COURT HOUSE ROBBER CONFESSES AND GETS 2 YEARS

Judge James Crawford sentenced Arthur Gerecke, 27 charged with the 1942 robbery at the courthouse, to two years in the state penitentiary last Monday for larceny in a building, at a trial which took only a few minutes.

Gerecke entered a plea of guilty and said he did not desire an attorney, wished to plead guilty, and then proceeded to explain to the court the circumstances of his theft.

He said that he had been in the office of the county judge on the afternoon of September 14 asking for assistance from the Red Cross, as he and his wife were destitute at the time and were hungry. As he sat in the office he saw the judge's secretary place a considerable amount of money in a desk drawer.

Gerecke said he came back that evening, gained entrance through a window, pried open the drawer of the desk, took the money and later tore up the checks. Judge Crawford took his past into account, and sentenced him to two years.

The district attorney said he wanted to compliment the county officers and particularly Grover Mull for the competent, painstaking work done on the case over a period of many months.

Mrs. Alice Smith, Red Cross secretary, who had helped Gerecke on the day of the robbery, recognized him at Williams and told the sheriff's office and the arrest followed.

This clears up the courthouse robbery which has been a bone of contention ever since it happened.

YES, we know there's a war going on!

—but here's how we're trying to overcome the difficulties of wartime travel

Our trains are longer and schedules are slower now. Space is hard to get. People frequently have to stand in line to buy tickets or to get into the dining car. In short, our service isn't what it was before the war.

The main reason is, of course, that our volume of passenger traffic is five times that of 1940, with just about the same number of cars we had then. And, like everybody else, we are short of help.

However, this company is determined not to just give up and blame everything on the war. Wherever possible we have taken aggressive steps to lessen the difficulties of wartime travel. For example:

1 Our "train assignment plan" for coach passengers has to a large extent eliminated overcrowding and standing on our long-distance trains. We endeavor to sell only as many seats as are on the train, and each passenger gets a reservation slip.

2 "Passenger aides," capable trained women, have been stationed on long-distance S. P. coach trains. They assist women traveling with children, help prepare "formulas" for the babies, aid the aged and infirm, and perform other services to make the journey as comfortable as possible for everyone.

3 In spite of the shortage of help, we have greatly expanded telephone reservation bureaus, increased our forces handling reservations, and devised new reservation systems, which are constantly reviewed. The situation is not perfect, but it is much better than it was.

4 We have increased the number of chair car porters, so that cars are now generally kept quite clean, a difficult problem because of the litter from box lunches, etc. Big trash boxes in the vestibules have helped, too.

5 "Train service agents" have been added to the staffs of long-distance coach trains. These men supervise all service features on the train, direct the chair car porters, see to it that the trains are kept tidy, try to overcome difficulties and meet emergencies.

We don't claim that all our people are perfect. They're human beings, and are under the strain of crowded war conditions. By and large we think they're doing a swell job and we're proud of them.
