FRIDAY, AUGUST 21, 1908.

The people of Lincoln county are preparing for a grand fruit and vegetable carnival to be held at Toledo, October 7th, 8th, 9th, which promises to be a splendid advertisement for that section of the state and its numerous resources.

According to Secretary of Agriculture Wilson the proceeds of the farms of the United States for two years would buy all the railroads of the country. Mr. Wilson says that during the past nine years the farms have added $32,000,000,000 to the wealth of the country. But while this is wading into rather large figures it must be remembered that agriculture, including its various branches, is one of the biggest institutions in America.

Aprons of onward the march of prohibition, the Portland Journal says: "Oregon Red Men have joined the 17 other state organizations of the order who have declared against admitting any one connected with the manufacture or sale of spirituous liquors into their ranks and at the great council, which has just completed its sessions in Medford, followed the advice of the great council of the United States and passed a law to that effect. The law bars from membership any who are in any way connected with the liquor trade. The law does not affect those who are already in the order, merely referring to future candidates for admission. It is expected that the Washington council, in session at Everett today, will enact a similar law."

The inauguration of a thorough and comprehensive system or systems of irrigation in this section will mean a complete revolution in the matter of fruit raising and farming in the Rogue River Valley. It will mean that one acre thoroughly watered and properly tilled will produce two to four times as much as the same acre now yields without water. While of course there will be an increased cost in the production this increase will be nowhere near in proportion to the additional crop production. Moreover, the farmer and orchardist will be practically assured of a maximum yield each year. There should be practical co-operation among the farmers to the end that irrigation throughout the county shall be secured at the earliest possible date. There is nothing to be gained in waiting. No other one thing will attract so many new residents to both the towns and the orchards of the valley. Irrigation should be the slogan throughout the Rogue River valley.

Why Some Men Are Poor

Their ideas are larger than their purses.
 They do not keep account of their expenditures.
 They are easy dupes of schemers and promoters.
 They reverse the maxim, "Duty before pleasure."
 They have too many and too expensive amusements.
 They do not think it worth while to save nickles and dimes.
 They have risked a competence in trying to get rich quickly.
 They allow friends to impose upon their good nature and generosity.
 They try to do what others expect of them, not what they can afford.
 They do not do today what they can possibly put off until tomorrow.
 They do not think it worth while to put contracts or agreements in writing. They prefer to incur debt rather than to do work which they consider beneath them. They never dreamed that a mortgage on their home could ever turn them out of doors. They endorse their friends' notes for guaranteed payments just for accommodation.

J. R. Lake, forest ranger on patrol in the Oregon Caves district, was brought to Grants Pass Tuesday morning and taken to the South Pacific hospital, suffering from a slight attack of pneumonia. The trip covers something over 40 miles and the finish was made at about 3 o'clock Tuesday morning. The sick man is a son of County Judge Lake of Wasco county.

George Finch came in from the Canyon Creek mining district last Friday to spend a few days with his family and look after business matters. Mr. Finch and J. H. Challen have been out prospecting the past month and during their search of the hills have encountered some fairly good specimens of tellurium ore. They have been prospecting in the vicinity of the Sam Bowden property which is now being opened up, and George says in a week or two he hopes to be able to give some good, live mining news.

JUDGE GALLOWAY DIFFERS FROM JUDGE HANNA

Holds That Independence Charter Provisions Are Subject to Local Option Law.

In dissolving the injunction sued out by the liquor interests of Independence to prevent the county court of Polk county for making order declaring Polk county dry as a result of the last June election Judge Galloway in open court at Dallas, last week took just the opposite view of the construction of the state statutes to that of Judge H. K. Hanna, of the circuit court for Jackson county when the latter ruled that the charter of Medford, which gave the city exclusive control and regulation of the liquor traffic and repealed all acts in conflict with its provisions, took precedence over the local option law.

The Medford case is taken up to the supreme court on appeal of the drys, and notice of appeal from the decision of Judge Galloway in the Independence case has been given by the wets. The decision of the supreme court in both these cases, the Independence case being identical to that of Medford, will doubtless be watched with much interest on the part of both the wet and dry elements of the state. Judge Galloway also sustained the motion of the defendant, county court of Polk county, to dissolve the injunction sued out by the liquor interests of Dallas.

The Dallas injunction suit was based upon the question of local option and the legality of the local option law itself upon several grounds, the principal one of which is that the title of the act contains over 300 words and that initiative and referendum amendment to the constitution provides that the title shall contain no more than 300 words.

John A. Carson of this city represented the plaintiffs in both cases and District Attorney John H. McNary appeared on behalf of the state. Both cases will probably be appealed; the defendants in the Dallas case having six months in which to perfect an appeal.—Statesman.

FRUIT GROWERS WILL MEET NEXT TUESDAY

Members of the Grants Pass Fruit Growers Association held a meeting yesterday at the Commercial Club room for the purpose of talking over the reorganization and rejuvenation of the association. The meeting, owing to the busy season was not largely attended and the session adjourned to meet at the same place again next Tuesday at 1:30 o'clock, when the affairs of the association will be gone over and a new organization effected. It is urgently requested that every old member be present as well as fruit growers of this vicinity who are not now identified with the organization. Plans for handling the present crop will also be discussed. The maintenance of this association is of the most vital importance to the fruit industry of the county and every fruit grower of the county should attend next Tuesday's meeting.

Messrs. Herzinger & Mitchell, the real estate men, are in correspondence with a French syndicate relative to the location of a custom smelter in this city for the handling of the ore of the various copper mines of Josephine county and vicinity. These people propose to erect a plant of 300 to 350 ton capacity. They have been looking over Idaho, Nevada and other states, as well as Oregon, but seem more favorably impressed with this section than any yet visited. Their chief engineer is expected here in a few days for further investigation of this region.

H. N. Parker and wife, Henry Shade and five others started Friday morning for a 10 days trip to Crescent City.

The Weather Last Week.

The temperature throughout the state was nearly normal in the southwestern counties and slightly below normal elsewhere throughout the state. The coolest period was from the 12th until the 14th, and the warmest weather prevailed during the closing days of the week. The long drought was broken by showers which were general during the afternoon of the 12th and the forenoon of the 18th. The heaviest rain fell in the lower portion of the Willamette valley and amounted to nearly three-quarters of an inch. In the eastern and southern counties the rainfall was in most places very light and insufficient to lay the dust or to clear the atmosphere of smoke. The sunshine was nearly normal and no damaging high winds occurred. At Grants Pass last week was clear except on the 12th and 18th, which were cloudy, but no rain fell. Cool weather prevailed till toward the close of the week, when it began to grow warmer.
