SHOW REVUE

Joel McCrea, one of Hollywood's greatest star portrayals of western action roles, plays the title role of the notorious Wes McQueen in the movie "Colorado Territory." Lovely Virginia Mayo, equally at home in a drawing room or bathing suit, takes the colorful part of "Colorado" Carson, a beautiful and fiery frontier waif, part Indian, who falls in love with McCrea and fights by his side in some of his more rugged battles.

Supporting the stars in the big cast are Dorothy Malone who plays the lovely southern girl newly arrived in the territory to seek a home, with her father played by Henry Hull.

Complete with old Spanish towns, the early days of moonlit nights, great prairie and mountain scenery, as well as plenty of two-fisted footage, "Colorado Territory," directed by famed action director Raoul Walsh, is headed for a big reception from local moviegoers.

SUNDAY and MONDAY

"Look for the Silver Lining," a Technicolor musical picturization of the career of Marilyn Miller, one of Broadway's greatest stars, retains all of the flavor, music and atmosphere of those great shows.

Lovely June Haver, who closely resembles the famous star, is cast as Miss Miller, and Ray Bolger supplies the comedy and dances in his own interpretation of the great Jack Donohue. Gordon MacRae, leading screen and radio singing star, plays Frank Carter, Miss Miller's first husband.

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

Adele Jergens tops the cast of "Ladies of the Chorus," with Marilyn Monroe, a talented, attractive blonde newcomer, and Ran Brooks. Others in the cast are Nana Bryant, Steven Geray and Eddie Garr, the latter making his Hollywood debut after more than 20 years' stardom as a Broadway, radio and night club entertainer. The Bobby True Trio tops the list of specialty acts.

Heard in "Ladies of the Chorus" are five tunes especially written for the film by Allan Roberts and Lester Lee. In addition, the Bobby True Trio presents "Ubangi Love Song."

—and—

Crammed with action, suspense, thrills interspersed with comedy, and a dash of romance, Republic's new action western, "Outcasts of the Trail," starring Monte Hale, is sure to satisfy all types of movie-goers.

The cast is made up with vivacious Jeff Donnell, John Gallaudet, Tommy Ivo, Roy Barcroft and Paul Hurst.

There's never a moment's lag in the exciting western film which Phil Ford directed for Associate Producer Melville Tucker.

THURSDAY and FRIDAY

"Lost Boundaries," a movie that faces up to the race question with an astonishing courage, stars Beatrice Pearson and Mel Ferrer. In it, Louis de Rochemont and Film Classics, Inc., have cast aside fear and favor in telling the story of a Negro doctor and his family who passed for "whites." Based on the stirring Reader's Digest article by W. L. White; the movie sticks to the startling facts lived by that Negro family in New England.

The whole courageous approach of "Lost Boundaries" sets a new pattern for moviemaking.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

To the Editor of the Illinois Valley News:

Sir:

I see that Mr. Baldock has made the statement he will recommend the building program of Oregon state highways be cut in half. He also states the people crab when the highways are restricted for loads. Why shouldn't they when they have a squawk coming? If we had proper highways it would not be necessary to close them. I would suggest that Mr. Baldock or any member of the state highway commission drive a truck loaded with lumber or logs from Grants Pass to the state line. Come on down that hill and hit the Applegate bridge, then continue around the curve, take all the holes into consideration on your way, and then come over Hayes Hill. How do you like bringing a truck over that mess to make a living? Not so good? Then I ask you; when do we get something done? Go ahead and cut the program in half. But be sure and give Josephine county its share and it needs plenty.

When are the people going to rear on their hind legs and go into action. Many things (including roads) are being snatched from under our noses by other counties. Is our county asleep? Well, better wake up and let's get rid of these death traps of ours via the State Highway commission. How about it? Also remember, we still get bread, milk and a hundred other things which must be trucked to us. I like to go to Grants Pass, too, and I'll be darned if I want to have to fight my way there due to these roads. I would like to have my teeth left when I do.

