SOCIAL EVENTS

The Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian church met Wednesday afternoon at the church parlors. There were between 50 and 60 ladies present and a splendid social time was enjoyed. Mrs. Rehkopf, Mrs. Newell and Mrs. J. T. Tufts were the hostesses of the afternoon and served delicious ice cream and cake to the large gathering.

A most interesting evening with highly gratifying results was the outcome of the experience social given by the members of the Home Missionary society of the Newman M. E. church on Tuesday evening. The social was given to raise funds to help pay the expenses of the ministers in the Klamath district, who endure many hardships with very poor pay from the scattered residents of that district. The society raised $35 for this good cause by their efforts Tuesday evening. The most interesting part of the program was the telling of the experiences by which this money was raised. Each lady member was to earn a dollar and give her experience in earning the same. To say that some of these recitals were amusing would be putting it lightly, while at the same time it goes to show how many different ways money can be earned when there is a willing wage earner behind the movement. For instance, some of the ladies blacked shoes, pressed trousers, washed carpets, etc., and one lady, after securing employment as bookkeeper and working faithfully one whole afternoon, discovered that her employer had gone to Portland without giving her the much needed dollar, and though she had expected to work fully three afternoons for the coveted prize, she immediately turned her attention to a better source of remuneration for her services and sold violets, by which means she soon earned her money and still has orders coming in for the fragrant beauties. The stories of the varied experiences of the ladies kept the audience in a good humor all evening, while between times musical selections were rendered which were much enjoyed. One of the best numbers on the program was the reading by Mrs. Basler, which was very amusing and extremely well rendered. The guests were then served with refreshments, doughnuts and cocoa, and departed for home well pleased with the success of the affair. There were about 100 people present at the social.

In honor of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Herbert Sampson, who is visiting from Portland, Mrs. C. H. Sampson entertained a number of friends on last Friday evening at her home on D street. The evening was spent playing progressive whist and prizes were awarded as follows: First lady, Mrs. Horn; second lady, Mrs. Sabin; consolation, Mrs. Stonaker. First gentleman, Mr. Offins; second gentleman, Dr. Smith; consolation, Mr. Sabin. Mrs. Sampson served a dainty luncheon and entertained her guests in so charming a manner that the time slipped swiftly away and the wee sma' hours were creeping in before the guests departed for home. Those present besides the family were: Mr. and Mrs. Sabin, Mr. and Mrs. Carner, Mr. and Mrs. Stonaker, Mr. and Mrs. Scoville, Mr. and Mrs. Dean, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Slover, Mr. and Mrs. Starr, Dr. and Mrs. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Donnell, Mr. and Mrs. Gunnell, Mr. and Mrs. Cleverger, Mr. and Mrs. Mr. Bobsten, Mr. and Mrs. Offins, Mr. and Mrs. Calhoun, Mr. and Mrs. Demaray, Mrs. Horn, Mrs. Lister and Mr. Strutenroth.

The Wenoka class of the Christian church was entertained by their teacher, Mrs. W. H. Hair, at her home on Tuesday evening. This was the regular business meeting of the class, but after the business was disposed of the young people gave themselves over to the enjoyment of the event and a most satisfactory time was the result. Games and music were indulged in and a dainty repast was served to the young folks, all of which was heartily enjoyed and appreciated. Those partaking of Mrs. Hair's generous hospitality were Misses Hazel Morey, Jessie Vandewalker, Rose Wichman, Jessie Layton, Margaret Williamson, Florence LaMar, Fannie Jewell, Mrs. Victorine Ellis and Miss Davidson; Messrs. Rodney Calvert, Bert Lewis, Lloyd Dyer, Vern Launer, Lloyd Launer, Roscoe Bratton, Carl Lathrop.

A very enjoyable little dancing party was given at the Coliseum rink on Thursday evening by the Dean orchestra. Between 30 and 40 couples were present and fully demonstrated their patriotism to Old Ireland by celebrating St. Patrick's day, tripping the light fantastic to the enticing strains of music rendered by the orchestra from 9 to 12 o'clock. Everybody had a good time, and will want to go again soon.

After the regular semi-monthly meeting of the Rebekahs on last Monday evening, a surprise was tendered to one of the members, Miss Ethel Harmon, in the form of a linen shower, in view of her approaching marriage. A large gathering of Rebekahs were present and the young lady was the recipient of many beautiful and useful pieces of linen as tokens of the esteem in which she is held by the order. Refreshments were then served to the members after which games were indulged in and the evening was one to be long remembered by the guest of honor as well as all present.

