W. C. Burch and son Earle of Gresham, Ore., arrived in the city Saturday en route to the Oregon Caves where they will fish and hunt for a week or more after which they will prospect for gold in the Siakiyons. Mr. Burch was the first man to exploit the Oregon caves after their discovery. He began way back in 1885, when he put in 200 feet of ladders, for the convenience of sight seers. The caves were so inaccessible however, that few came to see them and the venture was abandoned.

Just received a big stock of Stone Jars etc., direct from the factory—Hair-Riddle Hdw. Co.

Postmaster G. W. Donnell and family went to Glendale Monday to spend a week. Mr. Donnell has a mine there known as the Gold Flat. Our city postmaster had expected to feast on venison during the week's camp and of course took along, or intended to, his rifle, but he was so thoroughly inoculated with the buck fever before even getting started, that he went away and left his rifle in the depot. This side step will doubtless cost the postmaster a box of good Havapas on his return.

LOCAL EVENTS.

The last half of the semi-annual state school apportionment which has just been made, gives Josephine county $4800.80, or about $1.50 per scholar. County Superintendent Savage is now making the apportionment for the various districts of the county.

Reports within the past few days state that the hail storm which recently visited Hugo some weeks ago was not so disastrous as first stated and that some of the orchards will yield part of a crop. It is also stated that this is the first hail storm ever heard of in this section.

Perkins & Phillips, Mining and real estate, office in Layton hotel.

E. E. Meredith, for a number of years interested in mining in Josephine county, but for the past several years with the Paraffine Paint Co., was in Grants Pass the fore part of the week calling on the trade and meeting old friends. Mr. Meredith is manager of the company for Oregon and Idaho territory.

M. L. Opdyke, local editor of the Observer, and Mrs. Opdyke left yesterday for Steamboat, where they will spend a week or two camping, fishing and hunting. M. L. is pretty good on fish stories most any time, but when he returns even those who have worn medals may as well prepare to retire. He has promised all kinds of fish and venison to the balance of the fraternity who are too poor to take a vacation, and we all hope he will make good.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. McClellan were down from Hugo last Saturday doing some shopping. They came from Colorado last spring and though he is a mining engineer by profession he purchased a nice little fruit farm near Hugo, which he is improving at odd times. As yet the acreage planted is small. He has one acre of bearing Tokay grapes and will plant five acres more this fall. He also put out apples, peaches, pears and the small fruits. He says the recent hail storm did not touch him and that not one of the orchardists were hurt as badly as first stated. In fact he says that section of the county is looking fine.

Oliver Morrison of Hanson, Idaho last Tuesday purchased the George Lewis 80-acre farm near Wilderville for $4000. This is an alfalfa and fruit ranch, but Mr. Morris purposes putting a greater portion of it out to fruit within the next year. Twenty acres are now under cultivation but Mr. Harrison says that he would not take the price paid for the whole piece for half of the tract. He left for his home in Idaho last night but will return here with his family the first of November, having sold out his interests in Idaho. He also purchased from the farm 20 head of hogs, 14 head of cattle and a span of fine colts, paying for the latter $500.

Never had a good wagon for Oregon roads until I got a Peter Schutler of Grants Pass Hdw. Co. 7-31 4t

Division Supt. L. R. Fields and General Superintendent M. J. Buckley of the Southern Pacific passed through here south yesterday morning and during their brief stop advised Mr. H. U. Kinney, as a representative of the Commercial Club, that the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Club would be permitted to go ahead as the ladies had proposed and decorate and improve the park on the company's ground just east of the depot and also the vacant land on either side of Sixth street street on the north side of the tracts. After the fall rains, when the ground has become sufficiently moistened that it can be worked the ladies will take up the work of improving these places in view of the depot. This is a most commendable enterprise on the part of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Commercial Club and will greatly enhance the appearance of the depot grounds next spring and summer.

Fruit Trees painted with Avenarius Carbolinum will not be troubled with borers and will become healthier. Grants Pass Hdw. Co. 7-31 4t

W. R. Small one of the expert salesmen and advertising men on the staff of the Northwestern Brokerage and Sales Co. of Seattle and Chicago, who has been conducting the advertising campaign during the closing out sale at the store of P. H. Harth & Son, finished his work here this week and left Wednesday for Ashland where he stopped for a day before going on to San Francisco. Mr. Small is a veritable whirlwind of publicity and purveyor of printer's ink, unique and original in his ideas and he brought the people to the store in crowds. It is doubtful if this store ever did so much business before in so short a time. It was impossible at times to wait upon the trade. Mr. Small knows how to get results from advertising and also how to conduct a sale.

D. S. Mascoll returned home last Saturday from Rook Island, Ill., where he had been spending the past three months in looking after business interests, among other things disposing of his last year's corn crop in Illinois at 66½ cents per bushel. Had he held it four days longer he could have sold it for 70 cents, but was well satisfied with the price received. Mr. Mascoll was very glad to get back to Grants Pass. While it is hot here, he says it is not that sultry heat of northern Illinois which kills people off.
