not meant to give some innocent young women the slightest offense when he wrote a story about two young men who went with their girls to attend a lecture and after they left, the girls got drunk. Putting that miserable little comma out of its right place did the work, as it made the girls the ones who became inebriated instead of their escorts. I managed by proper diplomacy and the publication of a neat apology to stave off the damage suits, and afterward my editorial friend became an expert on punctuation."—Baltimore American.

Making Good.
There is no way of making lasting friends like "Making Good" and Doctor Pierce's medicines well exemplify this, and their friends, after more than two decades of popularity, are numbered by the hundreds of thousands. They have "made good" and they have not made drunkards.
A good, honest, square-deal medicine of known composition is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It still enjoys an immense sale, while most of the preparations that have come into prominence in the earlier period of its popularity have "gone by the board" and are never more heard of. There must be some reason for this long-time popularity and that is to be found in its superior merits and its ability to cure all the ailments of the human system.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the original Little Liver Pills, although the first pill of their kind in the market, still lead, and when once tried are ever afterwards in favor. Easy to take as candy—one to three a dose. Much imitated but never equaled.

THE COOL, FRESH SHADE

young people enjoy this healthful amusement and that if they cannot dance one place they will at another and too often at places where persons of mature judgment would not think of going the executive committee have modified their first order of no dancing and will permit dancing on the grounds under proper restrictions during the afternoon after the regular program is closed and also during the evening. The dance will be under the direction of the Grants Pass Orchestra with G. P. Jeeter and Fredrick Reynolds managers, which is a guarantee of the high class of the dance and of the enforcement of the same proprieties that are observed at a social dance at the home. The platform will be 40x100 feet with a first class waxed floor. The music will be by the Grants Pass Orchestra and that insures that it will be the best.

A rest room will be one of the new features at this celebration for a resting place for weary mothers and tired babies and also a place where women may remove their wraps and take a dust from travel. There will also be easy chair and hammocks adjoining the rest tent for the use of elderly people who may need a quiet rest. One or more of the ladies of the rest room committee will be in charge during the entire day. That automobiles and vehicles may not be brought on to the main grounds they will be assigned to a separate section of the grove, and that hoodlum boys nor pilfering men shall not molest lunchbaskets or steal belongings nor disturb automobiles, two deputy marshals will guard them during the entire time of the celebration.

The many pleasing features of the day is attracting general attention and it is now certain that there will be not less than 3,000 people at the celebration. While it promises to be the largest gathering of farmers ever had in Josephine county yet the towns will be proportionately as well represented. The number that will attend from Grants Pass will be governed only by the transportation facilities that will be available on that day. Judging by the number of persons, who have stated that they will spend the Fourth in the cool shade at Wilderville grove it is safe to say that not less than 1000 of the residents of Grants Pass will be at the celebration. All the leading business men of the city are taking an active interest in promoting the grangers' celebration, they appreciating that in the past the farmers have given the Grants Pass celebrations a good attendance, and also that the attractions and innovations that are to be the leading features at Wilderville grove will make it an ideal place to spend a day and while having full enjoyment in the exercises have a delightful rest and outing in the fresh, cool woods. The Southern Pacific will give a one and one-third fare to Grants Pass and there is likely to be a large number from the various towns in the valley attend the celebration, for there is no big celebration along the railroad except at Ashland and Roseburg.

Many people are planning to go the day before the celebration and camp at Wilderville grove. Every convenience will be afforded those who come and this feature will be one of the most enjoyable of the outing.

Communication.

To my many friends in Josephine county:

You will please accept my thanks and gratitude for your efforts in my behalf in the election just passed, especially to the friends of temperance who stepped outside of party lines to uphold a cause that they considered just and right.

However, it can only be considered a defeat in part, as we have carried the prohibitory measures and have almost total abstinence on the side of the law.

rule, are not the ones that engaged in that business. But let us watch the man who was a breaker of the high license laws, as any man who will peddle whiskey by the drink, or bottle before prohibition, has only a step farther to go to be a blind pig manipulator. The law can only be enforced in proportion as it is backed by public sentiment. I hope to live to see the time when the public conscience will be so thoroughly aroused that any man who insults the manhood of our country by breaking the laws by dispensing whiskey to the citizens, debauching the young men and corrupting the politics of our country will be put behind the bars.

Again thanking you, I am,
Yours for law and order.

N. REYNOLDS.

Iceland's Elder Ducks.
In Iceland on certain islands, near Reikiavik, the elder duck is raised in a systematic manner. It is really more of a small goose than a duck, being so independent of fish and animal food as to be able to support itself by grazing on seaweed at the bottom of the sea at a considerable depth. It is a splendid diver, being as much at home under the water as on the surface. The great value of the elder duck's down is well known, and, owing to the bird's tendency to pull out such large quantities for lining its nest that it leaves its lower breast almost bare when it is setting, there is no difficulty in getting a good supply of these feathers without destroying the birds. In Iceland it is strictly guarded against intrusion. The inhabitants consider it a crime worse than stealing deer in Scotland for any person to shoot an elder duck.

The Art of Food.