One of the most pleasant of the social afternoons given by the Woman's Relief Corps was held at the beautiful home of Mrs. J. H. Ahlf, at 656 North Sixth street, Thursday, March 17. Nearly 70 members and invited guests were present. The decree of the afternoon by the hostess was that each visitor piece a "wino-patch" quilt block. That task completed, mostly minus a thimble, Mrs. Ahlf opened the program with two phonographic German selections. This part of the entertainment included some selections in honor of St. Patrick's day, instrumental, "Ben Hur March," Mrs. Minnie Britton; recital, "The Fast Mail and the Train," Mrs. Ella Howard; instrumental, "Lilly of the Valley" waltz, Mrs. Mary Burton; recitation, "Magie O'Brien," Mrs. Annie Fisher; duet, Mrs. Hattie Calvert and daughter, Annie; reading, "The Sons of Old Ireland," Mrs. Alice Mallory. Delicious refreshments were served of cake, ice cream, nuts and candy. The afternoon will be remembered by both members and visitors as a most pleasant and profitable social event and Mrs. Ahlf as an ideal hostess.

Miss Reba Lowry delightfully entertained a number of her lady friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Hartman on Friday evening. Invitations were issued for a masquerade character party and everyone responded in person, but so thoroughly disguised that the removal of the masks was the only way of discovering who was who. On arriving at the Hartman home the ladies were greeted by a large placard commanding them to "wipe their feet and come in," but on entering there was no hostess in sight, but instead another placard offering a reward for her safe return. Everyone immediately started in to earn this reward and a merry time was had in trying to penetrate the disguises of the large assembly and find the hostess. This was one of the jolliest parties of the season and mirth and laughter were heard on all sides, while games and music also formed a large part of the evening's entertainment. One of the most interesting games of the evening was "Progressive Peanut," and the prize was awarded to Miss Margaret Williamson. Miss Lowry served her guests with a delicious luncheon of salad, olives, wafers, pineapple sponge and cake. When the masks were at last removed the following familiar faces were discovered in character: Misses Fannie Abrams, old-fashioned girl; Blanche Crane, Farmer John; Jane Chapman, Red Riding Hood; Nellie Dement, Samantha Allen; Lucie George, John Alden; Alice Horton, Priscilla; Anna Hiner, Sallie Hopkins; Reba Lowry, sheriff's wife; Cora McVean, Jap; Jessie Mastin, school girl; Fay Newton, clown-

Meeting of the City Council.

The city council held its regular meeting on Thursday evening, Mayor Smith presiding and all the councilmen except Messrs. Cheshire and Tufts being present.

A number of matters were brought up for discussion and consumed a great amount of time. The following items of business were transacted:

Petition of Mrs. Alma Wolke for the grading and improvement of Fifth street was reported upon favorably by the street committee and while the question was up L. L. Jewell, Eelus Pollock and Jos. Pollock addressed the council and asked that their names be withdrawn from the petition as they had signed it with the understanding that the city would pay for the grading. The report was adopted.

The city attorney was instructed to draw up a blanket form for petitions for the benefit of property owners wishing to petition the council.

W. H. Ransie by communication offered his resignation as a member of the plumber examiners and it was referred to the sewer committee.

The property committee submitted samples of roofing for re-roofing the city hall and it was ordered that the auditor and police judge ask for competitive bids for removal of the old roof and the putting on of a new roof of three ply material, each bid to be accompanied by a sample of the roofing.

Council adjourned to meet on next Tuesday.

Death Claims Former Resident.

Miss Hazel Howland, a member of last year's high school graduating class at Pendleton, and a student of the Ellensburg Normal school, died in the latter city Friday, March 11, 1910, as a result of an illness of a few weeks from meningitis. The deceased was born in Pendleton 20 years ago. Her mother died when she was about 18 months of age and in a short time thereafter she went to Portland to make her home with her aunt, Miss Jane Wright, and later came to Grants Pass and resided here until 1906.

The number of her friends was only limited by the circle of her acquaintance and regret at her untimely death is keenly felt by those who knew her.

The funeral and interment were at Pendleton Saturday.
