Drying Boots

To speed up the drying of wet boots, cut sections from an old automobile tire and tack them on a wall to hold rubber boots in an inverted position. When the boots are hung this way, the air can circulate in and around the boots and then can drain completely if they are wet.

Good Tilt

The growing of clover and the return of plenty of organic matter to the soil by plowing down clover, manure and crop residues is necessary in order to maintain good tilt.

Sandwich Box

If you've a waxed paper container of salad or fruit cup to pack, put that at the bottom of the lunch box. Sandwiches, cookies and other crushables ride best when they're packed at the top.

Horse Population

The peak of the horse population of the United States was reached in 1915 with 21,431,000. The present horse population as given by the department of agriculture is 8,259,000, the lowest since 1871. The per capita value is given as $57.30, a decline of $8.00 from that of a year earlier. Of mules there were 3,196,000, as of January 1, 1946.

Removing Fat

Often soup stock or gravy is too greasy and there is not time to cool it so the congealed fat can rise to the top. Wrap a couple of ice cubes in a small piece of cheesecloth and run over the top of the soup or gravy. The excess fat will collect on the cold surface of the cloth and thus can be removed easily.

Grass Grew in Streets

Grass literally grew in the streets of New York and Philadelphia during the early 1800s when most of the people were driven out by yellow fever and cholera epidemics which almost wiped out several other American cities.
