McMinnville's Mayor Advises Mayor Myers on Street Paving

CITY OF MCMINNVILLE
Oregon
Leroy Lewis, Mayor
Lloyd E. Lancefield, Recorder
April 30, 1911.

Hon. J. L. Myers,
Grants Pass, Oregon.

Dear Sir: I understand that your city is contemplating making some improvements on your streets by placing a bituminous dressing on a stone foundation. We can only learn these things by our own experience or by the experience of others. I hope you will pardon the privilege on my part of giving you our experience in this matter. Last season we laid some macadam streets in residence districts and undertook to experiment to see if we could not construct a cheaper roadway for residence streets than hard surface pavements. Consequently we experimented on one block at the city's expense. After placing the crushed stone on the subgrade according to the usual macadam specifications of graded stone, we added one and one-half gallons of hot asphaltum, on which we placed half inch fine rock and thoroughly rolled it. On a portion of the block we placed an additional coating of asphaltum and a sprinkling of fine rock and rolled to a finished surface. It made a very nice appearing surface at the time, but it has been down less than a year and we find it is a failure. To begin with, it is impossible to place hot asphaltum on cold stone and get a union. The asphaltum surface is like a saddle blanket over the entire block and is apparently not bound at all to the rock base beneath. I was on the street today and the wearing surface is apparently all gone where the travel occurs. In many places the coarser rock of the foundation has worked through to the surface and is not better than the balance of the macadam street. From this experiment we have adopted the policy of macadamizing outlying streets which are not practical to pave until the property owners are satisfied that they want hard surface paving.

We are progressing well, I think, in our work and I hope soon that we will be at work laying hard surface streets. In regard to Third street will say that the pavement will extend the full length to I street and 10-foot sidewalks the whole length. I would be glad to hear from you at any time from your practical experience in matters which are of interest to us in our public improvements. Believe me, as ever,
Yours very truly,

(Signed) LEROY LEWIS.
CITY OF MCMINNVILLE
Oregon
Leroy Lewis, Mayor
A. C. Chandler, Recorder
Street Commissioner, Geo. Elliott.
McMinnville, Ore., May 1, 1911.
To Mayor Myers,
Grants Pass, Ore.

Dear Sir: The bituminous or asphalt macadam pavement laid down last year by us last June has not proved satisfactory; scaled off and did not stand the traffic once the rainy season set in, the surface breaking into holes, and we do not consider it any improvement on the macadam, and the cost is considerably more.

GEO. ELLIOTT,
Street Commissioner.
P. S.—The city contemplates laying fifty city blocks of bitulithic pavement this season.
