MURPHY ITEMS. P. R. McFadden and "Lanky" Ainsworth are doing some work on the New Hope road this week with the grader.

The way the farmers are putting in grain the last few days is not slow, and if this continues a little longer they will soon be through. J. W. York and Henry Diess, two prosperous farmers of this vicinity, were business visitors from here to Grants Pass Saturday.

The Murphy Outlaws and the Missouri Flat Tigers crossed bats at the ball grounds on the Smith & McClood place Sunday in one of the hottest contests that this part of southern Oregon has seen for many a day. It was nobody's game up to the 13th inning, but during that inning the tie was broken and the Tigers carried off the honors of the day. Herman McFadden handled the pellet for the Tigers with the same vim that he did for the big brush last season and Joe McFadden, formerly of the Ophir, Alaska, ball team, acted the part of backstop. The McGuffin brothers, late from the east, were the battery for the Outlaws and many times during the course of the game they kept the Tigers guessing. L. W. Carson was umpire, and every one was pleased with the fearless way he handled the game, as all his decisions were fair and just and no time during the game did we hear that awful expression used, "kill the umpire!"

VANCOUVER SINGLE TAXERS ARE REJOICING. VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 25.—Vancouver single taxers this morning are jubilant over the announcement made to the legislature at Victoria yesterday by Finance Minister Ellison that the taxation of the country would as soon as possible be shifted to the natural resources, the poll tax abolished forthwith and taxation of improvements and personal property at an early date. The income tax, he intimated, would be gradually reduced until it reached the vanishing point. Vancouver, under the leadership of ex-Mayor L. D. Taylor, was the first city to adopt single tax principles and the action of the provincial government is due to recognition of the benefit of the system here.

Moline Alfalfa Renovator

MOLINE ALFALFA RENOVATOR AND SEEDER ATTACHMENT.

To keep an alfalfa field in good condition it must be cultivated at least once each season. The most successful and experienced growers cultivate after each cutting. The latter practice is growing in favor as alfalfa raisers progress in knowledge and become better acquainted with the peculiarities of the plant and the conditions and treatment that produce the best results.

Unlike many grasses the alfalfa plant has no creeping roots. It becomes thicker on the ground by increasing the size of the crown, which means to add more growing stalks or branches to the top of the plant. The crowns grow to such size that the sod becomes very compact, causing the plants to die out in spots, and permitting weeds to gain a foothold in the field. The remedy for this condition, as well as a preventive, is thorough cultivation with some tool that will split the crowns vertically. Formerly disc harrows were used for this purpose, but as alfalfa ground is frequently dry and hard the harrows lacked sufficient penetration to accomplish the desired result. To overcome this difficulty we use pointed teeth instead of discs. This arrangement is so successful that alfalfa growers adopt it upon sight. It has proven to be just the tool for the work.

THE MOLINE ALFALFA RENOVATOR

has greater penetration than any similar tool built. This penetration is secured by the peculiar slant given the teeth. By means of the center lever the gangs can be set at any desired angle. The toothed heads are provided with scrapers to prevent the accumulation of trash. The frame bars are stiff and hard. Has pipe standards that serve as oil tubes. Should it be desired to add more weight, provision has been made for carrying sacks of soil.

LARGER YIELDS ARE SECURED WHERE THIS TOOL IS USED AND SICKLY FIELDS ARE REJUVENATED AND MADE TO PRODUCE PROLIFICALLY.

Now is the time to use the renovator. Call and see this improved Machine.
