The California-Pacific Utilities Co. Raises Standard of Living

For many years the city dweller enjoyed certain advantages that were denied the farmer or small town resident. But not so today, for firms like the California-Pacific Utilities company in Grants Pass have made it possible for everyone to enjoy the advantages of gas cooking, refrigeration, heating and water heating regardless of where they may live. Propane, a new modern fuel, handled by California-Pacific Utilities, is available to everyone at cost no greater than inferior fuels. Propane is a fuel for every purpose and is clean and safe. The fact that Propane is a clean fuel appeals to the housewife for she knows how much extra drudgery coal and wood cause in the home. With Propane the problem of tracking ashes or coal on clean floors is forever gone.

Propane can be used to cook meals, heat the home and water and operate the refrigerator. The use of Propane for heating is conducive to good health because you keep your home at the same temperature at all times, thus eliminating colds, caused by being too hot one minute and too cold the next. Just set your thermostat to the desired temperature and forget about it.

The California-Pacific Utilities company carries a complete stock of gas appliances and operate a service department. See them for that new stove, water heater or refrigerator.

In this issue we are glad to bring before our readers this prominent firm and suggest that anyone not using this modern fuel call at their office at 111 North 6th Street or telephone Grants Pass 3174 for full information about installation and operation.
