

ONION MILDEW

Ordinary Bordeaux sprays, no matter how well applied, are not effective against onion mildew in seed crops of onions, according to O.S.C. plant pathologists who have issued a revision of a previous circular of information on this disease.

The only two types of sprays recommended for Oregon conditions are those containing mixtures of malachite green and yellow copper oxide, and those containing a mixture of yellow copper oxide and certain oils. The new circular of information, No. 416, contains a recommended spray program for controlling the disease.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Thad's Feet Hurt

After a long, hard day's work on the farm, Thad's idea of how to spend an evening is to take off his shoes, and relax with a mellow glass of beer.

But his missus has other ideas. After being in the house all day, she's all for walking to the village, if it's only for a soda. Likes to see people, catch the latest gossip. But Thad says, no, his feet hurt! Begon to cause unpleasantness in Thad's home.

Then Bill Webster comes up with an idea. If Thad takes the missus to Andy's Garden Tavern. Thad can relax with his glass of beer, and the missus can also chat with all the neighbors there. Each gets his (or her) own way.

Worked, too! In fact, now the missus likes an occasional temperate glass of beer herself. And Thad finds it's pleasanter to enjoy his beer with good companions, rather than alone. In fact, his feet stopped hurting too!
