Douglas County Officials Courteous— Judge Wonnacott and the other officials of Douglas county were exceptionally courteous in dealing with this county in the matter concerning the change that was proposed in the Wolf creek road. When our neighbors realized what the change would mean to Josephine county they fell in line with our people at once, and instead of forcing through the change as they might have done, left the road as it had been, and also agreed to improve the portion of the road in Douglas county.

Shipment of Fawns— C. C. Wheeler on Wednesday shipped to Pasadena two yearling fawns which will be placed in the private park of R. J. Busch along with three others which were shipped there last year, and their offspring. With this addition the band will number nine.

Stockmen Visit Grants Pass— Joseph Chamberlain and son, Logan, and the latter's wife and two children, are in Grants Pass today from the east fork of the Illinois river. The two gentlemen are in the business of producing beef cattle on the Illinois valley range, and the recent reports of the skyward tendency of the price of beef does not seem to worry them at all. They report the range in good condition this year, the heavy rainfall having made an excellent growth of grass.

The Galice Way— A new way of capturing deer has been discovered in the Galice section. Commissioner C. L. Barlow, who is in the city on his duties on the county board, brings the story that Jo Chambers and Frank Campbell, farmers near Galice, caught a four-point buck with no weapons more formidable than their bare hands, and dispatched the animal with a butcher knife. A little Fox Terrier rounded up the deer and ran him into a lane and the rest was easy, as the buck was too bewildered to make much resistance. After the men had thrown the animal they called to the hired man to come with a knife.

This is an endorsement of the old board, which is returned to office, under which such satisfactory development work has been done.

BOY IS BURNED TO DEATH AT KERBY
(From Monday's Daily).
A three-year-old boy, the son of C. A. Phillips, was burned to death in a fire at Kerby at two o'clock this afternoon. The lad, whose mother died a little over a year ago, was living at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hogue. He was out playing in the barn and chicken house this afternoon, and evidently had matches in his possession, starting a fire that destroyed both buildings and his own life with them. The body was terribly burned, life being extinct when it was recovered from the burned building.

His father, C. A. Phillips, is at Harbor, Ore. An uncle, C. E. Phillips, lives on East I street, in this city.

MR. VEATCH ADDS NEW HEN STORY TO LIST.
E. S. Veatch, deputy in the office of County Clerk Cheshire, is something of a poultryman himself. When the judges at the poultry shows are tying up the ribbons the Veatch pens always come in for their full share of the blue ones. And now that the recounting of egg laying records has reached such an acute stage, Mr. Veatch smiles and says a few things as he gets into the game.

Veatch had a pen of five black Minorca hens that on a number of occasions gave him six eggs in one day, and lately a pen of ten hens produced eleven eggs between sun and sun. Veatch says that it is not clear in his mind whether one hen had done double duty, or the rooster, who made the eleventh member of the pen, had been helping out in the egg production line.

He also clouds the record a bit more when he tells of a neighbor who was encouraging a lady member of the household in the chicken business. That the lady might not become discouraged at the number of eggs credited to the flock each day, the neighbor would surreptitiously put a few extra eggs in the nests, to be gathered by the lady in the evening. Of course the deputy clerk says that these extra eggs came from the Veatch brand of Minorcas. But he does not think that his own flock needed any outside assistance in the performance which he now credits up to them.
