USE OF "F" TRUCK TO HELP NEIGHBOR APPROVED BY LAW

The extent to which farmers owning trucks of "F" plate registry are authorized to do hauling for their neighbors is explained in the recent bulletin on farm transportation facts issued by the O. S. C. Extension service as a leader's handbook. Paul Carpenter, author of the bulletin and leader of the Extension service farm transportation project, obtained legal opinions on this subject, which include the following essential facts:

(1) An "F" plate truck owner, in addition to hauling his own produce and supplies to and from his farm, may "infrequently and for a nominal consideration haul such crops and livestock produced and supplies consumed and used by other farmers in his immediate neighborhood.

The term "infrequently" is defined as meaning any number of trips not exceeding 20 in any one month and not exceeding 40 trips in any one year. The "immediate neighborhood" is subject to common-sense interpretation and varies widely in different parts of the state.

(2) For a nominal consideration but without limitation as to frequency he may haul to any market the agricultural commodities produced by neighbors and may deliver farm supplies to them, provided such neighbors are within a radius of five miles of the farmer furnishing the hauling service if the operation is west of the Cascade mountains, or within a radius of 10 miles if east of the mountains.

"Nominal consideration" is defined as any charge mutually agreeable. To an increasing extent farmers hauling for other farmers are charging the published rates permitted common and anywhere-for-hire carriers, says Carpenter. No restrictions as to distance, frequency or consideration apply when an "F" plate operator hauls farm products from a farm adjoining his own.

"Operating privileges for 'F' plate holders are more liberal than generally appreciated," says Carpenter. "Most violations arise from unsafe equipment on the highways and from hauling non-agricultural products or supplies."

One of the reasons for putting ceiling prices on used cars, the Office of Price Administration says, was to make these automobiles available at reasonable prices to honorably discharged servicemen, many of whom sold their cars at sacrifice prices when they entered the service.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Good morning, Doc. Your good wife tells me you're working night and day now that so many of the younger doctors are in the army."
"That's right, Judge, and I'm glad I'm still able to do it. Had a long letter from Harry... that bright young fellow I was breakin' in to take over my practice. He said the boys in the service are getting the best medical care of any armed force in our history. They really should with all those brilliant doctors and plenty of supplies to work with."
"Speaking of supplies, Doc, not many people realize that a large part of the alcohol required to make the medical supplies that are being used right this minute to alleviate pain, combat infection and save human lives, is produced by the beverage distilling industry. For nearly two years this entire industry has been working night and day producing nothing but alcohol for the government's program."

"Nobody knows better than I, Judge, what an important contribution to our war effort that has been."
