COURIER READERS HAVE
CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY

Winner in Memory Test May Get a Prize of $25—Study of Advertisements Will Help.

This is purely a question of who is who and what is what. Somebody is going to have a chance to win $25 by properly answering certain questions.

Here is the proposition: There is going to be printed in the Courier next week a feature page under the heading, "What Do You Know About This?" From the many live business firms of Grants Pass, a number will be selected about whom will be penned a brief descriptive sketch, giving the chief features of their business, their methods—some of the distinguishing characteristics which will afford means of identification; but in the first issue the names and addresses will be omitted. The active and healthy imaginations of the people, spurred by the incentive of valuable prizes, will be appealed to for the identification, and for prompt and accurate answers to the questions that will be propounded.

This will be an interesting feature and a valuable drill in the commercial life of the city. A lasting impression will be left on the minds of the people concerning the institutions that are thus put in the spotlight.

The sketches for this unique page are now being prepared by an expert in that line and those who intend competing for the prizes will profit very largely by a careful perusal of all advertisements in the Courier in the interim before its appearance.
If you would win the prize, keep your eyes open for a few days.

An Interesting Golden Wedding.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Geo.
P. Stanbrough, of Fruitdale, gave them a surprise last Friday by tendering them a party in honor of their golden wedding. The matter was kept a profound secret until just before the guests arrived. They met in a grove near the Stanbrough residence where tables were improvised and a wedding dinner spread which did honor to the occasion. When dinner was announced the bride and groom were placed at the head of the long table and they were made to feel that they were among true friends who were glad to be present to do honor to the worthy couple who had built a home a half a century ago. It was a merry dinner and a gay company and it passed off in a manner highly agreeable to all. While the party was at the table Mrs. W.
S. Contant rapped for order and announced that she had something to say to the bride and groom and to the company gathered. In a few appropriate words she presented a purse of gold which had been furnished by their numerous friends to the guests of honor and congratulated them on having lived together so many golden years. Mrs. Stanbrough acknowledged the appropriate gift and thanked the friends who had so thoughtfully come together on this auspicious anniversary day.

Geo. P. Stanbrough was born in Illinois January 30, 1842, and he was married to Miss Hannah V. Morris at Pennville, Mo., July 1, 1860. They raised a family of four children, two girls and two boys. These were Mrs.
Holton, of Lewiston, Mich. and Mrs.
Johnson who died in the year 1900.
Morris E., one of the sons, resides in Michigan and the other son, John L., lives in Fruitdale. Mr. Stanbrough was a soldier in the 20th Iowa infantry and served in the southwest for three years after his marriage. He enlisted July 22, 1862. He was in many battles, but fortune favored him and he was allowed at the end of the war to return to his home and his loved ones.

ATTACKED WHILE ON DUTY

Engineer of Great Northern Railway Stricken With Appendicitis.

He was immediately operated and died shortly after. Appendicitis comes quickly—in a flash it may be upon you. If everybody knew of the discovery of a German physician, this engineer might be alive today. A German physician has discovered a simple remedy for treating Appendicitis without operation, although perhaps in very rare cases operation may still be advisable. The remedy, called Adler-ika, is composed of buckthorn bark, glycerine and other simple ingredients scientifically compounded.

Because Adler-ika COOLS the diseased parts and DRAINS OFF all impurities, which no other medicine can do, ONE DOSE instantly relieves stomach or bowel trouble. The drug store of the National Drug Co. reports large sales and wonderful results.

Almost any doctor will tell you, if your bowels do not move each day, or if you have wind or gas in your stomach or bowels, or a heavy feeling after eating, you may very likely get Appendicitis. By taking Adler-ika just once each week, Appendicitis can gain no foothold.

A valuable book, showing many pictures of the curious little Appendix, and telling how Appendicitis is caused, and how you can easily guard yourself against it, can be secured free for a short time at the above drugists'. You should read this book and take no chances.

SWEET PEA SHOW
BY LADIES' AUXILIARY

Blossoms Grown by School Children Were on Exhibition Last Saturday.

The sweet pea exhibit held by the Ladies' Auxiliary Saturday afternoon in the Commercial Club rooms proved to be a success far beyond the hopes of the ladies interested because of the interest shown by the number of school children who exhibited flowers and who attended the show. There were 43 children who made exhibits, nearly five times the number of entries last year.

The prize winners are as follows: Lucille Garber, first prize, $2; Dorothy Stidham, second prize, $1; Lillian Tuffs, second prize, $1; Marjorie Wilcox, third prize, 50 cents; Charlie Briggs, third prize, 50 cents; Bertie Fuller, blue ribbon; John Harmon, red ribbon; Stanley Summers, white ribbon.

Those who made exhibits were:
Ford Peterson, Mike Wilcox, Alta
Smith, Pansy Dukes, Mary Pope, Daniel Flamm, Lila Meissner, Ira Putney, Ida Lamphear, Allene Dunbar, Alice Ament, Earl Lamphear, Bernice Riggs, Erel Cheshire, Richard Cramer, Arthur Cramer, Florence Gething, Amanda Steele, Ulda Basler, Loren Basler, Vernon Bas-ler, Vivian Isham, Margaret Smith, Harry Edgerton, Dorothy Smith, Wilma McKensie, Arnold Meir, Wallace Cheshire, Harold Capp, Lucy Harmon, Glen Allen, Michel Byrd, Catherine Clemens, Victor Newell.

All children who exhibited and who did not receive a prize or ribbon will be presented with a package of sweet pea seeds.

The general exhibits were fine, especially those of the Spencer varieties, which could be easily distinguished by their size and silky appearance.

Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Cramer made a beautiful exhibit of Spencers, consisting of 18 named varieties and two unnamed. This exhibit was given a blue ribbon for the best general exhibit of the Spencer variety.

Mrs. H. D. Norton had a beautiful exhibit which was given a red ribbon.

Mrs. W. A. Newell's exhibit was awarded a white ribbon.

For the best general exhibit of the common varieties, Mrs. A. M. Evenson was awarded the blue ribbon.

Mrs. Margaret Tuffs the red ribbon and Mrs. Newell the white ribbon.

The ladies expect a larger exhibit next year and wish the school children to become interested in much greater numbers, but while the exhibit is primarily for the school children, exhibits from all are desired to compete for ribbon prizes.
