WHAT IS A BOY?

After a male baby has grown out of long clothes and triangles and has acquired pants, freckles, and so much dirt that relatives do not dare to kiss it between meals it becomes a B O Y.

A boy can swim like a fish, run like a deer, climb like a squirrel, balk like a mule, bellow like a bull, eat like a pig, or act like a jackass, according to climatic conditions.

He is a piece of skin stretched over an appetite. A noise, covered with smudges.

He is called a tornado, because he moves at the most unexpected times, hits the most unexpected places, and leaves everything a wreck behind him.

He is a growing animal of superlative promise, to be fed and watered and kept warm.

He is a joy forever, a periodic nuisance, the problem of our times, the hope of the nation. Every boy is evidence that God is not discouraged by man.

Were it not for boys, the newspapers would go unread, and thousands of picture shows would go bankrupt.

Boys are useful in running errands. A boy can easily do the family errands with the aid of five or six adults. The zest with which a boy does an errand is equalled only by the speed of a turtle on an August day.

The boy is a natural spectator. He watches parades, fires, fights, ball games, automobiles, boats, and airplanes with equal fervor, but not the clock.

Boys faithfully imitate their dads in spite of all efforts to teach them good manners.

A boy, if not washed too often and kept in a cool quiet place after each accident, will survive broken bones, hornets, swimming holes, fights and nine helpings of pie.

And we have those things so necessary for the peace of parents' minds, and to aid in first aid on boys . . . and we have those so lovely things that little girls, whom boys have no use at all for, as we say we have those powders and perfumes so popular with little and with BIG girls . . . but please don't buy any for little boys

. . . next week we'll tell you what to get for BIG boys . . . meanwhile remember this is the store where so many folks find what they want, the very way they want it . . . you are welcome at McLain's . . . we have a boy or so too . . .
