MAKING IT HOT FOR OREGON LIQUOR MEN

Grand Juries Throughout State Bringing Indictments, Authorities Making Arrests.

Josephine county is not alone in its determination to put an end to the liquor traffic as scarcely a day passed that an arrest is not made in some part of the state or other for violators of the prohibition law. A few items on this subject from papers throughout the state will give an idea of the way it is handled elsewhere.

Tom Moffat and Dee Matlock, of Pendleton can testify from experience that the local option law in the Umatilla metropolis is being enforced. For violating the law the gentlemen named were fined $700 each, with an additional $300 tacked on for their bartenders. Local option is no joke.—Oregonian.

The trial of J. Falbe, indicted for alleged liquor selling, opens tomorrow morning. W. W. Cardwell and A. N. Oront are the attorneys for the defense. If the case is finished in the morning, Scott Jefferson, also indicted on a charge of selling liquor, will be placed on trial in the afternoon.—Roseburg Review.

Justice Bryson's court was busy all day yesterday trying the case against Joe Jacobs for violating the local option law by selling intoxicating liquors. The jury consisted of G. W. Cochran, F. B. Dunn, J. E. Roach, Paulus D. Newell, Amos Wilkins and

G. E. Courtright. Mr. Cochran begged to be excused and by stipulation of attorneys the case went to trial with the five jurors. About 4 o'clock the case was given to the jury, who immediately brought in a verdict of "not guilty," as the state had failed to make a case against him.—Eugene Register.

Sid Pitman of Springfield was arrested Monday evening by Sheriff Brown, for alleged violation of the local option law by selling intoxicating liquors and it is said there is some evidence to show that he had something to do with selling liquor to Indians at a local hop yard. He plead not guilty to the charge and his trial was set for Friday before Justice Bryson. Meantime he languishes in jail, not having found bail.—Eugene Register.

Soon after the local option law went into effect here last July The Review published a warning to possible transgressors that violations thereof would be punished. Now, at the first regular term of circuit court some indictments have already been returned by the grand jury and it is rumored that several others are pending. Let all transgressors be punished, regardless of who they may be. While this law is on our statute books it should be enforced just as strictly as is the law against stealing. In this respect the grand jury and circuit court are backed by a strong public sentiment.—Roseburg Review.

J. W. Hobbs, United States internal review agent for Western Oregon, was in Ashland a few days ago. In response to inquiries put to him Mr. Hobbs said that Ashland and Newberg were the driest "dry" towns in Oregon with Corvallis a close third. Mr. Hobbs admitted that the blind pigs that existed here in former "dry" periods were a thing of the past. This is also the judgment of the city officials, who are not making any noise about the matter, but are seeing to it that the laws are being obeyed as far as it is within their power to do so.—Valley Record.

Byron Nixon who conducts a gallon house in the Santiam district, was arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Esch on an indictment issued by the grand jury recently in session here. The indictment charges Nixon with selling liquor to minors. Nixon is widely known in the Santiam district and his case has aroused great interest there. He will probably be tried this term of court.—Salem Statesman.

Sid Pitman, the Springfield man who was arrested there a few days ago, charged with selling liquor at Seevey's hop yard during the picking season, in violation of the local option law, appeared for trial before Judge Bryson, of the Eugene justice court, this forenoon at 10 o'clock. A trial was not necessary, as the defendant entered a plea of guilty. Judge Bryson sentenced him to pay a fine of $100. He was unable to raise the money and will spend 50 days in the county jail.—Eugene Guard.

A Common Cold.

We claim that if catching cold could be avoided some of the most dangerous and fatal diseases would never be heard of. A cold often forms a culture bed for germs of infectious diseases. Consumption, pneumonia, diphtheria and scarlet fever, four of the most dangerous and fatal diseases, are of this class. The culture bed formed by the cold favors the development of the germs of these diseases, that would not otherwise find lodgment. There is little danger, however, of any of these diseases being contracted when a good expectorant cough medicine like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. It cleans out these culture beds that favor the development of the germs of these diseases. That is why this remedy has proved so universally successful in preventing pneumonia. It not only cures your cold quickly but minimizes the risk of contracting these dangerous diseases. For sale by M. Clemens.

