

Plan Colorful Menus, Easily Prepared Food For Holiday Occasions

HOLIDAYS are often hard on mother because there is not only the whole family home for all meals, but also guests which may number several. Consequently, the lady of the house is so busy with food preparation and consequent clean-up activities that she never has a holiday at all.

If you're planning to celebrate Independence Day at home, use some of these simple suggestions for meals. The colors and other suggestions are in keeping with the theme of the day, but the food is kept simple by day-before preparation, and by very easy last-minute undertaking.

Weather permitting, serve supper outdoors, and save getting formal about the service as is usually the custom in the dining room. You may use colorful paper plates and napkins, too, thus eliminating much of the dish washing that always comes after eating.

HERE'S an easily prepared menu which may be started the day before:

- Tomato Onion Pie
Celery Curls
Carrot Sticks
Black Olives
Tutti Frutti Salad
Ice Cream Cookies Lemonade
- How to do: Prepare celery and carrots the day before and refrigerate. Place olives to chill. Prepare salad and place in freezing trays. Make cookies and make or buy the ice cream. An hour or so before dinner, prepare the tomato onion pie, and while it bakes, set the table on garden or porch.
- Tomato Onion Pie
(Serves 4-6)
1½ cups crisp cracker crumbs
½ cup melted butter
2½ cups thinly sliced onion
2 tablespoons butter
1½ cups canned tomato sauce
3 eggs, slightly beaten
½ pound sharp American cheese
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Mix crumbs and ½ cup butter. Press into nine-inch pie plate to form crust. Bake in a moderate oven (350°) for ten minutes. Fry onions in two tablespoons butter until lightly browned. Bring canned tomato sauce to a boil. Remove from heat and add cheese. Stir well. Add eggs slowly to tomato mixture. Add salt and pepper. Pour over onions which have been placed in the crumb crust and bake in slow (325°) oven about 45 minutes or until set.
- Tutti Frutti Salad
(Serves 6)
¾ cup shredded coconut
1 cup maraschino cherries, halved
2 oranges, sectioned and diced
1 cup crushed pineapple, drained
2 bananas, diced
1 cup whipping cream
½ cup mayonnaise
Toss together coconut and fruits. Chill and fold in cream which has been whipped. Fold in mayonnaise. Freeze until firm in refrigerator trays. Serve on lettuce cups.

- Barbecued Frankfurters
Picnic Salad Corn on the Cob
Rolls Butter Mustard
Relish
Fresh Fruit or Berries
Cookies Beverage
- Bake the frankfurters in an oven with the sauce, or place them in a skillet so they can be cooked with the sauce on an outside grill. The menu requires little other preparation except for the salad.
- Barbecued Frankfurters
(Makes 6 rolls)
6 frankfurters
6 rolls
1 tablespoon butter
½ cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon pepper
4 teaspoons sugar
1 teaspoon mustard
4 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon tabasco sauce
¼ cup catsup
3 tablespoons vinegar
- Melt butter, add onion and cook until clear. Add dry seasonings, sauces, catsup and vinegar. Cut a three-inch slit in each frankfurter and place them in a baking dish, slit side up. Pour sauce over them and bake in a moderate (350°) oven for 20 minutes. Place in split, with green onions, if desired. Serve extra sauce separately, if desired.
- Picnic Salad
(Serves 6)
4 cups cubed, cooked potatoes
½ cup chopped green onion
½ cup diced celery
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon pepper
6 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
½ cup mayonnaise
2 cups grated carrot
Combine potatoes, onions, celery and seasonings. Add eggs and mayonnaise. Toss lightly with carrots, chill and serve with greens.

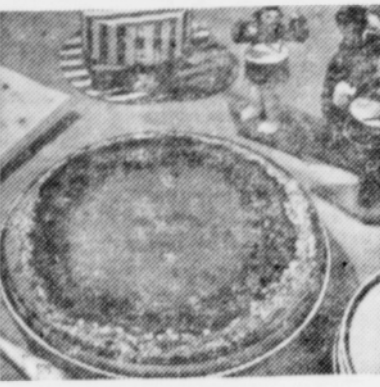

HERE are some cookies which will be appropriate for the holiday:

- "Orange Sugar Tarts"
(Makes 5 dozen)
½ cup butter or substitute
1 cup sugar
1 egg
½ cup bran
3 cups sifted flour
¾ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup orange juice
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
Colored Sugar
- Blend butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Add bran and blend. Sift flour together with baking powder and salt; add to first mixture alternately with orange juice. Stir in orange rind. Roll out dough to ¼-inch thickness, working with a small amount at a time and keeping the remainder chilled. Cut into star shapes with floured cutter; sprinkle with colored sugar and bake on a greased baking sheet in a moderately hot (375°) oven about 10 minutes.

