FRUITDALE.

About 16 from here attended the Sunday School convention at the Christian Church last Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Dodson shot two deer in Robert Hock's orchard one day this week. This orchard has been a favorite feeding place for the deer all summer and they have feasted on peaches, pears, plums, prunes, apples and garden vegetables. When shot, one of them had an apple in its mouth.

Geo. Hamilton received 10 prizes on apples down at Medford last week.

William Byrne has sold 80 acres of land to Wm. Breitmeyer of Jackson, Michigan, for the sum of $4000. Mr. Breitmeyer is having a dwelling house erected and intends to make his home here.

E. E. Blanchard is improving Fruitdale at a rapid pace, clearing off the east end of his 60 acres. This not only an improvement to Mr. Blanchard's land, but it gives a good view of Robert Hock's house from the main road.

G. P. Stanbrough & Son, who last week purchased a 40-acre tract east of the school house, are making quite a showing on their house and expect to have it ready for occupancy by the time their wives reach here.

Work on the new house at the E. H. Wise farm is progressing rapidly and in about another week should be completed. This will be one of the coziest and neatest houses in the valley.

Jud Pernoll, one of the Grants Pass base ball players, who has this year been with Aberdeen, returned Tuesday and later went to his home on the Applegate. Jud has made quite a record for himself as a pitcher.

SENATOR BEVERIDGE VISITS GRANTS PASS

Greeted by Brass Band and More
Than a Thousand People.—
Makes Eloquent Address.

Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana was enthusiastically welcomed by the people of Grants Pass Wednesday when the 1:55 train arrived. The Rogue River Band headed the procession to the depot and played while the train was slowing up and the Senator was getting out on the car platform where he made his speech. Fully 1000 people were on hand to listen to him. As he stepped out onto the platform a cheer went up and as it subsided he was presented with a basket of strawberries and Tokay grapes. The strawberries were from the J. C. Calhoun place and the grapes from Carson's. The senator acknowledged the gift and as he only had 10 minutes to talk, began at once by saying that he thought what the American people want is a continuation of the Roosevelt policies, not because they are Roosevelt policies, but because they are the policies of the American people; that he is for Taft because Taft is the man that will carry out the Roosevelt policies, having helped to formulate and administer them, and is the most experienced man in the affairs of government that has ever asked for the suffrages of the people.

After discussing the Republican policy and Mr. Taft, he devoted some little time to Bryan and his changing attitude, saying that as Mr. Taft is the most experienced man in affairs of government Mr. Bryan is the least experienced man that was ever a candidate for the suffrages of the people, and that it would be unwise to have him at the head of the American nation just as it would be unwise for a Rogue River orchardist to put him in charge of his orchards when he knows nothing about fruit, or a railroad to put him in charge of a train when he knows nothing about running it. He then reviewed his record and his talks of the present campaign. At the close of his address he asked anyone to give a reason why they intended to vote for Bryan and someone said "because of his policy." In answering this Senator Beveridge provoked a good deal of laughter, and after that no Bryan man was heard from.

Someone asked what caused the last panic and the senator explained that in part when the train pulled out, and a mighty cheer from all who were gathered to hear his talk.

Senator Albert J. Beveridge is one of the youngest men in the United States Senate, and was the youngest at the time of his first election, then being only 37. The day before he spoke in Grants Pass, he passed his 46th birthday. He is known as one of the most progressive United States Senators and has had much to do with the deliberations of that body since he first entered it in 1898.

He proposed the amendment to the meat inspection bill providing for the inspection of all products of packing houses engaged in interstate commerce.

Senator Beveridge has since been making a vigorous fight for an amendment to the same bill requiring packers to pay the cost of inspection rather than let the cost fall on the government.

He also is the author of a bill to prevent the sale of the products of child labor in interstate commerce.

During the last session of Congress before action was taken by the party leaders for an investigation on tariff revision, Senator Beveridge introduced a joint resolution providing for a tariff commission to investigate the subject of revision during the recess of congress. While his resolution was not adopted, his persistency in keeping the matter to the front was largely instrumental in causing the leaders in the House to order an investigation by the ways and means committee and in the senate by the finance committee, which accomplished the end for which he was contending.

Senator Beveridge is an advocate of a maximum and a minimum tariff, in line with Governor Cummins, of Iowa, and other progressive republicans.

Mrs. Frank Leroy and two children went to Medford Saturday to visit for a week with her sister, Mrs. Corum.

AMUSEMENTS

MEDFORD LOSES GRANTS PASS WINS

Manager Hazelrig of the Medford Opera House which he is remodeling had gone to great expense to arrange for the opening of the new house by the Isle of Spice Company but too late finds that it is impossible to have the house ready and as a result that grandest of musical extravaganza will be put on the Grants Pass Opera House Stage by this high class company of 65 people. Advance seats had been subscribed for at Medford as high as $10 and a large party is already made up there to come to Grants Pass on October 10th to help us enjoy this rare treat. Advance sale at the usual place at 1 o'clock Saturday, October 10th.

The Montana Limited.

One of the notable productions of the theatrical season will be the presentation of "The Montana Limited", a play of the West, written especially for Clint and Gazzolo by Charles Ulrich and W. L. Roberts authors of numerous popular successes. The play has a thrilling plot and the situations are markedly dramatic although in no sense sensational as in the ordinary western melodrama. The piece de resistance of the play is a train robbery on a Montana railway, and this act is highly realistic. The play abounds with splendidly drawn characters and the pathos of the story is enlivened by wholesome comedy. October 13th at Opera House

The Four Corners of the Earth.

An event of more than ordinary importance to lovers of amusements will be the presentation of the new Clint and Gazzolo powerful spectacular melodrama, "The Four Corners of the Earth," which possesses four acts, and some 14 scenes, each of which bristles with qualities that combine to make a great and lasting success. The development of the plot is of unusual strength and is full of surprising tenacity of action and considerable humorous laughter-provoking situations that should be seen to be appreciated. The stage effects are necessarily of unequalled grandeur. Opera House October 15th.

"Uncle Josh Perkins".

"Uncle Josh Perkins," the great comedy success, is down for an engagement of one night at the Opera House on Monday, October 12th. The play is built on original lines and is said to be presented by a brilliant company, who make the most possible out of every type of character enacted, while built largely for laughing purposes there is enough pathos, human interest and thrilling situations unfolded to suit all classes of men, women and children too. The forthcoming engagement of this company will doubtless attract unusual attention from the playgoers of Grants Pass. 10-9-11

Saturday evening last, Grants Pass had the ways of a metropolitan city. The Missouri Girl was being played at the Opera House, both the Electric and Bijou theatre were running, a dance was on at Clemens' hall, the skating rink was running full tilt and the usual Saturday night social functions were being observed.

Lame Shoulder.

This is a common form of muscular rheumatism. No internal treatment is needed. Apply Chamberlain's Liniment freely three times a day and a quick cure is certain. This liniment has proven especially valuable for muscular and chronic rheumatism. Sold by W. E. Willis.

W. E. Willis, for a few months a resident of Grants Pass, has acquired the Alhambra-Advocate, a weekly paper published at Alhambra, Cal., a suburb of Los Angeles. While employed on the Courier he discovered that we had an expert Simplex type setting machine operator, in the person of Miss Maule Baber. Last week Mr. Willis, by offering an increased salary, endeavored to secure Miss Baber's services for his publication. Miss Baber, however, prefers to remain with the Courier and has declined the offer.
