SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—"Go away," said Caroline Masino, chambermaid, to a burglar she found in her room. Confused, the intruder stepped out of the window, which was on the second story. "He's killed," screamed the maid. "Not a bit," she heard him say as he fled.

The doctor has returned to Spokane but will return here again within a short time.

PEAR AND APPLE CROP WILL BE LIGHT

Many of the orchardists are now preparing for the first spraying of the fruit trees, and barrels of spray are taken out every day. The fruit trees have not made much start yet, the frosty nights having held the sap down. The orchards are in excellent condition this spring, though Inspector Burke states that the crop of fruit will be light this spring, owing to the trees having borne so heavily last year. Both apples and pears will be short crops, though the indication is for a full crop of peaches and grapes. Those orchards where the fruit was thinned most will give the best yield.

VEATCH RECEIVES PEN OF BUFF MINORCAS

A notable addition to the poultry population was made Monday when E. S. Veatch received from Ashland six pullets and a cockerel of the buff Minorca breed, the first of this handsome poultry to come to this vicinity.

The fowls are especially beautiful ones, and the pullets are from the yards of Lindgren Bros., the California breeders who originated the strain.

Mr. Veatch has been known for the past seasons as the Minorca enthusiast of the valley, and his birds have pulled down their share of the ribbons at all the shows where they have been exhibited, although till now he has confined his attention to the blacks. To strengthen his pens of the blacks Mr. Veatch will receive within a few days a male bird purchased for him by Judge Hinds who passed on the local birds at the winter show.

INAUGURAL PROGRAM PLAN IS OUTLINED

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 17.—The plans for the formal inauguration as arranged by the Wilson family and the inaugural committee at Washington, have today been explained by President-Elect Wilson in response to questions. They are as follows:

Monday, March 3.—The president-elect and his wife and three daughters will leave Princeton late in the forenoon on a special train, escorted by one thousand Princeton students; will reach Washington late in the afternoon and go direct to the Shoreham hotel. Wilson will attend the smoker of the Princeton alumni, Mrs. Wilson and the daughters will dine at the Shoreham and spend the evening and night there. Governor Wilson will not make a speech at the smoker.

"Has it been decided you will not speak there?" he was asked.
"Yes," he replied. "I decided it."
Governor Wilson feels that his inaugural address should be the only speech made at the time of his inauguration. He will spend the night at the Shoreham.

March 4.—President-elect Wilson will drive to the white house from the Shoreham shortly before noon to meet President Taft and ride with him—Taft on the right side, and Wilson on the left—to the senate to see the inauguration of Vice-President Marshall from the legislative gallery.

About the same time Mrs. Wilson and her daughters will drive from the hotel to the senate for the same purpose.

After the inauguration of Vice-President Marshall the party will go to the inaugural stand in front of the capitol, where President-elect Wilson will be given the oath of office and deliver his address.

As soon as he has finished, he and Ex-President Taft will drive back to the white house over the route to be taken by the parade—Wilson on the right and Taft on the left. Mrs. Wilson and the daughters will be driven there as quickly as possible.

When the Wilsons enter the white house, then, it will be to take possession of it for four years. The party will immediately go to luncheon, at which there will be a number of guests, of whom some will probably be the new cabinet members.

As soon as luncheon is finished the president and his family will go to the stand in front of the white house from which he will view the inaugural parade, the head of which will be timed to arrive just as luncheon is over.

Governor Wilson said that neither he nor the members of his family had accepted any social invitations for the inauguration period. He said they would have several relatives as guests, but that the list was not ready for publication.

When Governor Wilson's attention was called to the report that his brother, Joseph S. Wilson, of Nashville, had withdrawn as a candidate for secretary of the senate, he said: "That is something I have known nothing about. I have had nothing to do with it at any time."

Do you know that more real danger lurks in a common cold than in any other of the minor ailments? The safe way is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, a thoroughly reliable preparation, and rid yourself of the cold as quickly as possible. This remedy is for sale by all dealers.

PRES. TAFT CALLS CONGRESS.

JOAQUIN MILLER, POET OF SIERRAS, IS DEAD

OAKLAND, Cal., Feb. 18.—Telegrams of sympathy from all over the world poured in here today on the widow of Joaquin Miller, the famed "Poet of the Sierras," who died late yesterday at his home on the hills overlooking this city. The widow and his only child, Miss Juanita, are prostrated over the poet's death.

Miller knew that he was near death. Just before the end he tried to move from his couch, but the effort proved fruitless. Turning to his aged wife, he whispered: "I love you, Abbie. I love you, Abbie. Goodbye."

The next words, which were his last, were scarcely audible. "I can't live," he said. "I am dying. Oh! Take me away, ye angels. Take me away. I hear ye."

Miller's death was directly due to diabetes and arterial sclerosis. He had fallen rapidly since his illness of 1911.

Miller left an estate valued at $100,000. He was born in the Wabash district of Indiana, Nov. 10, 1841. In 1859 he crossed the plains with his parents into Oregon, the family settling in the Willamette valley. A few years later he joined a gold rush to California, was adopted by a tribe of northern California Indians and married the daughter of the chief. But when his wife was killed by settlers in an expedition against the raiding Indians, Miller returned to civilization, later marrying again.

Miller went to London in 1870 and published his first book of poems. They were an instantaneous hit and he was lionized by his English admirers. In 1887 he located in Oakland, purchasing several hundred acres of wooded grounds, which he has since made his home.

The poet's wish that his body be cremated will be carried out. The cremation will take place tomorrow at 10 o'clock at his home. The ceremony of scattering the ashes will be reserved for a later occasion.

You will be surprised at the positive results of a classified advertisement.

GRANTS PASS SUFFERERS SHOULD TAKE NO FURTHER RISK.

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disorders, lameness, headaches, languor—why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a tested remedy is offered them?

Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in kidney trouble over 50 years, have been tested in thousands of cases.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney disease, act now, for gravel, dropsy or Bright's disease may set in and make neglect dangerous. Can Grants Pass residents demand more convincing proof than the following?

John McCallister, Murphy, Ore., says: "For about a year I was afflicted with kidney complaint. My back was very painful, particularly when I stooped, and ached so severely that I could not sleep well. Work of any kind tired me and I was languid and nervous. The kidney secretions passed too frequently at night and I noticed sediment in them. Some time ago I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and they gave me prompt relief."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