Orange marmalade is an old favorite with toast, but try this idea for a real treat: place slices of cream cheese on top of the marmalade and broil until the cheese is bubbly.

Broccoli looks good and is tasty, too, if you dress it with plenty of melted butter and garnish with sliced hard-cooked egg.

Save your sausage drippings for gravy. Sauté a few mushrooms in the drippings, then thicken with flour and add milk. This is especially delicious for chicken.

For a porch supper on the Fourth of July you can plan this "patriotic" onion pie which fits into the color scheme of things with its rich red color. The pie has a crumb crust and a filling of canned tomato sauce, onions and cheese.

THE HOME TOWN REPORTER
IN WASHINGTON
WALTER SHEAD, WNU Correspondent

Board Walk 'Leveler'
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—It's good to get out of Washington now and then to gain a new perspective or viewpoint for assaying the whirlpool of Washington politics and the eddies and cross-currents surrounding the national government and its operations.

And here at this playground on the Atlantic coast one can watch millionaire and peddler's helper rub shoulders . . . dowager and shop girl alike charmed by fashions and furs in show windows . . . business executive and haberdashery clerk stride side-by-side down the famous board-walk along the city's mile-long beaches. One living probably in a $25-a-day room at the Traymore, the other in some motel on the other side of the tracks with the board walk as the common leveler.

Edison Convention
While here, your Home Town Reporter attended the 17th annual convention of the Edison electric institute, the trade organization of the electric light and power industry and related business in the United States. I listened to the speeches and aside from the technical talks they were much like political speeches. All viewed with alarm or pointed with pride to domestic developments.

They were boastful of the accomplishments of the industry. They were flecked with alarm over encroachment of government. They spoke much of "creeping socialism."

Probably the outstanding talk of this convention was that of Mr. Charles E. Wilson, president of the vast General Electric company. His speech was an admixture of pride in the industry, of pride in this nation and of our capitalistic economic system of free enterprise, of criticism of too much government interference in the power field, of criticism of the President of the United States and the authority he is assuming.

"We have perhaps paid too much attention to what the President says and thinks," said Wilson. But your reporter was too much interested in what Wilson thought about the President. We were interested in what he thought about this thing called socialism, or "creeping socialism," about which all of us are concerned. And so he gave this reporter an exclusive interview, realizing as he did his convention speech would be old for weekly newspapers. For some 45 minutes he told your reporter of his experiences and impressions in a recent trip to England, where GE has a large plant, and the comparison of life under socialism or nationalization there and here.

Land of Opportunity

"This land of ours," he said, "is still a land of opportunity. We have not reached the peak either in production or in income. We are still going forward to better things, a higher standard of living where already we have the highest standard of any land in the world. What I cannot understand is why anyone would want to substitute any other economy for the system we have in the United States today, a system which has demonstrated its ability to serve every segment of American life with a richer, higher standard of living, so magnificent, so efficient as compared with any other system in the world.

"Why, for instance, would we want to go back to the bicycle economy of England, England where a working man can only hope about owning an automobile? Theirs is geared to a bicycle economy. So again I cannot understand why we would want to change to a system of socialism where everyone would be on a lower level of economic living. Where we would all be subsidized by the government at a standard of living necessarily lower than we have today.

"I do not believe the American people will stand for it if they know what they are being offered in the place of our present system—if they understand the economics confronting them. And that's what I think we have to do. There must be an economic educational campaign for the great mass of our people. We need to arouse them to an appreciation of what we have got, for what we have is good."

Lauds Rural Areas

Speaking of the rural areas, Wilson said: "The people of the rural areas understand the capitalistic system better than other people in America. They are the bulwark and backbone of the American system. Why the farmers themselves are capitalists. They understand our system. It's the people in the shops and the factories in the cities who need economic education." They are the ones, he said, who do not view our system correctly.

Foundation Plants
Foundation plantings around a house serve a number of purposes. One of the most important is to tie the house to the ground and blend it with the landscape. Another reason for such plantings is to emphasize the front door. Attractive shrubs also hide unsightly foundation material and bring out the fine qualities in the architectural design of the house.

Serving of Lamb
To serve lamb at its best always serve it hot or cold. It should never be served lukewarm. When served hot, roast lamb should be served on a warm platter. One easy way to warm the platter is to hold it under warm water for a few minutes. And in carving leg of lamb, always remember to carve across the grain of the meat.

Casing Eggs
To maintain the finest quality possible, eggs should not be cased until all the body heat has been removed from the egg. The eggs then should be packed carefully, with large ends up; this improves the appearance of the layers and decreases damage to interior quality of the egg, especially the air cell.
