overworking and his condition is quite serious. His many friends here are anxious about him, feeling that it is too bad to have him away just at this time, as he is a strong booster and a hard worker in the interest of the public. It is too hoped that he will soon be back and able to take up his work.

Scores of people are coming to Grants Pass and seeking houses and furnished rooms, and, in fact, any place in which they can live. Householders who have rooms for rent should either advertise the fact through the newspapers or list their rooms with the real estate men, so each new comer will not be compelled to make a house to house canvass in order to secure a place to live.

RESOLUTION OF SYMPATHY

In as much as it has seemed best for the Ruler of the Universe to remove from our midst, our faithful first gatekeeper and one of our charter members, Frances A. Clements, and called him to lay down the earthly implements--and we mourn the loss.

Be it resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes of this session and also be sent to the bereaved wife and children and that a copy be sent to the press. Signed by the committee, Cora B. Coutant, Jessie C. Hamilton, Helen Alverson. February 4th, 1911, Fruitdale Grange No. 379.

BOOSTER MEETING

subscriptions to the stock of the Grants Pass and Rogue River railroad, W. B. Sherman said:

"I think the people of our locality should be very glad of the privilege of subscribing to this stock as an investment. I don't think it should be considered that this company is asking for a bonus. With the lineup of lands and townsites the common stock should be worth at least five for one in a short time, and inasmuch as the road is going to run through a locality that will yield very heavy tonnage, the preferred stock should soon be at par; and as I understand it, they only ask 90 cents on the dollar, with the privilege of buying it in at $1.05, which would leave the purchaser 15 per cent addition to the 7 per cent dividends that he would draw.

"If I had money to invest I would rather have this from what I know of the lands they have purchased and their value in the Rogue River valley, that the railroad runs through; I would much rather have them than government or any municipal bonds that I know of.

"Any man that would not take the amount of stock that would be reasonable for his circumstances would appear to be lacking in confidence in the country in which he is doing business. It seems to me that it is up to the people of this locality to grab up this stock: First, as an investment, and second, to show that we have confidence in our locality, and, third, if one cared to call it a bonus, it certainly is worth the investment as such. In the first place they are not asking for anything until they have given us ten times the value received. A majority of the business and professional men of Grants Pass will no doubt profit one thousand dollars each and upwards before the first ten per cent would be payable, and like sums in proportion before the other payments are required.

"In my estimation this proposition shows as clean cut as anything I ever saw put before the people."
