

CHURCH NOTES

CAVE JUNCTION COMMUNITY CHURCH
George H. Gray, Pastor
Sunday School at 10 a. m.
Morning Worship at 11 a. m.

Attendance at Sunday School was 138 in spite of the very cold morning. Birthdays were observed for Jean McGihon, Gerald and Clinton Etherton. Mrs. Freeman's story of the ostrich was much enjoyed by the school. First and second awards for best ushers went respectively to Vern Lee Cady and Lee Dillard. The teachers' meeting and also the prayer meeting met this week on Tuesday night and Mrs. Gladys England presented the Sunday school lesson to the teachers.

The monthly church board meeting is scheduled for Monday night next week, instead of the usual Tuesday, on account of the missionary address to be in Kerby on February 7.

Rev. Gray took for his theme "Love, the Foundation," based on I. John 3:20, 21. At the opening of the service Mrs. Freeman read the financial report of the church for the past year, which was very gratifying to all, and represents steady advance in all ways.

Among the visitors present were Mr. H. A. Foster, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Snyder, Mrs. Laird and Hartwell. Mr. A. J. Drews sang his own composition, "I Know the Saviour Now," and was complimented for his fine production.

Word has come in an air mail letter from Miss Julia Supple, who has arrived at her mission station at Comitan, Chapas, Mexico, and with her companion was busy getting her home again fitted for occupation and work; also acting as nurse for the Indians who come to her for help. She has conquered her language difficulties now and is happy to use the native language. She asks to be remembered to her many Cave Junction friends and doubtless would much enjoy a letter.

The all day Fellowship meeting at the church on the 24th, in spite of the very severe day, brought a goodly number of pastors and their wives from Eagle and Central Points, Medford and other places and the three meetings were full of inspiration and help. The evening message, brought by Rev. Pollock from Eagle Point, was on "Give God a Chance."

The ladies of the Missionary society did themselves proud in the delicious food prepared for both luncheon and dinner hours and before the visitors started on their long trips home they served them hot coffee and delicious pies.

Next week will occur two circle meetings, the Town Circle at the church on Thursday and the O'Brien Circle to be announced. This week Kerby Circle met on Wednesday. Hostesses were Mrs. Carson and Mrs. Brillhart.

SSRG HAPPENINGS OF THE PAST WEEK

S.S.R.G. met last week at the home of Dwain Cross. An interesting lesson was given on Robert and Mary Moffatt, missionary pioneers of Africa, by the captain, Durwood Sams.

The surprise of the evening was a huge cake from Mrs. George Gray and presented to the group by Mrs. Cross; also homemade ice cream and cake by the hosts Dwain Cross and Glen Perry. Bible drill was very close, with Dwain's side winning by three points.

Next regular meeting will be at the home of Mrs. A. M. Carson, with Jack Behm captain for the evening.

GIRL SCOUT ACTIVITIES

Last week Troop No. 3 celebrated its Jan. 31 birthday with a short program and tea for the sponsor, committee members and mothers.

Lyla Belle Cross and Carlene Welch led in the double flag salute and the radio broadcast given by this troop was heard over a recording record as part of the program.

Mrs. Joy Badden, committee member, donated a beautifully decorated, with girl scout emblem, cake for the occasion. Gifts were given to all three committee members and the sponsor in appreciation for their help during the year 1949.

After the program eight girl scouts were delighted to serve their mothers, who had come to see them receive their pins and awards. Friday, Feb. 3, at 7 p. m. is the next regular meeting of this troop.

The January 6 meeting of Girl Scout Troop No. 9 was in the form of a party. Each girl present was given a world pin and a copy of the Girl Scout laws. The girls then went into the Legion hall for a skating party given by Mr. James Earle.

On January 20 the girls and their leaders, Mabelle Duncan and Agnes Seranton, discussed the program fields in which they would like to earn proficiency badges. This troop has completed its second class requirements.

January 27, the girls brought samples of their handicraft hobbies and while the leaders worked on the program for the next three months, the girls did hand work and played games. This troop is now accepting applications from girls in the 5th and 6th grades to become Girl Scouts. They meet every Friday afternoon between 4 and 5:30 in the auxiliary room at the Legion hall in Cave Junction. All girls are welcome.

Brownie Troop No. 81 entertained Brownie Troop No. 3 from Kerby at a roller skating party at the Legion hall Saturday afternoon, January 21. About 30 girls attended and a fine time was enjoyed, along with a few spills and scratched knees. Leaders Mrs. Harms of Troop 81, Mrs. Duncan of Troop 92 and Mrs. Cooke of Troop 3 were present.

Regular Brownie meetings are held every Saturday from 2 to 4 at the Legion hall. Girls from 7 to 10 are welcome.

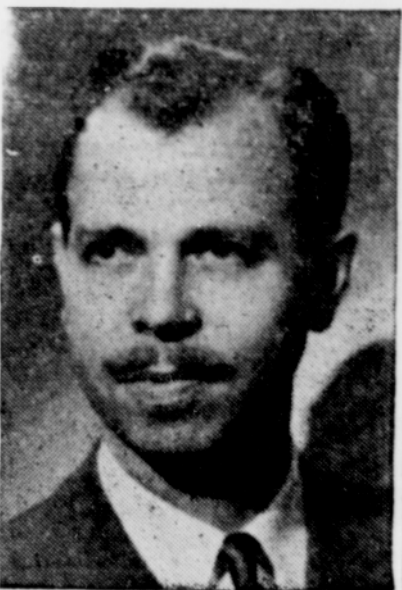

HEALTH CLINIC

At the last clinic sponsored by the auxiliary to the American Legion at Cave Junction, 12 diphtheria shots and one small-pox vaccination were given, and two children examined.

