TAKILMA NATIONAL DEFENSE SOCIETY

The Takilma National Defense society met at the old Waldo school house last Thursday. The first part of the afternoon was spent in cleaning and discussing plans for improving the building to make it more suitable for a Red Cross casualty station. The meeting then removed to the home of Mrs. Morrison where a discussion was held on food conservation, production, etc. Red Cross knitting, although still in progress, will have to be restricted to spare moments because of the more active projects under way at present.

Those present were: Mrs. C. C. Babcock, Mrs. A. O. Hungerford, Mrs. Cecil Owens, Mrs. Mary White, Mrs. C. R. Stout and Mrs. Irene Morrison.

NOTICE TO OWNERS OF LIVESTOCK

The precincts of Althouse and Kerby and the new Cave Junction are closed to grazing by the vote of the people of these precincts, and a fine of $10 to $100 may be levied on all trespassers of livestock taken up in these precincts and also damages done by said livestock assessed to owners of the same.

There is also a state law that can double the fine if owners of livestock turn out their stock in a closed district.

Please be good citizens and obey the law and avoid trouble.

It is too bad to close these areas where there is lots of grass goes to waste and dries up and is a cause of serious fire hazard but the will of the majority have to be obeyed and we should be good sports about it.

The law says also that you cannot herd stock on another's property without the owner's permission and that should be in writing to protect the herder.

H. S. WATTS,
By direction.

H. E. U. HEAR GOOD TALKS BY LEADERS

The Illinois Valley Home Extension Unit held a very interesting meeting Tuesday April 14th at the home of Mrs. R. S. Leonard near Holland. The meeting was called to order by Chairman Lena Payne.

The lesson on planning your family's food supply and foods to keep you fit was then given by project leader, Ruth Wendt and Lena Payne.

A delicious luncheon was served at noon. Meeting was then called to order about 1:30 at which time Mrs. Effie Smith gave a very fine talk on Victory Gardens that was instructive.

Another very interesting lesson given by project leaders, Blanche Robinson and Ada Jones on "Color, Clothes and You" was thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

The report of the nominating committee was given by Jessie Leonard resulting in the following being fully elected officers for the coming year: President, Mrs. Ruth Wendt; vice president, Mrs. Hazel Halm; secretary, Mrs. Margaret Monroe; treasurer, Mrs. Lillian Murdock.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ferd W. Jones in Kerby at which time the newly elected officers will be installed. Also at this meeting on May 12th, the 4-H club girls under the leadership of Mrs. Jones will have their work on display.
