THE PASSING PARADE

The parade has passed by and all that is left is the remembrance of what it might have been IF—

The national election was a good parade. Our national parade, where all citizens are equal, and one has the same right as another, when they cast their ballot for those whom they wish to guide us through the coming years.

Before the parade passed by, there was much loud talking, as there always is in a presidential election year. Some of the loud talking was good and some was bad. Some said the nation would go to the bowwows if their candidate was not elected. This reminds us of a story we heard recently and it is quite appropo for the occasion.

An old miner had been up in the mountains for 20 years. He voted for the presidential election then hibernated into the mountains and just recently came out to vote again for a presidential election. He made the remark when registering, that he helped elect "So-and-So" 20 years ago. He was informed that "So-and-So" was not elected. The old miner was disgusted and remarked, He wasn't? Why those god-darned folks told me that the Country would go 'to the dogs' if he wasn't elected, and I voted for him."

All the bitterness of the election has already passed, and the losers have congratulated the winners like good sportsmen and everything is "hunky-dory" and we start no wto pick up the threads from where we left off and begin to put our house in order for the future.

It's not a bright future, right now. What with half the world throwing lead at each other and most of that half glaring at us with snarling glances of envy and hate, and many times forgetting their good manners by telling us that we are skating on mighty thin ice. It is not at all a bright picture.

Uncle Sam has a lot of patience and can take considerable abuse with a pleasant smile. But Uncle is quite human and when his pet corn gets stepped on enough, he's going to let loose a sock in the jaw that will completely floor the intruder and that's all there will be to that.

The Passing Parade took our minds off our pet corns for the time being. But the parade is over, and the streets of thought have all been cleared up and nothing remains but harmony with a sincere desire to be of service to those who have been chosen to lead us through the future.

So with anticipation we look forward to the future. We believe it's going to be a great future for America, even if it isn't so bright now, for the Passing Parade left no callouses, and the corns are being pared ready for action.

It has come to our notice that several chicken houses have been raided lately. A shot gun loaded with little stingeres is a powerful good tonic.

CHURCHES

Next Sunday, November 10th, there will be no evening service at the Bridgeview Community church, so that the members may attend the preaching service conducted by Rev. Eldon Johnson at the Cave Junction Community church. Other services as usual to which you are cordially invited. Leonard Beard, Elder.

Bible Study To Meet Again Next Sunday

The Bible Study club of Kerby reports a very successful meeting last Sunday afternoon. The attendance was greater than anticipated, with Kerby, Cave Junction, Holland, Selma and Grants Pass being represented. The most interesting feature of the meeting was an address by Rev. Father Feinler of St. Anne Parish, Grants Pass.

Father Feinler has promised to be present at the next meeting and expressed the hope that those in attendance will feel free to submit any questions concerning the Bible or teaching of the church, which they wish explained.

The members enthusiastically voted to meet again next Sunday, November 10th, at 3 p. m., at the Community church and invite all who are interested in Bible study.

COMMUNITY CHURCH

Next Sunday, November 10 at 8 p. m. at the Cave Junction Community church special music and message with illustrated lecture on Bolivia will be given by Eldon and Opal Johnson, Missionaries to Bolivia, under auspices of the Bolivian Indian Mission. Hear about the people of Bolivia, their customs, their religion and the Gospel work carried on among them. Everybody welcome.

WPA PROJECT

would volunteer one days work, this will be sufficient interest to show the department that we want the job finished and they will do it, but unless we show them that we want it done with this amount of work, it is not likely that it will be completed.

The State Highway commission will furnish enough concrete pipe for the main street and this work can be finished in jig time if we show that we want it done.

Will 25 men donate a days work on this project? If you will come to the News office and let us know and we can take it up with the engineers they will come out and show us what to do. The News will supply two men. Come on boys, let us have this labor finish this project before the west side highway gets started. Don't lose any time. Do it now.

"Triple Justice" Western Drama, Wed. and Thurs.

George O'Brien, for fifteen years a star in outdoor films, keeps his hold on the theater-going public because he never lets down in the quality of his performance, or tries to coast along on past successes.

As a small boy in San Francisco, his home town, George was noted for his enthusiasm about new games, toys and playmates. He enjoyed new trips or experiences with his father who for years was Chief of Police of the Bay City.

As a young man in the United States Navy during the World war, his yearning for physical exertion made him heavy-weight champion of the Pacific fleet. On his home ranch in the Malibu Mountains forty miles from Hollywood he works like a hired hand between pictures, cutting hay, training horses, stringing fence and riding many miles daily.

"King of the Royal Mounted"

The dying Major King heroically saves his son from death in Episode Four of Republic's latest serial, "King of the Royal Mounted," which will be shown at the Cave City Theater on Wednesday and Thursday.

In Chapter Four, titled, "Devil Doctor," King discovers that a sanitarium operating in the environs of the Compound X mine is actually a base for gaining possession of the valuable mineral. Fighting this plot, tooth and nail, he comes dangerously close to extinction at the close of the episode, when he is knocked cold and left in a careening launch, apparently about to crash into a dam.