Dr. Carroll W. Dewey and staff from Grants Pass will be here again on Feb. 8. There will not be a clinic on Feb. 22.

Mrs. Lida Miller is the local volunteer worker.

To Speak At Kerby Assembly of God

John C. Broger

John C. Broger, who has recently returned from Christian Radio City in Manila, Philippines, will speak at the Assembly of God church in Kerby on Tuesday, Feb. 7, at 7:30 p. m.

In addition to relating his interesting experience in connection with the setting up of radio station DZAS in Manila, he will show 35 mm. Kodachrome slides which tell the story of the building of Christian Radio City by the Far East Broadcasting Co. The public is cordially invited to see and hear this illuminating lecture.

Mr. Broger has just returned from Manila after 19 months in which time long wave and short wave transmitters have been set up in Manila for the express purpose of beaming the salvation message to all lands of the Orient in all languages of the Orient. Mr. Broger, president of the Far East Broadcasting Co., arrived in Manila with 16 staff members and 80 tons of equipment in March, 1948.

Christian Radio City, Manila, was the result of their labors and station DZAS, the Air-way of Salvation, began broadcasting on June 4, 1948. Since that time, more powerful transmitters, both long and short wave, have been added, proclaiming the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ in 27 languages and dialects.

The Far East Broadcasting Co. is entirely a work of faith, non-profit, non-commercial, adding its voice to the timeless challenge: "Christ is the Hope of the world."

Kerby Stitches

The Kerby "Stitch it Straight" 4-H Sewing club met Jan. 24 in the home economic room at the Kerby school. The club selected the names of Kerby Stitches.

Officers elected at this meeting were: Norma Faye Robinson, president; Edytha Scott, vice-president; Betty Joyce Robinson, secretary; Joyce Carson, news reporter; Carol Bliss, yell leader; Carlene Welch, song leader.

This meeting was quite an attractive one with all the girls working on hot pan holders, tea towels and kitchen hand towels. Joyce Carson and Norma Faye Robinson acted as hostesses, serving fruit salad and cookies.

Thanks To Auxiliary For Camp White Card Party

The ladies of the auxiliary to Glenn Morrison Post No. 70, American Legion, have received the following letter from the Camp White Domiciliary Center:

"Dear Mrs. Badden: In behalf of the members in this domiciliary center I wish to express their appreciation for the enjoyable card party given Dec. 2, and for the delightful refreshments served. I wish to thank you also for Christmas gifts contributed by your auxiliary. The shaving sets made very acceptable gifts and were thoroughly appreciated.

"Since you are located some 105 miles from this center, your interest in the members is very gratifying. Very truly yours, Paul A. Hatton, manager."

The Very Common Cold

Common Sense Still Best Defense Against the Common Cold

As the nation settles down this week to its annual mid-winter bout with the common cold, many a chronic victim is wondering what, if anything, has been accomplished in the field of medical research that promises relief from the discomfort and expense that follow in the wake of the cold germ.

For those in search of a sure cure for colds, the news is bad. So far, no one has come up with a universally effective cure for the common cold. Nor has anyone brought forth a fool-proof method of prevention. On the other hand, there have been several promising developments.

The most promising of these was the discovery that anti-histaminic drugs, which have been used successfully against hay fever and other diseases of allergic origin, could also be employed with some success to combat cold symptoms. Preliminary studies indicate they are reasonably effective if taken according to directions at the first sign of a cold.

So far, the country's leading medical spokesmen have declined to give the anti-histamines their unqualified endorsement. They know the drugs cause certain "side-effects," such as drowsiness and disturbances in appetite, among allergy victims who take them on prescription.

Much smaller doses are recommended by the manufacturers of anti-histamines now on sale in drug stores, but doctors realize a large proportion of the users will tend to overdose in an effort to break up their colds quickly and, as a result, may be subject to these side-effects.

Aside from taking part in the present mass testing of these new drugs, the best thing the chronic victim can do to avoid the misery of a cold is to try to avoid the cold germ in the first place. That is much easier said than done, but there are several common-sense rules that may help. Those which have won general acceptance among medical authorities are:

1. Stay away from people who already have colds, particularly if they are coughing or sneezing.
2. Keep bodily resistance high by eating proper foods and getting plenty of fresh air, exercise and sleep.
3. Avoid chilling by keeping out of drafts and dressing according to the weather—wearing warm clothes in cold weather and rubbers or overshoes when it rains or snows.

For those who catch cold in spite of these precautions, the advice is equally simple. Stay in bed until the worst of the cold is over. Eat light meals, and drink plenty of liquids. If fever, pain or a rattling cough lasts more than 24 hours, call the doctor.

Third of the state's labor force, it now shows only one-seventh of the unemployment increase. Only a slight increase occurred in the Salem area with 5,700 reporting as being unemployed, as compared with 5,000 a month ago.

CHECK ON STATE CAR GAS

Hereafter state employees will be paying fuel expenses of their automobiles, unless they do business with Tide Water Associated Oil outlets according to a notice served Saturday by budget director Harry S. Dorman.

The contract for supplying gasoline to state cars has been let for 1950 to the Associated Oil Company at a figure that runs a half-cent per gallon less than the regular service station prices for all Oregon localities.

Dorman pointed out that the difference in price on the very large volume of gasoline used amounts to a very considerable amount of money, and the obligation to buy from the low bidder is very apparent.
