Rev. Hopkins concluded his series of five addresses on the subject of the Holy Spirit, and those who heard his sermons felt very much refreshed and instructed. For 38 years he has engaged in evangelistic and pastoral work, and this Friday he and Mrs. Hopkins celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary.

Among the visitors were Dr. and Mrs. Custer of Klamath Falls, and Mrs. Custer sang "Lead Me to Calvary." The floral decorations in the auditorium were especially beautiful.

Rev. Louis Collins and family who had arrived on Saturday to be ready for the Daily Vacation Bible school on Monday held a workers' meeting Saturday evening. Sunday Rev. Collins preached twice at Wimer so could not be present for the services in Cave Junction.

On Monday morning the Daily Vacation Bible school opened with over 100 children enrolled and a very efficient and full corps of helpers and teachers, and much valuable work is being done. Both Rev. and Mrs. Collins and daughter are here to give special aid and direction to the school.

Sunday afternoon the monthly "singspiration" was held with a good attendance, lively singing and a number of very good special numbers, among them the Preachers' quartet. Selma church was much in favor with their large attendance. Rev. Hopkins closed the afternoon with a most interesting and helpful address on "Fathers," hanging his remarks on six Aesthetic pegs as exemplars of a true father as follows: F-foresight, A-adventure, T-toiler, H-honesty, E-enthusiasm, R-resourcefulness.

The Town circle met last week in the church parlors with Mrs. Mills and Mrs. Champney as hostesses. A comforter was tied, and it was voted to suspend regular meetings for the next two months, which also was decided by the Redwood circle at their meeting.
