

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Before you attempt to peel a raw tomato, massage it lightly with the dull edge of a knife. The peel will come loose much more easily.

Brown shoes can be dyed black temporarily if you just polish them twice with a good grade of black polish.

When the stove begins to look dull, but still doesn't quite need new polish, you can brighten it up by rubbing it occasionally with waxed paper.

Soot can be prevented from coming through a window screen by covering the outside of the screen with cheesecloth. It'll catch the soot and can be removed for easy washing whenever necessary.

To prolong the life of a broom, dip it in hot soapy water or hot salt water about once a week; and always hang the broom up or stand it on its handle but never on its head.

If you use rubber gloves when you scrub floors, put little strips of adhesive tape inside the fingers as protection against nails in the floor. Tiny holes in rubber gloves can often be mended with nail polish.

Ordinary starch will often put a whitish cast on black and dark-colored clothes, unless you do something about it. Put a small amount of leftover coffee—the brew, not the grounds—into the starch.

If the wash water is hot, slip each glass slowly into it edgewise. Putting it in bottom first or top first may crack it.

Collective Farmer in USSR Given Small Plot of Land

Collective farms, operated by farm cooperatives, occupy the principal place in Soviet agriculture. The basis of these associations is the collective ownership of the land and of the instruments and means of production.

A collective farm is a large association of farm families. On an average, a collective farm has at its disposal 1,250 acres of arable land. To direct it skillfully and insure a proper disposition of manpower, a well thought out system of organization of the collective farm labor is essential. Such a system has been in existence from the first days of the organization of these cooperative farms. A model statute governing collective farms was adopted in 1935.

All the members of a collective farm are divided into brigades. A field brigade usually consists of 45 to 60 persons. Each of these brigades is placed in charge of definite portions of land, and is provided with draft animals, implements, etc.

The measure of labor is the workday. For all his labor on the farm the collective farmer is credited with "workdays."

In addition to the "work days" earned by each man and woman farm worker, every farm family of the collective farm has its house and tract of ground varying from two and a half to five or ten acres. What the family produces on its plot—grain, vegetables, fruit, dairy and poultry products, livestock and so on, is its own, for use or sale.

Naming Month of May

How the month of May got its name is a subject of controversy among historians. According to the World Book encyclopedia, the most widely accepted story is that the month was named after "Maia," the Roman goddess of spring and growth. But some scholars claim May was a month sacred to the "Majores" or older men, just as June was sacred to the "Juniores," or younger men.

Try Lemon in Water—it's good for you

The juice of a lemon in a glass of water, when taken first thing on arising, is all that most people need to insure prompt, normal elimination.

No more harsh laxatives that irritate the digestive tract and impair nutrition! Lemon in water is good for you!

Generations of Americans have taken lemons for health—and generations of doctors have recommended them. They are rich in vitamin C; supply valuable amounts of B₃ and P. They alkalize; aid digestion.

Not too sharp or sour, lemon in water has a refreshing tang—clears the mouth, wakes you up. It's not a purgative—simply helps your system regulate itself. Try it 10 days.

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feet constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

Remember—Only you can PREVENT FOREST FIRES!
