

Constitution Day Message

The nation pauses to observe Constitution day September 17, symbolized by Howard Chandler Christy's famous painting reproduced above. The painting shows George Washington addressing the Constitutional convention in Philadelphia, while at the top are figures symbolizing phrases of the preamble to the Constitution and elements in the 151 years of progress under that document.

One of the most valuable traffic signals from the standpoint of the highway engineer is the flashing beacon, whether it be red or amber. The value of this signal, however, rests entirely upon the degree of observance which motorists accord it.

The two chief reasons for its importance are its high visibility due to its bright intermittent flashes, and the fact that it causes only momentary stopping at intersections where traffic is too light to warrant a periodic signal.

While some drivers treat the red and amber beacons as though they carried the same message, this is not the case. The amber beacon says, in effect, "Dangerous intersection—be on guard." Motorists should approach each intersection slowly, and proceed through them with caution.

The red beacon, however, says, "Dangerous intersection—STOP before crossing." These beacons normally are placed so as to protect streams of fast traffic from sidetrack interruptions, and drivers who enter such a street without first stopping endanger both themselves and motorists on the through street.

Installation of flashing red beacons at several intersections on Portland's east side cut accidents at those intersections nearly 75 per cent within three months after their placement, thus proving their merit when scientifically located and properly observed.

SPRAY FOR FRUIT TREES REMEDY

From O. K. Beals, County Agricultural Agent

Peach Leaf Curl and Peach Twig Blight have been widespread in Josephine county this season. In order to prevent the recurrence of this trouble next year, growers should plan to spray once or twice this fall. The first spray should go on before a general rain and is for the control of Peach Twig Blight. This spray, Bordeaux 4-4-50, will also help control the Leaf Curl. Another spray, Bordeaux 6-6-50, for Curl, should go on in November, after the leaves fall. If only one spray is to be applied, the November spray should be the one.

Homemade Bordeaux mixture, properly prepared, is superior to any commercial blend according to H. H. Robinson, chemist, Oregon State college. For convenience, it is best to make up one stock solution of copper sulphate (bluestone) and one stock solution of milk of lime. A convenient method is to use one pound of bluestone to each gallon of water. The lime solution may be made by adding one pound of quicklime to each gallon of water after the quicklime is properly slacked, or one and one-third pounds of hydrated lime per gallon of water may be substituted for the quicklime.

Copper sulphate solution can best be made by placing the bluestone in suspension in a bag under the surface of the water. If hydrated lime is used it should be tested to see that it has not reverted back to the carbonate. A simple test would be to add a small quantity of dilute muriatic acid to the lime in a test tube. If no action takes place the hydrated lime is satisfactory to use.

To prepare 50 gallons of the 4-4-50 formula, proceed as follows: Add to the spray tank about 25 gallons of water and start the agitator. Stir up the two stock solutions, which have been prepared at least twelve hours previously, and add four gallons of each solution simultaneously to a stream of water which flows into the spray tank. As the last portion of the two stock solutions is being poured into the intake water, the last of the water should have been added. For mixing 25 gallons of spray material, use two gallons of each of the two stock solutions. Smaller quantities may be made up by using the same method.

The two stock solutions should not be mixed together in a concentrated form, but diluted with water as they are being added to a third container. Wooden barrels should be used in making as the copper sulphate will corrode metal. The Bordeaux mixture should be used immediately after preparation. If it is not to be used the day it is mixed, one-eighth of an ounce of sugar should be added for each pound of copper sulphate. However, the two stock solutions may be kept indefinitely.

Bulletins further explaining the mixing and use of Bordeaux spray may be obtained at the County Agricultural Agent's office. The office will also test for the growers any hydrated lime which they wish to use in making Bordeaux.

Cave Junction Second in Registering Cars

While Cave Junction fell down a little for the month of August and had to take third place for that month, we are still the second registering bureau in the state for the period from January 1, to August 31, this year.

Following is the table of the leading bureaus:

	Aug.	8 Mo.
Ashland	4,158	23,148
Cave Junction	2,994	10,717
Brookings	3,092	10,009
Grants Pass	2,044	8,655
Klamath Falls	1,149	5,950

The above table shows that more traffic was going up the coast than came over the Redwood highway, but it must be remembered that many cars go through Cave Junction and register at Grants Pass.

Psyche

Up in one of the little New England seaports lay the good yacht Psyche. It had come from one of the southern yacht clubs and was laying in for supplies. One of the older natives of the region, who was long on spelling, though short on mythology, was seen to return time after time to study the craft, and was also observed to shake his head. Finally he could bear it no longer; he swung on a bystander and in a disgusted voice said, "What a funny way to spell fish." —Cornell Daily Sun.
