Automobile Party to Ashland. Messrs. J. C. Williams, S. H. Baker, H. L. Gilkey, Dr. Findley and Lincoln Savage filled their autos with friends and families Sunday, and made a delightful run to Ashland and return, going by way of Jacksonville. The only untoward incident of the day was the obstreperous behavior of the Williams car. Carl has the car so trained to dive into the wildest fastnesses of the forest in search of deer, that Sunday it took the "bits in its own teeth" and was many miles up Fooths creek before its driver could put it right again. If the road had not played out, Williams thinks he would eventually have reached Grants Pass without turning round.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED, by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. JULE DORA WANTS DIVORCE AND ALIMONY. Jule Dora, by her attorney, C. H. Clement, has filed her answer to the action for divorce brought by her husband, Chas. Dora, denying in toto the allegations of over indulgence in intoxicants, and other specified acts of indecorum, and making counter charges against her spouse, praying for a decree herself, and asking that Dora be ordered to pay her $25 per month as alimony.

According to Mrs. Dora's answer, Chas. has not been a model husband since she took him in out of the cold in 1902. She says that when she wedded him he was without possessions, while she had considerable of this world's goods. Among the reasons why she asks that she be granted the divorce, she alleges that Dora has an "insatiable desire to control not only all the children, but the defendant as well, and that this has become a diseased grievance upon his mind, which has developed with maniacal force, and that in his drunken frenzy she is apprehensive of bodily harm."

Jule lands one solar plexus blow on her spouse in the following allegation: "That plaintiff habitually frequents resorts and patronizes notorious soft drink joints, and when there spends his money for drinks of intoxicating liquors. That these visits to these near-beer joints are so frequent and continue so long that when the plaintiff returns to his home and is in the presence of the defendant and her family the said plaintiff will rise up with the potency and force of a wild beast and with a wobbly drunken tongue pour out vile epithets and curse and swear with the vengeance of satan."

Afraid that that might not hold Chas. Mrs. Dora adds that he gives liquor to the children, makes her labor in the field, and that he has a "hair trigger temper."

PIONEER OF 1889 MAKES VISIT TO GRANTS PASS. P. H. Harth was one of the pioneers who later left Grants Pass, but who has a warm spot in his heart for the city by the Rogue. Mr. Harth came here in 1889, and built up a clothing house that finally developed into the Peerless, and naturally he feels pride in the establishment he founded.

Four years ago Mr. Harth left the city, and has since been living in Portland, but on his visit back to the old town this week he had only good things to say of it. He was one of several old-timers who took advantage of fair week to visit the city, and he expressed much surprise at the great display of the products of the soil shown there. "It tells me," said Mr. Harth, "that new agricultural methods are being tried in Josephine county, and that the possibilities of the valley are being developed." Other things of which Mr. Harth spoke as noticeable in the growth of the town, and of its forward march in the past four years, were the building of the magnificent streets, the lighting system, and the way in which buildings and business houses have been modernized. The construction of 350 up-to-date residences within that period was also one of the things upon which he commented as showing how substantial was the Grants Pass growth.
