YOUTH FAIR

One of the really worth-while activities for the youth of the county is the Youth Fair to be held this week end at the Fair Grounds in Grants Pass. The youth of today are the elders of tomorrow, and they are the gold medal crop of the nation, and the ones who should have every advantage possible in our power to give.

Those who belong to a 4-H club or the Future Farmers, are the agriculture minded youngsters, and if they follow through, they will be the leading farmers of tomorrow.

Parents should take their youngsters to the Youth Fair this week and encourage them to take an interest in some of the Fair's activities. The Youth Fair is where we pay tribute to their handicraft, and this tribute should be in such terms and interest to keep them buoyed up and help them to continue in the good old earth's productivity.

THE RABBLE

This writer was once told by an eminent (?) gentleman of the state, that the common people (the rabble) of the nation and state, had no business knowing the secrets of success or the power of suggested thought or the knowledge that God gave every living human—he forgot we were all given the same amount of intelligence at birth—it was up to us to discover for ourselves how much we could accumulate or understand.

Students of the Good Book tell us we are all equal in the eyes of the Ever Living God. He did not make the strong stronger or the weak weaker. We, ourselves made us what we are. Parents strong in intelligence raised intellectual children, other parents just let their kids grow like Topsy, yet some of the children who just grew up without that background of good parents, have made our most outstanding citizens. It was up to them what they made of themselves.

The common people, to the thinking of the selfish enlightened who have more than their share of this world's goods, should not possess the knowledge that they, too, can have their just share if they have the intelligence and belief that is necessary to get what they want.

The "rabble" must be kept down. What an erroneous opinion. The "rabble" is the background of the nation. The "rabble" is what makes the wheels go round—Yet in the opinion of some of the so-called aristocrats, we are supposed to be kept in our places and know nothing of success or the reward of hard work.

The "rabble" is what is fighting for the rights of the American citizen. They are giving their all that the ultra-have-it-alls can still revel in luxury and usurp that superior intelligence and look down on the common herd that gives them all they have.

In the words of one of our great western dramas, when one of the common herd wanted to tell his girl he wanted to marry her, he could only blurt out "Damn my soul to hell Lena, I love you." With equal vehemence we want to tell the ultra-have-it-alls who are trying to keep their heels on our necks:

Damn my soul to hell, the common people are still the kings. The "rabble" to you, are still your superiors. What would you be without them?

Selma Couple Observe Golden Wedding

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Frost in Selma recently about 50 relatives and friends gathered to help celebrate the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sargent with a bounteous dinner served at long tables set out-of-doors. Coming for this occasion were their three sons, Henry Sargent, of Rochester, Wash., Lloyd Sargent and Oliver Sargent of Grants Pass, their daughter, Mrs. Frost at whose home the party was given, 12 grandchildren and five great grandchildren. A large wedding cake was presented to them with inscription "Golden Wedding Anniversary." They also received many lovely gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Sargent were married in Selma, August 26, 1894 and have lived there ever since. Mr. Sargent has been interested in sawmills for a good many years but is now retired.

Waldo Motel Again Changes Ownership

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Holt, who purchased the Waldo Motel at O'Brien about six months ago, have sold their interest in the motel to Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Marlett, new arrivals from California. The new owners are now in possession of the property. Mr. Holt had to make a change due to ill health.

Mr. Marlett has started making alterations in the store building and will have a much larger space for his stock of groceries he plans to carry for the convenience of the residents in that territory.
