HOLLAND STORE AND HOTEL

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Kaufman are the owners of the Holland General Store. This store is an old land mark for the upper valley residents and serves a large area. The store carries a complete line of general merchandise.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Smock own the Holland hotel, but this famous old hostelry has been closed to the traveling public for a long time. Old timers regret that Mrs. Smock had to close the dining room.

Popular Couple Hold Dual Birthday

Last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Smith on the Caves highway a group of friends gathered to help them celebrate their birthdays.

Seated on easy lawn furniture facing Sucker creek with the dogwood trees in full bloom the guests enjoyed the afternoon recounting old times until Bill Graning, master of the barbecue yelled "Come and get it".

A splendid barbecue lunch was served after which all joined in a game of finding the names of the hosts tacked on a tree. Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hill were the lucky hunters and won the prizes, a Caveman horse for the lady and a Caveman cigarette lighter for the gentleman.

Some of the guests then decided to try their luck in catching the speckled beauties lurking in the ripples. We saw S. D. Wattles catch one about 11 inches long and that caused him to rush off to Cave Junction for his boots and creel.

Beside the hosts, Mr. and Mrs.

H. M. Smith, those who enjoyed the party were Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Wattles, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Graning, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hudron, Irene McCasland, Roy Wells and Ted Athey.

Plummer Lath Mill to Install New Machinery

The Plummer Lath Mill, located on the Redwood highway near O'Brien, has ordered new machinery and equipment for the manufacture of all kinds of surface moulding. The operators of the mill, R. F. Plummer and H. G. Plummer, expect delivery in the very near future.

The Plummer mill, started last June, has been manufacturing lath and small dimension lumber stock. The mill now employs six men. Stock for cutting is furnished by Henderson and Rough & Ready Mills.

Some 2000 Oregon members of Veterans of Foreign Wars are expected to attend the annual state encampment—this year at Grants
