WAR TURNS FANS TO LIGHTER FORMS OF ENTERTAINMENT

Box-offices throughout the country have been paying lately in theaters showing the lighter forms of entertainment. This holds true with the legitimate stage as it does with the nation's movie palaces.

With newspaper headlines and air commentators screaming the alarming conditions abroad and the undercurrent of Fifth Column activities here reaching the tidal wave proportions, it is little wonder that entertainment seekers are "shopping" for their theater fare.

Recognizing this fact, Paramount pictures followed through with a new comedy with music. This is not to be mistaken as a musical comedy. There is a vast difference, namely, that more attention is given to plot and story, with just enough music to lift audiences out of the doldrums. The picture referred to is Bing Crosby's "Rhythm on the River," which tells the story of a small town composer who goes to the big city and becomes a "ghost writer" for a prominent song writer who has lost his knack. And there he meets the girl, and they collaborate. He doing the melody and she the lyrics. They become a pair of "ghosts" until they branch out for themselves, a situation leading up to many hilarious moments, and to a climax that definitely puts "Rhythm on the River" in the class of entertainment Mr. and Mrs. Public are clamoring for today.

Bing is starring with Mary Martin, Broadway musical comedy star; Basil Rathbone, and Oscar Levant, periodic expert of radio's "Information Please" program, in the leading roles. "Rhythm on the River" comes to the Cave City
