THE CITY ELECTION

The question of incorporating Cave Junction and calling it Cave City, will be on the ballot next Monday when 180 residents of the proposed districts are eligible to go to the polls and vote.

This newspaper wants Cave Junction to go ahead and prosper, but we are not in accord with the idea of incorporating the city at the present time. The valuation of the property affected is not large enough to incorporate with any degree of certainty that we will be able to get the needed improvements we want with the amount of money that will be available thru taxation.

If a city council would start improvements needed at once and make a direct assessment against the property affected, it would make a decided hardship on property, and we certainly would be opposed to that method.

There is no necessity to "jump the gun," at this time. There is plenty of time to incorporate when we are ready for such a move, but in our opinion, that time has not arrived.

HIGH SCHOOL THESPIANS IN "HILARITY HOUSE"

Last Friday night, March 15, the Senior Class of the Kerby High School presented "Hilarity House," a three-act comedy by Jay Tobias, at the high school auditorium.

A riot of laughter from start to finish, the comedy was ably directed by D. T. Rieger of the school faculty. The story dealt with two ultra-modern teen-age girls, their mother, boy friends and an ultra-old-fashioned uncle with handlebars, and an ultra-hypochondriac coon.

The cook, Lucinda Peck from Cave Junction, was portrayed by Louise Breazeale, who drew laughter from the capacity audience every time she opened her mouth to speak. The Jordan sisters, Kathi and Betts, were played by Dolores Lockhart and Mary Lou Hill. Mrs. Jordan, beset on one side by her daughters and the other by the uncle, was ably done by Bessie Miller. The uncle, the gun totin' old vinegaroon from Idaho, was depicted by Clement Arnold and a big mustache. A highlight of the farce came when Bud Proctor and Dick Payne, as the heart throbs of the girls, appeared dressed as girls to deceive the uncle. Otis Hussey played Stan Lewler, the fortune hunting wolf running in and out of Kathi's life as her finances fluctuated. Carmelita Krauss played Dora Devine, a gun-moll after Uncle Jeff's fifty thousand dollars, and her juvenile delinquent son, Dixie was portrayed by Jack Owen.

Food Saving For Famine Aid To Be Sought In Oregon

Oregon citizens will be asked to eat less of some foods, prevent waste and endure a few shortages to make more wheat and food fats and oils available to save lives in famine ridden countries.

The voluntary support of every man, woman and child in the state will be sought in a comprehensive food conservation program being initiated by county USDA councils, E. Harvey Miller, state director of the USDA Production and Marketing administration and chairman of the Oregon USDA council, has announced. Miller and county AAA committee chairmen have been named by Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson as state and county emergency food program managers.

Voluntary food-for-famine relief committees, made up of representatives of all groups who can help in the program, are proposed for each county n plans adopted by the Oregon USDA council and sent to each county emergency food program manager.

Food conservation goals will be set up for each county. Subcommittees representing consumers and trade groups, such as restaurants and bakeries, will be formed to put into effect specific food conservation measures. As proposed by the national famine emergency committee, these measures will include such wheat-and fat saving steps as substitution of potatoes for bread, serving fewer fried foods, open-face pies, and one slice of bread with restaurant meals.

"The world food situation is exceedingly serious. Millions of our fellow human beings in other lands face the terrible disaster of famine. Every ounce of food we can spare from our abundance will save the lives of starving people," Miller commented.

Sure as shootin', if there's Old Man Dirt in your Diesel fuel, there's trouble ahead. Every drop of fuel goes through injector-nozzle holes small as a human hair. And if these injectors get dirt-worn, that does it, brother. Cuts the power of your Diesel and leads up to repair bills.