I suppose none of us recognizes the great part that is played in life by eating and drinking. The appetite is so imperative that we can stomach the least interesting viands and pass off a dinner hour thankfully enough on bread and water—just as there are men who must read something, if it were only "Bradshaw's Guide." But there is romance about the matter after all. Probably the table has more devotees than love, and I am sure that food is much more generally entertaining than scenery. Do you give in, as Walt Whitman would say, that you are any the less immortal for that? The true materialism is to be ashamed of what we are. To detect the flavor of an olive is no less a piece of human perfection than to find beauty in the colors of the sunset.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

CASE AFTER CASE

Plenty More Like This in Grants Pass.

Scores of Grants Pass people can tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills. Many a happy citizen makes a public statement of his experience. Here is a case of it. What better proof of merit can be had than such endorsement?

J. M. Jones, N. Fifth St., Grants Pass, Ore., says: "I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and am glad to state that they have helped me greatly. For some time I have been suffering from symptoms of kidney trouble, such as an irregular action of the kidneys secretions and pains through the small of my back. The many remedies tried failed to give me the least relief until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Clemens' drug store. The pains and aches left me, the kidney action was made normal and my health greatly benefited. I gladly recommend a remedy containing such good qualities as Doan's Kidney Pills." For sale by all Dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Children and Candy.

Give children plenty of pure sugar, taffy and butter scotch and they'll have little need of cod liver oil, says Dr. Woods Hutchinson in Woman's Home Companion. In short, sugar is, after meat, bread and butter, easily our next most important and necessary food. You can put the matter to a test very easily. Just leave off the pie, pudding or other desserts at your lunch or midday dinner. You'll be astonished to find how quickly you'll feel "empty" again and how "unfinished" the meal will seem. You can't get any workman to accept a dinner pail without pie in it. And he's absolutely right. The only thing that can take the place of sugar here is beer or wine. It is a significant fact that the free lunch counters run in connection with bars furnish every imaginable thing except sweets. Even the restaurants and lunch grills attached to saloons or bars often refuse to serve desserts of any sort. They know their business! The more sugar and sweets a man takes at a meal the less alcohol he wants. Conversely, the less alcohol

sumes, the less alcohol

The Mayor of Berlin.

One of the principal requirements of a mayor in Germany is unqualified honor of Germany graft in any form would not be tolerated. To become the mayor of a city like Berlin the applicant must have established his reputation for efficiency in governing other German cities. His career is carefully scrutinized by the members of the town council who select him, for not only must he be competent and successfully perform the duties of his high position, but still so young as likely to remain competent for many years, for a mayor in Prussia is elected for a term of twelve years and if not re-elected after that period is entitled to a life pension of half the amount of his salary. After a service of six years his pension is one-fourth of his salary and after serving twenty years two-thirds. He need not necessarily be a resident of Berlin at the time of his appointment—in fact, the mayor is usually chosen from the residents of other cities.

WHAT AN ACTIVE WOMAN'S CLUB CAN DO

St. Johnsbury, Vermont, Club has Accomplished Much for Their Town.

To the uninterested non-club member a woman's club might seem to be just "a woman's club," one differing from another only as its glory out shines another star in clubdom. But the St. Johnsbury Woman's club in Vermont has from the first mapped out a course for itself and evolved many plans not adopted by its sister clubs, says the Boston Globe.

Its very organization was somewhat unusual. The board of trade has been so successful that in the spring of 1892 its members suggested that a similar organization among women would meet the needs of the town, and from a joint meeting held by invitation of the board of trade sprang the woman's club, which now numbers 200 members.

Activity has been its motto. Uniting with the General federation in 1893, it worked to bring about fellowship of the clubs of the state, and in 1896 the Vermont federation was organized at a meeting called at St. Johnsbury.

In the beginning this club was made a departmental one in the belief that through some one of the many channels each member might find some way toward which to direct her talents. Each committee furnishes one monthly club programme.

It would be a most delightful task to recount the social gatherings which have been enjoyed from time to time—the garden parties, the gentlemen's nights, the musicals, the art exhibits.

The vacation school met with grave discussion lest the finances of other committees should be crippled in establishing this, but it proved successful from its start, and the next year the voters of the town unhesitatingly appropriated $300 to continue the work through the school board.

A district nurse is maintained during the severest winter months.

It was through the education department of the St. Johnsbury Woman's club that traveling libraries became a permanent feature of the state library commission. This club contributed two traveling libraries to the state and owns three rural libraries.

Was it not a bold move for a committee of women to ask that the village charter be revised—to invite the selectmen and other influential citizens to their clubrooms while a lawyer laid bare many truths and necessities regarding the same? A village meeting was called, and the charter was revised all in good time as well as good spirit.

The club has given its assistance in securing the passage of a state law governing child labor, has been interested in the pure food law and in giving women a place on the state boards of charitable institutions where women and children are confined.

In short, the record of its fourteen years of life includes many minor works which go to make the village notable, a tree warden having been appointed, drinking fountains furnished, lawn seats placed in parks, street litter disposed of, social gatherings held for parents and teachers, women placed on the school boards, while other projects have been discussed which may come to fruition later.

The first president of the Vermont federation was a St. Johnsbury woman, and at the recent meeting at Bennington the delegates unanimously elected as Miss Clark's successor Mrs. P. F. Hazen of St. Johnsbury, who is also president of the St. Johnsbury Woman's club, with which she has been identified from its beginning. To its work, which is carried on throughout the entire year, she has given material help by her musical ability, her straightforward adherence to the interests of the club, her quickness of intellect and her loyalty to all things true and worthy.
