AN AWAKENING

Illinois Valley, (Lest you forget, the Richest Valley in the World) is about to become the leading mining center of the state of Oregon. This is a lot of territory, but at the same time, it is also a lot of truth.

Movements (that we are not yet permitted to publish), are on foot which will make this section of the state a great mining center, for there is no one who will say the minerals are NOT here—Contrary all admit the minerals ARE here, but the lack of transportation and facilities for mining on a basis that will pay, are as yet indefinite, but the immediate future is going to correct all this, and facilities little dreamed of will be available for the miners of this section, and development of many mining properties can then be made on a profitable basis.

We do not want a boom in this section, we just want a steady, natural growth that the country deserves, but we cannot help those who get too enthusiastic and spread news of mining that seems a little far-fetched, and these stories spread and are multiplied upon and by the time someone gets the news in Washington or Idaho, it takes on the form of a mining boom, and the rush is on.

Illinois Valley is awakening and the mining development is on in real earnest and this newspaper is proud of the fact that it has had some part in helping the development along. We shall continue to fight for this section until it becomes in reality, "The Richest Valley in the World."

The successful man is just the common fellow who does the common things uncommon well.
—Dilworth Choate.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT

Last Monday evening a few citizens met in the Cave City theater and started the organization of a volunteer fire department for Cave City and surrounding territory. A grand move and a worthy one. Citizens generally will respond with help to the best of their ability and in a few months we hope to have one of the best volunteer departments in Southern Oregon.

Several interested men came to the meeting from adjoining cities and offered good advice and felt a real interest in the forming of the new department. This fine cooperation coming from those not interested in the immediate vicinity, was an inspiration to the rest of those present and was the means of getting action started, with the result that a temporary organization was formed and officers elected to start the department.

Whatever success the volunteer fire department will have will be determined by the support given it by the local citizens. Your attitude and cooperation will spell success or failure of this most worthy cause. What is your answer going to be?

Any fool can learn from his own experience, but it takes a wise man to learn from the experience of others.—Selected.

SCANDAL MONGERS

Often, as we go through life, we hear both good and bad about our fellow man.

There is one organization, a fraternal one, that write the faults of their brothers on the sands that the tides may wash them away.

This is a beautiful thought and one that we all should carry with us. But it seems that there are those of us who would rather say something detrimental about our neighbor and whisper little insinuations against them than to stick to the truth, or say something good.

None of us are above attack from someone who does not like us. To build a community that will endure, the workers must have the confidence and support of all good citizens. If one believes all we hear about a person without looking into the facts of the case we may soon see our civilization faltering.

There always have been and there always will be those "calamity howlers" who are continually trying to tear ones character to pieces. They do their dirty work in the dark because the light of truth would show them to be exactly what they are.

Let us remember this, and when we hear someone tearing down another's character, let us forget it and take all men as we find them. Believe only the good and as for the faults—let us write them on the sands that the tides may wash them all away.

The trouble with champagne is that it makes you see double but feels single.

FILING ON CLAIMS

It has come to our notice that many miners in this district file on mining claims and do not go to the county court house and have them recorded. In some cases this has worked a hardship on the miners who have had their claims jumped or their stakes torn down and others put up in their places.

It is important that when you take up a claim to have it recorded at the earliest possible moment, then you are protected and if your stakes are torn down, you have a fast and sure remedy to see that your interests are protected. Record your claims and save yourself a lot of worry and possible damage if you try to protect your interests without recording.

All services were well attended last Sunday and the interest and attention were extra good. The impromptu Father's Day program preceding the evening sermon went over big. That organ and guitar number was really musical.

Sister Opal Varner played her own guitar accompaniment and sang a "Tribute to Dad." The fact that her father, Rev. Haines was in the audience and is soon to leave for California, was a good and sufficient reason for the impressive emotional feeling manifested during the songs.

Mrs. Fattig was a welcome visitor Sunday night. Sorry she had to leave so early, but come again.

COMING EVENTS

Beginning Sunday, June 27, a series of sermons on "The Second Coming of Christ," by the pastor, will be interesting to the Bible student and helpful to all.

Our Sunday School picnic which was postponed on account of rain, is being looked forward to with great interest by us all. Will announce date and location later in this paper.
