Town to Seek Federal Fire Equipment Aid

A resolution seeking approval of the state highway commission for grading and graveling of Cave Junction streets was passed by the town council Monday night.

The resolution will have to be acted upon by the commission before funds for this work can be allocated.

A letter from Robert Taylor, Oregon defense fire chief, was read, which stated certain types of fire equipment can be purchased by municipalities with federal assistance. The council was to look into the types of equipment allowed, so proper applications can be made before the deadline.

Other business before the council was as follows:

1. Letter was read from Christian Science church requesting work done on streets leading to church.

2. The financial report and monthly bills were read and approved.

3. The council voted to seal all music boxes belonging to Martin Music Co. and Sutherlin Music Co. unless license fees of $25 per machine for '51 and '52 are paid.

4. The council repeated that Earl Sherier, according to town records has been and still is city fire chief.

5. A county court resolution was read which transfers ownership of the town grader to the City of Cave Junction.

6. Three bids on fire hose were opened, the matter being tabled until further information is received on possible federal assistance in purchasing fire equipment.

7. A 25-cent raise in garbage collection fees was granted Pat's Sanitary service, subject to OPS approval.

8. Discussed need for ordinance requiring property owners to keep property and lots free of brush and rubbage.

9. Announced there would be no council meeting Monday night clothing for the Shorts, and are due to the special meeting that giving a clothing shower for their night to select a representative to classmate, Frieda Short.

Mothers' Tea

Planned for April 22

Every year about this time the girls of Illinois Valley High School give a tea in honor of all mothers. The tea is planed for April 22 at 2:30 p.m. this year.

The tea is going to be different from the other teas that have taken place here. A great entertainment program is being planned. The mothers will be welcomed by the Hospitality club. A sextet of seniors will sing, the Freshmen and Sophomores plan a square dance. A Maypole dance is being planned by the Juniors. Also there will be a clarinet solo and a fashion show by the home economics class, followed by a response by one of the mothers.

Each class will decorate a table

Lumber Valued Over Worth of Mill Saved; Started in Wiring

Starting with an explosion and flash, a $100,-150,000 fire destroyed the major portion of the Sal . vage Brothers mill at 10 p. m. Tuesday night.

Lumber valued at an amount exceeding the worth of the mill was saved in addition to the burner, green chain, gas pump, shop and office. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

The night man on duty reported the fire broke out with a flash in elected. The other supervisors are: the vicinity of the switch boxes Ray Frost, Harry Smith, John and spread rapidly. The phone op-valen and C. R. Colee. erator, Mrs. Isabelle Mellow, conerator, Mrs. Isabelle Mellow, contacted help from the other mills and the forest service. A lack of wind and small pumpers from the Oregon Caves Lumber Co. and forest service aided in saving most of the nearby stacks of lumber.

> The financial loss to the mill exceeded that of any mill fire in the past 13 years, according to Harold Bowerman, district ranger. The Tuesday night fire was the fifth of its kind during that period of time. Observers reported the Caves highway to be clogged with traffic soon after the discovery of the blaze.

Owned by Howard, Herb and Fred Salvage for the past five years, the mill employed about thirty men. Destruction of the mill affects many additional Valley families including over twenty loggers with crews of three to six men, and four truck drivers.

Salvage Bros. have been shipping about 50,000 board feet of lumber daily to the Table Rock Lumber Co. of Medford.

No immediate plans for the futare have been decided by the Salvages. The mill owns less than oneyear cutting of timber.

The Salvage mill specialized in pine timber and precision cut lumber. It was one of two band saw mills in the district, commanding a premium price for lumber.

Included in the destroyed portion of the mill was $1,000 in millwright tools, the seven-foot hand saw, edger, and carriage with steam loader-all in top shape. The Salvage Bros. purchased the mill five years ago from Sanders and Kindell after having previously run it for two years. Aiding in fighting the fire and salvaging property was: Keith Owen who brought the Oregon Caves Lumber Co. pumper, Stevens and Brown who operated the forest service pumper, Harold, Charles and Clint Trefethen who worked the cat and helped with the hose, Wes Vahrenwald and Scott Turner who helped save several truckloads of lumber, in addition to unidentified mill hands.

Marshall Explains Smoke Jumping

Forest rangers and loggers at tending the Siskiyou area Soc iety of American Foresters meet ing at the Illinois Valley Grange The board has $55,000 at its dis- hall Friday night, April 11, were smoke jumper fire fighting by Cliff Marshall, foreman of the Siskiyou Aerial project.

Harold Bowerman was host ranger for the meeting, with the Grange ladies serving a ham dinner.

As featured speaker, with the ise of a colored training movie Marshall explained the value and technique of smoke jumping fire fighters.

Smoke jumpers are used for plazes not quickly accessible. With local airport, men and equipment can be quickly parachuted to any fire within the Northwest.

An innovation in 1951 smoke umping technique was the backreaking job of back packing the 0-80 pounds of equipment which accompanies each jumper.

Regardless of age or background, smoke jumpers soon learn theirs is not a glamorous task, Marshall said. Young men over 18 with woods or farm experience are preferred.

Fire school takes but three of the thirty days training, with tree in Grants Pass May 10. climbing and other woods technique taking the bulk of schooling

Specialized tools including such articles as small pumpers and machettes are carried in the plane and dropped when needed.

Each smoke jumper's pack in cludes rations for two days, which includes C-rations of an improved variety.

Marshall said his crew of jump ers escaped serious injury last season in 400 jumps. Only one man suffered a sprained ankle. Of this number of jumps, 212 were the home of Mrs. George Martin. for fires, the remaining were training jumps.

Marshall has been training his own jumpers at the local station since 1947. They previously were trained in Montana.

JOB FRINTING-Call the NEWS. Mrs. Martin reports.

inizatio interested in the Grants Pass road will meet Monday night at the Legion auxiliary room to elect a representative to serve on an advisory committee before the state highway commission in Salem.

This Valley representative will serve with others from Grants Pass, Medford and Ashland to present the highway needs of Josephines and Jackson counties in a combined body. The improvement of the Cave Junction to Hayes Hill road will receive major attention by the Josephine county representatives.

In the past bi-county cooperation on presentation of road needs for the two counties as a whole has met with success.

The Monday meeting was planned at the Cave Junction Chamber of Commerce meeting last Thursday night. Attending the meeting from Grants Pass were Judge Lathrop and Mr. McLain, Grants Pass representative to the advisory committee.

Done Before Season

Fire hazards around the hone and ranch should be cleaned up be fore the fire season, the forest service warned Valley residents this week.

Burning can still be done with out permit both in and outside Cave Junction city limits.

The city council this week reminded town residents that Earl Sherier is still, and always has been city fire chief and should be contacted in any matters relating to fires or fire prevention. The Medford office of the state forest patrol reported an 85-acre lightning fire last weekend which serves as a warning of coming fire danger and the necessity for getting all burning and cleaning done immediately.

Any uncontrolled fire outside the city of Cave Junction should be reported to the Illinois Valley ranger station, or to the state forest patrol at Kerby.
