S. V. Moody returned Saturday from Portland where he had been to look for a suitable location with the expectation of removing his family to that city to reside. Mr. Moody says he found a place to suit him and they will remove to that city in the near future. He was accompanied on his return trip by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Clarence Moody, who went on to Gold Hill Tuesday to visit relatives. S. V. Moody also went to Ashland Tuesday on a business trip.

Alfred Letcher and family returned Monday from a month's visit at Crater Lake. They report a most pleasant outing, but found it impossible to get down to the waters of the lake on account of the heavy snow, but in two weeks this will disappear and then the lake will be in all its splendor. Another thing which bothered Alfred Jr. somewhat was the large swarms of mosquitoes which disturbed his peaceful slumbers, making it necessary for him to sleep standing up between two fires most of the time. These little insects seemed to have a special liking for Al and left a few evidences of their partiality on his face, which tasted good to them.

Accept Our Thanks.

No form of words can fitly express the gratitude we feel toward those who so kindly and with such tender sympathy aided us in the great sorrow that came to our home in the death of our beloved daughter and sister, Lucille Best. Words cannot express nor acts repay the debt we owe to the kind friends and neighbors who have made our sorrow their own, and have made us to understand, as never before, the tenderness and helpfulness of Christian sympathy. We can only give this public expression of our gratitude for the kindness that meant so much to us. MR. AND MRS. ISAAC BEST AND FAMILY.

The Discussion Closed.

There seems to be a disposition among certain correspondents on the farmer and merchant question to use personalities and get beyond the subject under consideration. The Courier cannot allow this and therefore with the present issue closes the discussion. Both sides have had their say and we think they better understand each other than they did previously.

The farmer and merchant are to a large extent each dependent on the other and it will always remain so. They have only to come to a full understanding to become of great service to each other.
