

Old Home Church Day For Nation

The following editorial appeared in a recent issue of the Sunday Journal, Portland and as it concerns a resident of the Illinois Valley we are indeed glad to give this splendid thought further publicity. Following is the editorial:

OLD HOME CHURCH DAY FOR NATION HIS SUGGESTION

"Would you like once more to attend the old home church?"

If you could look back through pages of The Journal for more than six years you would find the question printed in the issue of June 21, 1931.

And you would find the question based upon a card urging return to the old home church, that was zealously being circulated throughout the United States.

The man who made the suggestion is the Rev. William A. Brown. After the editorial appeared he scattered reprints of it the length and breadth of the country.

Then he went to picturesque Buenos Aires, a great city and port of Argentina, in South America. He was a pastor-missionary there. He has returned, not only to the United States but to Oregon. He has established what he calls "The Friendly Mission" in the valley of the Illinois river, under the shadow of the Siskiyou mountains, in Southern Oregon.

And he repeats the proposal of the years ago. Return to the old home church. Return to the old-fashioned religion. Return to the old-fashioned home. He would like to have an Old Home Church day set for national observance with the same emphasis and wide appreciation as Mother's day and Thanksgiving. He thinks there should be special railroad and bus rates, made so low that impulse will not be obstructed by a financial barrier. He even thinks that in this modern day it would be logical for the airplane companies to make very low rates, too.

There is beauty of sentiment in Mr. Brown's suggestion. A question asked in the editorial of 1931 was, "Do you think the old home church will ever let you go?" A final sentence was, "What if its walls have fallen beneath the weight of years? That for which it so long and bravely stood still stands, and always will."

And, if anything, there is a higher life in the concept of the faith the old home church represented. Someone said the other day that Christianity, as now interpreted, could not be represented by a single man. It requires two men, at least, in mutual helpfulness and service. There are new answers to the question, "Am I my brother's keeper?" These answers include the fulfillment, in other lives, of hope, of happiness and security. They include the sharing among many of the services of science and invention, of the opportunities of work and accomplishment, and of good faith in human affairs as well as faith in Deity. Get back to the old home church, and find that it points the way onward, and on and on.

Chamber Meeting

All questions of debate shall be in accordance with Roberts Rules of Order. The president may, however, at any time, by a majority vote of those in attendance at any meeting, limit debate to any specified time.

Additional Clause—

Activities of the Chamber shall work for the advancement and development of all communities, viz: Holland, O'Brien, Kerby, Selma, etc.

Questions of development of each district, should have committees from the district concerned and then brought to the entire membership for ratification and discussion.

It was moved and carried that the new by-laws come up for passage at the next meeting, Tuesday, December 14th, also that the News be made the official medium to call for this meeting to save expenses at this time. In another column is the call.

G. A. Peterson was called on for a few words, but he said the matter he was asked to talk about was a personal one, and he did not care to discuss it. Mr. Peterson was too modest to tell of the good work he is doing in the valley, but many know of his valuable services.

J. R. Elder secretary of the Western Miners' association, was called on and while the hour was late, he had a real message and held the members for a few minutes while he explained some of the important matters coming up that concerns the miners of this district. Space prevents us from elaborating on all the points he brought out, but in a future issue the News will take all of them up and give them wide publicity.

He asked that this section from a miners organization and would be glad to have them affiliate with the Western Miners' association. He also spoke of the new publication that the association is sponsoring, "The Western Miner," and said that $2.00 would pay for a year's dues and a year's subscription to the paper.

Mrs. Bert Badden warmly thanked the Chamber for their
