WEST IS FASTEST GROWING MARKET

Back in San Francisco after a three weeks tour of the United States in the interests of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, F. M. Sandusky, director of exhibits, is enthusiastic over prospects for success of this fair. "Wherever I went in the east I found business men's eyes turned toward the Pacific Coast," said Sandusky, "and almost all intend to be represented with exhibits at the West's 1939 Exposition."

"The western territory, I was told, is the nation's fastest growing market," he said, "and every industry, business or enterprise with expansion in view thinks first of the territory west of the Rockies. The 1939 World's Fair of the west, therefore, is the focal point of this interest and serves to dramatize, at a minimum of expense, the richness of this western market and its demand for merchandise offered by concerns with national distributing systems."
