Strike Against Polio

Citizens of Josephine county have their opportunity during the next 18 days to join the rest of the American people in writing their own ticket against infantile paralysis which has stricken more than 100,000 fellow countrymen in the past six years.

The March of Dimes that begins January 14 and runs through to January 31 is providing that opportunity at a time when the realization of the grave polio emergency should have impressed itself on every mind. It is common knowledge by now that 1948 burdened the nation with an unprecedented number of cases, that $17,000,000 was spent on polio patients during the year, that the epidemic aid fund of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was drained dry and that the 1949 March of Dimes must produce a minimum of $30,000,000—a record.

But none of these figures dramatizes the situation to the home folk as clearly as Oregon's own polio statistics. Two hundred twenty Oregonians were hit by polio during 1948... Two hundred thousand dollars was spent on the care of polio patients in Oregon during the year... Eight counties, all of which experienced epidemic polio, found their March of Dimes funds exhausted, and others saw their polio finances depleted to a serious extent.

It may seem heartless to talk of dollars and cents when pain and suffering are involved, but you cannot sidestep the cold, factual problem of doctor and hospital bills. Not one family in 10 can afford to pay for full or even partial care of a case requiring more than a nominal hospital stay.

March of Dimes funds are paying for the best available medical care and treatment of polio patients throughout the nation—regardless of whether they were stricken in 1948 or in previous years. Besides, the March of Dimes finances research, seeking the final answer as to how to prevent and cure polio.

Help guarantee a continuation of this vital service. Join in that great humanitarian parade—the March of Dimes.

Icy roads, drive carefully.

Social Security Authority In Grants Pass Wednesday

Every year many business people are defrauded by individuals who pass worthless checks, using social security cards for identification purposes, according to Paul F. Johnson, social security office manager, at Eugene.

The Social Security Administration frequently issues warning to business men not to accept a social security card to identify a person cashing a check. Possession of a card doesn't mean a person has a bank account, nor does it always mean he is the individual he claims to be, for many cards are lost or stolen each year.

Since social security records are confidential, it is impossible to give addresses to business men or police officers trying to trace passers of bad checks. But even if that were not so, the Administration does not keep a record of current addresses.

A representative from the Eugene office of the Social Security Administration will be in Grants Pass Wednesday, January 19, 1949. Claimants for social security benefits or other interested persons may contact him at the Oregon State Employment Service between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m.
