Locals

Al Breech has returned from a trip to Sacramento where he was called on business connected with the quarantine station. Mrs. Breech accompanied him.

Clyde Bowman has returned after a six weeks stay at the quarantine station near Smith river.

John Carl, who has purchased Joyland, at the state line, formerly owned by Harry Sowell, is rebuilding and remodeling the place extensively. The place will be known, hence-forward, as the State Line Rendezvous. It is now open as a soft and hard drink place by the glass or package.

Al Opple has purchased the Henry Webb place on Elk creek and is putting in extensive improvements: hotel, camp ground, cabins, store and service station.

A motorist killed a cow belonging to L. R. Webb, Sunday, and promptly paid for same. It was estimated that $50 damages was done to the car.

Robert Balzke, who operates a store, service station, cottages, cabins and camp ground, on the Illinois river, is enlarging his camp ground and redecorating his store and refreshment rooms.

Mrs. Marta Webb was the guest of Miss Grace Jarvis at Siskiyou Mountain Camp Tuesday.

Mrs. Pullen of Bridgeview was taken violently ill Saturday, May 8th, and was unconscious for a number of hours. At this writing she is slowly recovering.

Ed Wright, pastor of Bridgeview Community church plans a business trip to Grass Valley, California Monday, returning Thursday.

Dr. E. E. Brooks, dentist, left last Wednesday for Hot Lake, Oregon, near Klamath Falls, where he expects to stay for two weeks. Dr. Mosier of Grants Pass owns the Hot Lakes which are fast becoming known as one of the greatest curative powers for rheumatism in Hot Lake treatment. Dr. Brooks' office in Cave City will be closed during his absence.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Stanfield and family, who purchased the Alexander ranch last fall, arrived in Cave City early Wednesday morning and the family are now domiciled on the ranch. They came from Chelan, Washington. Their future home will be in the valley.

E. L. Mallory, editor and publisher of the Oakland, Oregon Tribune, who is now instructing the C C C boys at the Caves camp, brought several of the boys into town to see the picture show last Saturday. He was a pleasant visitor to the News office and materially assisted us in assembling some of our equipment.

Somethin' Needs Fixin' Somewheres!

This world 'd be a better place for almos' everybuddy
If women-folks would only quit a-makin' one mistake!
Now, I have give' this enterprize o' livin' lots o' study.
An' let me tell you here an' now some things give me a ache
Where apples often does the same inside a little duffer;
I mean jus' this: I don't see why a wife-an'-mother tries
To make her husban' over, cuz she thinks he's gettin' tougher.
When common-sense 'd tell her that ain't where her duty lies.

I don't know who the person was that started all the trouble.
But, anyhow, she jumped her job a durn long time ago;
An' ever since, no rooner does a gal get hitched-up double
Than she discovers lots o' things she wishes wasn't so.
She hadn't oughter blame the lad, becuz his early trainin'
Was in the hands o' someone who was bringin' up his dad:
But so it's been fer generations—every wife complainin'
Becuz she thinks she has t' save her man from goin' bad.

Now, don't y' see where this here thing has got the women hazy!
It seems t' be a problem they don't know jus' how t' fix:
But managin' a home won't never drive nobuddy crazy.
When they finds out that ol' dogs ain't so good at learnin' tricks!
Some day a mother will forget about her husban's badness,
An' try t' civilize her boys buffere they all grows up;
Then, after while, a crop o' dads 'll find some peace an' gladness—
Cuz wives 'll know it's easier t' educate a pup!
