TOO "AMOROUS"

In a poker game once upon a time, there was a young enthusiastic gent who thought he was quite some fellow. In the game also was an old timer who had had his eye teeth cut long ago in poker games.

There came a deal when the youth found himself with a full house, and he started raising the pot until he had his entire pile in the middle of the table. The old timer made the last call, and when the betting stopped, the youth spread his cards on the table and reached for the pot. The old timer stopped him and said, "Don't get too amorous, son, here's four deuces."

The above illustration might serve as a criterion for our actions in war activities. Now that our forces are in the thick of the battle and they are making history as well as success—it is no time for us to get "Too Amorous" and think we have won the war.

Some people think the war will be over this year. Some say it will take seven more years. Regardless of the time it takes, we know that we will eventually win. But—we have not yet won the "pot" with a full house. There are still a few "Duces" in the pack. Before this is over we will lay down a royal flush, which no one can beat, but the deal isn't over and until it comes, let's be patient and play the game to the best of our ability. And by all means, let's keep our feet under the table on solid "concrete" and don't let's get "too amorous."

EMERGENCY TELEPHONE CALLS

It has come to our attention that customers on the telephone lines, both the valley and the bell lines, will not get off the line when an emergency call is being placed.

One case was cited recently. There was a residence on fire and when a caller on the local phone line called "emergency, please let me have the line," someone just stayed on and refused to hang up. The result was the house burned down because the person trying to call for help could not use the phone as long as the other party stayed on the line.

The same thing could happen if Jap planes flew over the valley and an observer was trying to get a call through and someone would refuse to hang up. This is a very serious matter and users of the telephone lines should recognize the word "emergency" and immediately hang up. Don't try to "rubberneck" on the line and find out what the emergency is, because you stop the call from going through.

Suppose you were talking on the phone to someone else, and another party comes in and says "emergency, please clear the line." It is your patriotic duty to immediately hang up and let the emergency call go through. Not only a patriotic duty, it may save a life.

When the word "emergency" comes over the telephone line—hang up and let the emergency call go through. If you stay on the line and try to find out what the emergency is, you jeopardize the call going through.

We have had several requests for the following piece of poetry, so here it is:

HITLER PHONES THE DEVIL

Hitler called the Devil on the phone the other day, The girl at Central listened to all they had to say.

"Hello", was Hitler speaking, "is old man Satan at home?" "Just tell him its the dictator, who wants him on the phone."

The Devil said, "Howdy, Adolf." And Hitler said, "How are you?" "I'm running your hell on earth, so tell me what to do."

"What can I do," the Devil said, dear old pal of mine? You don't need any help from me, you're doing mighty fine."

"Yes, I was doing fairly well, until some time ago. When a man called Uncle Sam told me to go slow."

He said to me, "Dear Hitler, we don't want to be unkind,

But you've raised hell enough, so you'd better change your mind."

"I thought his lease-lend was bluff, He'd never get it through. But soon he put me on the spot, when he told me what to do."

Satan said, "Dear partner, there's not much left to tell, For Uncle Sam will make it hotter than I can here in hell."

"I have been a real old devil, but not half as mean as you, So the minute you get down here, the job is yours to do."

I'll be ready for your coming and I'll keep the fires bright. I'll get your room all ready, as soon as Sam begins to fight."

For I know your days are numbered and there's not much left to tell, Hang up your phone, put on your hat and come on down to hell."
