RATIONING LISTED ON 12 FARM ITEMS

When the 1945 farm machinery rationing program went into effect on July 20 a dozen items went off the rationing list of farm equipment — corn and cotton planters, row-type sprayers, potato graders, stationary balers, field ensilage harvesters, portable elevators, grain and forage blowers, milking machines, field hay choppers and harvesters, windmills, listers with planting attachments. Farmers no longer need to secure purchase certificates for these machines from the County Farm Machinery Rationing Committee, according to word received by Jens F. Svinth, county agent.

This reduction from 31 to 19 of the types of farm implements rationed was possible due to overall farm machinery production at 1940 levels, a better-than-average year, and the fact that most of the needed war food production shifts have been made.

Purchase certificates will be required in 1945 on all 19 of the rationed items, but there will be no county quotas on grain drills, potato planters, potato diggers, silo fillers, irrigation pumps, power sprayers, garden tractors, deep and shallow well water systems, power pumps, and farm milk coolers.

County quotas will be established on combines, corn binders, corn pickers, manure spreaders, mowers, side delivery rakes, hay loaders, pick-up balers, and tractors. With the exception of power sprayers, garden tractors, deep and shallow well water systems, power pumps and farm milk coolers, manufacturers will distribute only 80 per cent of their authorized production with WFA directing distribution of the 20 per cent reserve on the other 14 rationed items to take care of area needs that may develop. The entire distribution of the five items listed as exceptions will be by manufacturers.

Reasons why all farm equipment could not be removed from the ration list are because demands resulting from increased acreages of war crops and farm labor losses still far exceed the available supply, and production, although above pre-war rates for many of the rationed items, is still limited by military needs for engines, malleable castings, bearings, and other components.
