FEW MINERS

It required two ballots to elect the member, the chairman ruled that a majority of votes would be necessary to elect. There were 14 voting. The first ballot showed: Linkhart 6, Athey 6, Webb 2. No one having a majority a second ballot was prepared and this result showed, Linkhart 5, Athey 8, Webb 1. The chair declared Athey elected, having a majority of the votes cast.

Lester Child was called on for a talk, and he gave those present a picture of mining in this section that surprised his listeners. Mr. Child said that a survey made showed there was enough iron material in Oregon to supply the whole country. Mr. Child is a geologist, and he knows what he is talking about. He made a stirring appeal for the miners to support the Siskiyou Minerals Association, stating that with the cooperation of the little fellows banded together, the powers that be must listen. He said that we would continue to be shoved around until we got together and stopped being pushed about.

President Walker also called on Floyd Dover, Democratic nominee for United States senator; Judge

W. A. Johnson, Republican nominee for county judge; Richard McElligott, Democratic nominee for county commissioner, for short talks. Walker said he did not want this to be a political meeting and he called on both Democrats and Republicans alike for talks.

At 9:30 the meeting broke up so the dance could get under way. The association will publicize its next meeting and will invite all the miners to attend.