1909 EXPOSITION WILL BE READY

Eight months from now on the first day of June, 1909, the gates of the Alaska-Yukon Pacific Exposition at Seattle will be thrown open to the public. For four months and a half the first great Pacific World's Fair will receive visitors from all parts of the globe. If the visitor comes on the last day, or in August or on the opening day, it is planned that he or she shall find things the same. It is the intention of the officials of this exposition to break all exposition records, to establish a precedent and have all complete and in readiness on the opening day. The slogan of the enterprise is just that "Ready on the opening day."

A month ago the gates of the exposition were closed to free admission. At a meeting of the stockholders held on the steps of the Manufacturers Building, the directors general presented figures showing that the exposition was more than 70 per cent complete and that the remaining work was of such character that it could be rushed to the final state in a few months. To make doubly sure the director of exhibits has instructed all exhibitors that goods will be received any time after March 1st of next year, and that everything must be in place two weeks before the official opening.

Three of the great permanent buildings which will be turned over to the University of Washington at the end of the Fair are finished. A fourth will be completed by January 1st. The two main exhibit palaces, the manufactures and agriculture buildings have been finished for several months. The mining palace and the fisheries building, the Hospital and the fire station have been in use for months. The power plant is ready to start up. Oregon finished her palatial building in September and entertained the traveling passenger agents who met in Seattle during that month. California, which will have one of the largest buildings of the grounds, will announce the building completed by January 1st. The Washington station building, which will be permanent, is going up rapidly. Contracts have been let with a time limit of February for the Arctic Brotherhood, Forestry and Women's buildings. The United States Government has its plans ready and the commissioners will let the contracts within 10 days and the buildings must be ready two months before the opening. Every other building to be erected can be run up in two to three months, so there is no danger of the building side being behind.

The site of 25 acres of virgin forest has been cleared, graded, roads and paths laid out. The central court of honor with its beautiful cascades and geyser basin is almost completed and it is expected that water will be turned on the middle of November. Acres of lawn are coated with a heavy turf of refreshing green. The sunken gardens are finished.

Miles of sewers, water mains and electric conduits have been laid all permanent work for the university. Gas mains are now going in and when that is once finished the contractors will start laying asphalt over the 11 miles of streets and walks. Every curbing is set and this work will not take over two months to finish. Several miles of cinder paths winding through the virgin forest, through beautiful glens and shady nooks are ready.

The green houses which have been in operation for two years have over a million plants ready for transplanting. Over 250,000 rose bushes are included in this huge number. Several thousand large tubs containing vines that will grace the pergolas of the great palaces are waiting to be placed and more are thriving under the gardener's care.

Cornell, Rod-Ing, Ga., Aug. 27, 1906." Sold by Model Drug Store. 4-3 18

"The Fruit Grower" of St. Joseph, Missouri, has just issued a Home-seeker's Edition, which contains an extended report from all the fruit growing districts of the West, and no one state receives as much attention as Oregon. There is page after page of illustration and text, and every part of the state is given prominence. In fact, Oregon probably gets more attention than any other two states. This is true because the state is better organized, doing better advertising, has more good pictures and has learned how to present its resources and attractions better than any other state in the Union.

HOBSON TALKS WAR AND SOME POLITICS

Richard Pearson Hobson spoke in the Opera House in this city Saturday evening. Everybody knows Hobson, or at least knows who he is, for didn't he return from the Spanish War and kiss all the ladies who came his way, but he didn't talk about kissing in his speech here. President R. L. Mangum of the Bryan & Kern Club made a few introductory remarks and then Mr. Hobson criticized the republican party and praised the democratic party, roasted Taft and eulogized Bryan, winding up this part of the argument with the complaint that the republicans had had the offices long enough and that the democrats ought to have a chance once in a while, because he didn't think they could do any harm anyway.

Hobson said he wasn't a politician, but inasmuch as he had happened to be elected to congress from Alabama, had sort a been dragged into the game. His real business is war, and while he thinks the republican party has spent too much money he believes they should have added a billion or so more to the appropriations and a big navy built and equipped so we could fight. He thinks Japan is spoiling for a war with us and that when it comes—which he thinks is very close now—we will lose all of our insular possessions and California, Oregon, Washington and all Pacific coast territory and these places will be ruled over by Japanese, and perhaps the white inhabitants made their slaves.