Funeral Home Established In Cave Junction

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Britt have opened a funeral home in Cave Junction. Mr. Britt is a graduate of the Hohenschuh-Carpenter College of Mortuary Science in St. Louis, and comes to our community with more than 20 years' experience as a funeral director. Mrs. Britt is also a mortician, and acts as Mr. Britt's lady assistant.

Mr. Britt was formerly a partner and manager of the DeMoss-Britt Funeral Home in Corvallis, which establishment was selected by the army and navy to fill the funeral needs of service men attached to Camp Adair during World War II.

Noising Around

With Edith Farlien

Sophia Bunch and "Aunt" Mattie Seyferth were "gadding about" over Camp White and Jacksonville way last week-end. Seems as how they were rock-hunting.—Find some nice ones girls?

Archie Stubblefield and son Arnold, visiting friends hereabouts.—Nice to have you back folks!

In the "Busy, Bustling Corner" this week we have Lois Brink, Bessie Knipple and Opal Spitz. Seems as how they are getting ready for the big Easter breakfast out at the O'Brien Women's club. Maybe this is "spilling the beans," but here is some of the mouth-watering menu—Choice of ham or bacon and eggs, hot biscuits, jelly, brown potatoes, fruit cup.—Golly folks! What are we waiting for (except Sunday to get here)?

By the way girls, will there be some soup for an old gal (Y.T.) with ALL her back choppers yanked out? Seems as how kidding can go two ways (huh Shirley and Jane Ann) and the vacancy in the aforementioned old gal's mouth looks kinda like a fireplace with all the ashes shoveled out—ha ha!

Harold Bowerman is back home after a few weeks in the Portland office. Glad you're back Mr. B.

Georgia (Mrs. Jim) Earle, is back after 3 weeks in L.A. Seems as how she was there on a combined business and pleasure trip.—You're looking swell, honey!

And in the poetry spot this week is this one with lots of meaning:
I had a smile —
I gave my smile away;
The milkman and the postman
Enjoyed it every day.
I took it to the shop,
I had it on the street;
I gave it without thinking
To all I chanced to meet.
I gave my smile away,
As thoughtless as could be;
And every time I gave it
My smile came back to me.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle O'Dell in Cave Junction this week visiting friends and attending business. They report oodles of flowers blooming in Roseburg.

Well folks—it's kinda like I allus say.—The person who goes through life looking for something soft, can usually find it—under his hat—

See you next week!— Y.T.

Brownie Troop No. 81

Girls from Brownie Troop No. 81 met Saturday, April 1, at the home of their leader, Mrs. Ina May Harms. From there they went to the Model Grocery where they sold Girl Scout cookies all afternoon.

We have not had any meetings for the last two weeks as we were invited to parties at Kerby. At our next meeting April 8 we will discuss plans for our Brownie and Cub party which we will have in the next few weeks.

Our pins have arrived and we will receive them at our Girl Scout picnic April 30. We had an election of officers recently and those elected were: Bertha Champney, president; Carma Kay Lewis, vice-president, and Judy Roe, secretary and treasurer.

Prospectors Form Club For Mutual Benefits

An organization of prospectors of all ages, amateur and professional, has been formed at Dutch Flat, California, for the purpose of mutual exchange of information on grounds and methods. The non-profit organization, incorporated under the name "United Prospectors," issues a booklet called "Panning Gold," which keeps all the members posted on new developments and the activities of other members.

Interested prospectors in this area are advised to write Jack Douglas, president, Box 13, Dutch Flat, California, for further information on the club, its aims and policies.

"The federal government took out of Oregon during the 1949 fiscal year more than $414,000,000 in taxes of all sorts. Of this amount there was returned to the state for various causes, such as grants in aid, aid payments to individuals, crop loan subsidies, etc., $122,000,000 or 29.4 cents out of every dollar," said Hal Young of Oregon Business and Tax research during a discussion of the Hoover plan at the capital this week. Young characterized the Hoover plan a "blueprint for the solvency of the American public."
